WOMAN CONFESSES TO BEING REPEATER

Is In Act of Casting Third Vote in Denver When Arrested.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]
DENVER, COL., Nov. 4.—For the first time in the history of Colorado politics a woman was arrested today on the charge of repeating.

When booked at the city jail she gave the name of Jennie Sanderson, but she was subsequently identified as Mrs. Harriet Hibbard, a widow, 50 years old. She was neatly dressed and had the appearance of refinement.

It is alleged that she was in the act of casting her third ballot when arrested. She admitted her guilt, and said she could give no reason for her acts, except her desire to make some extra money.

She told the police she was a Republican.

QUAY VOTED FIRST.

Cast His Ballot Early at Beaver and Hurried to Philadelphia to Receive Returns.

BEAVER, PA., Nov. 4.—Senator Quay was the first man in Beaver to vote. He was at the polls before they opened, and at 7 o'clock he took his ballot, went into the booth and in a moment was out again with his paper neatly folded. He cast his vote at 7:01.

Senator Quay then hurried across the river to the Fort Wayne railroad, and at 8:12 started to Pittsburgh in a special train to catch the 8 o'clock train for the east, so that he could reach Philadelphia this afternoon and receive the election returns at Republican state headquarters.

MINNESOTA.

Democratic Chairman Admits Early Returns Look Bad for Him.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Nov. 4.—Chairman Jamison of the Republican state committee, said:

"Returns so far received, while somewhat meagre, indicate that Van Sant will have a plurality of 30,000 for governor, substantial gains have been made all along the line."

Chairman Buck of the Democratic state committee, said:

"Returns are very meagre, but so far as received are not flattering as to Rosing's success. However, we have not enough to indicate a definite result."

Forty-six precincts in St. Paul out of 54, give Van Sant 4,571, Rosing 4,185. The same precincts two years ago gave Van Sant 4,917, Lind 5,508.

Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4.—Returns from the state indicate Gov. La Follette is re-elected by a plurality of at least 35,000. Congressional returns are very meager, but the indications point to the election of 10 Republicans and 1 Democrat. The legislature will probably be Republican. Sixty-three precincts, including 13 in Milwaukee, give Rose, Dem., for governor, 5,886; La Follette, Rep., 6,980, a Republican gain.

Dropped Dead at the Polls.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—William T. Cornell, well-known Chicago newspaper man, dropped dead today just after casting his vote in Lakeview. He was stricken with apoplexy. Mr. Cornell was born in Brooklyn 44 years ago, and has been in newspaper work in Chicago more than 20 years.

OPPOSITION NEWSPAPERS ADMIT HUNDRED THOUSAND

Heavy Republican Lead in Both Branches of the State General Assembly Assures the Easy Re-Election of Senator Penrose.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—Today, for the first time in the history of the state, over 1,000,000 votes were cast in an election. Samuel W. Pennypacker, Republican, was elected governor by an estimated plurality of 175,000, and the Republican ticket was generally successful in the various counties. The Democrats elected two, and possibly three, of the 32 congressmen. The legislature will be more strongly Republican than ever before, except in the 1897 session, and it is certain that Boies Penrose will succeed himself in the United States senate.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.

Chairman M. S. Quay at midnight said:

"In 26 counties outside of Philadelphia and Allegheny we sustain a loss of 1,650 on our estimates. Substracting this from 33,425, the majority estimated outside of Philadelphia and Allegheny, we have 31,785. We will probably lose more severely in the counties yet to hear from. Philadelphia is reported to be about 110,000, and Allegheny at 30,000. The majority in the state ought not to fall much under 150,000 for Pennypacker. There are no returns on congress or the legislature yet."

Durham Points Out the Meaning.

Insurance Commissioner Durham said: "The result was not unexpected. The victory is sweeping and conclusive. It carries a rebuke crushing and decisive to the slanderers of the state and the Republican administration which has controlled public affairs. The national significance of the victory should not be overlooked. It is an indorsement of President Roosevelt and his policies. He will have the united support of Pennsylvania Republicans in the next national convention.

"Judge Pennypacker has carried Philadelphia by a majority of more than 120,000. He will have a large majority in the state outside the two big cities. His election assures an administration clean and satisfactory to the people of the commonwealth.

"Senator Boies Penrose will be re-elected. He will have a walkover in the next legislature, which will be dominantly Republican in both branches. The Republicans are united as never before. Troublemakers have been put to sleep. They will have a long and peaceful rest."

Penrose Will Have It Easily.

Incomplete returns from legislative districts in Pennsylvania indicate that the Republicans will have an increased majority in the senate and house of representatives, which assures the re-election of Senator Penrose.

The Public Ledger (Dem.) concedes Pennypacker a majority of over 100,000.

The Evening Telegraph, owned by Wanamaker's son-in-law, Barclay Warburton, estimates Pennypacker's majority at above 125,000.

The North American (insurgent) says Pennypacker will carry the state by 100,000.

Mayor Ashbridge still sticks to his original estimate of 200,000 in the state. Philadelphia returns, though slow, justify at this hour the mayor's prediction.

The gains are unprecedented. For instance, the Twenty-third, which one year ago gave P. F. Rothermel, fusion candidate for district attorney, 629, is now claimed by Magistrate Harris, Republican leader of the ward, for Pennypacker by a majority of 1,000, a gain of 2,500.

Leaders Receive the Returns.

Chairman Quay, Senator Penrose, Commissioner Durham and Judge Pennypacker received returns at Col. Quay's rooms at the Hotel Walton. Both telegraph companies "cut in" at the senator's request. At state headquarters, ex-Senator Thomas Cooper and a crowd of state and local leaders tabulated returns and made comparisons.

As a result, the vote for Pattison is expected to run far above that of Penrose. A. McClain, the Democratic candidate for sheriff.

Up to the time the polls closed, the day was exceedingly quiet, and only in a few districts was there any excitement. In the Fourth senatorial district, especially in the Twenty-seventh and Twenty-second wards, the homes of both Mackey and Harrison, candidates for state senate, the voting was spirited all day. Mackey ran strong in his own ward, but the reports from the various divisions were that Harrison is given a good majority. The claim is made that Harrison was given a majority in every ward in the district.

In the Twentieth legislative district, composed of the Twenty-first ward, indications at the closing of the polls were that Jones had lost to his Republican opponent, Lukens.

Quay Arrives in the City.

For an hour before the close of the polls, the headquarters of the Republican state committee were receiving positive reports from many of the county leaders.

The Republicans elected their full county ticket by majorities which the early reports from many districts indicate will be above the 100,000 mark. All over the city the late afternoon voting was very heavy and thousands more votes were polled than had been expected.

This is the ticket elected by the Republicans: Sheriff, James L. Miles; recorder, Thomas Dugan; city commissioners, Jacob Widemore and Hugh Black; judges of common pleas, Michael Arnold and Norris Barratt.

The Democrats, as the minority entitled under the law to one of the members of the board of city commissioners, elected their candidate, Charles P. Donnelly.

County Ticket Leads Pennypackers.

The total vote for Judge Pennypacker for governor ran very close to that polled for the county ticket, but it is likely that the late returns will show that the county ticket polled a larger vote than that given the state ticket.

At the polls the Democratic election watchers devoted all their efforts toward polling the heaviest vote possible for their gubernatorial candidate, practically allowing the county candidates to take care of themselves. Only in a few of the wards were any strong efforts made to poll a heavy vote for the Democratic county and legislative candidates.

Senator Quay reached the state headquarters at 5:15 o'clock from Beaver, and was almost immediately in receipt of hundreds of telegrams from all parts of the state. The indications are that the Republicans have elected more than two-thirds of the members of the next legislature.

Ex-Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker, the Republican nominee for governor, left his home about 8:30 o'clock this morning and proceeded to the polling place of the Sixth district division, Twenty-ninth ward, where he talked for a few minutes with a few of his neighbors, and then entered the election booth, where he greeted the election officers with a pleasant "Good morning, gentlemen; I would like to vote." All of those present returned the salutation. As he emerged and deposited his ballot in the box, the ex-judge remarked: "This is excellent weather for an election, and the vote will, no doubt, be very heavy."

After remarking, in response to a query from one of his neighbors, that he had a very pleasant and satisfactory campaign, and that he did not feel in the least fatigued, Mr. Pennypacker left the polling place, boarded a passing car and proceeded to his office.

Republican Enthusiasm A-Plenty.

As early as 9 o'clock the principal streets were filled with thousands of cheering Republicans. At the Union League and Manufacturers' clubs returns were eagerly scanned by bankers, business men and professional men.

Good crowds were in evidence at the Democratic city committee headquarters, but there was a dearth of enthusiasm, and that, also, was the case at the Prohibition headquarters.

Judges were elected in 11 counties of Pennsylvania today as follows: Common pleas—Allegheny county, Edwin H. Stowe, Republican; Butler county, James L. Galbraith, Republican; Carbon county, Allen Craig, Democrat; Philadelphia county, Norris S. Barratt, Republican; Michael Arnold, Democrat. Orphans' court—Allegheny county, Josiah Cohen, Republican; Berks county, H. Willis Bland, Democrat; Lackawanna county, Alfon A. Vosburg, Republican. Associate judges—Columbia county, William Krickbaum, Democrat; Elk county, Thomas E. Gillouly, Democrat; Huntington county, W. H. Fenson, Republican; Monroe county, John W. Bossard, Democrat.

GREEKS STORMED BY RINGSTERS

John Demas's Hotel Is Wrecked by Gang of Ring Rioters.

VOTED FOR CITIZENS

Armed with bricks and revolvers, a gang of machine heelers at 9 o'clock last night bombarded the restaurant and hotel of James Demas, a Greek, because he had succeeded in persuading 40 of his countrymen to vote the Citizens ticket. His hotel is at No. 5 Diamond square. The ringsters terrified the Greeks by shooting at them and throwing bricks through the front windows of the hotel. Several of the Greeks were severely cut. A riot call was sent in and John Collins of the Sixth ward was arrested and locked up in Central police station on a charge of being a suspicious person. The ring politicians came to Collins' aid and he was liberated on $500 bail by Alderman S. J. Toole.

The fight was the outcome of the election. Select Councilman George Fleming has been working against Alderman Toole. Alderman Toole thought that he had succeeded in landing the Greek vote of which Demas is the leader. Councilman Fleming, however, influenced them to cast their votes for the Citizens ticket.

It was about 8 o'clock when the Toole ring faction learned that the Greeks had cast their ballots for the Citizens. About ten of the ring heelers armed themselves with bricks and revolvers and stormed Demas and his followers, while they were gathered in his billiard room and restaurant.

The first volley of bricks shattered the windows in the hotel. The Greeks became terrified and ran to the upper floors. The cloth on the billiard tables was cut and the dishes and furniture in the restaurant were demolished. A riot call was sent in to the central police station and Capt. John Cramer gathered a squad of men and hurried to the scene. When the officers arrived the rioters made their escape.

Collins, however, came back and told Assistant Superintendent of Police William Wilson that the Greeks were to blame and they should be locked up. This was denied by a dozen who witnessed the fray and Collins was taken to the police station. Alderman S. J. Toole gave $500 bail for his appearance before Police Magistrate Bernard McKenna this morning.

In the South.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 4.—South Carolina elects the entire Democratic state and congressional ticket.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 4.—The full Democratic state ticket is elected by a large majority. The "Lily White" Republican ticket got as large as expected.

DALLAS, TEX., Nov. 4.—Indications point to the election of the entire Democratic state ticket.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Nov. 4.—The entire Democratic state ticket, headed by James B. Frazier for governor, has been elected by a majority estimated at 50,000.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., Nov. 4.—Light vote polled throughout the state today; there was no opposition to the Democratic ticket, state or congressional. The proposed constitutional amendment, providing for three extra members of the supreme bench, was carried.

RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 4.—The state certainly will return a full Democratic congressional delegation. Returns from the Ninth district, where Meek was the only serious contest, assures the election of Rhea (Dem.).

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 4.—The Democrats elect their entire federal, state and county ticket almost without a slight opposition. Georgetown county elects a full Democratic ticket for the first time in 20 years.

JACKSON, MISS., Nov. 4.—The vote in Mississippi today was very light, the tabulations so far made indicating a total of less than 30,000. All the Democratic congressional nominees were elected without opposition. The constitutional amendments are believed to have been defeated.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 4.—The returns from 25 counties give a Democratic majority of 20,000. The only congressional district in which the Democrats are dead set are the Eighth and Tenth, and there are no returns definite from either.

Colorado.

DENVER, COL., Nov. 4.—Republican gains are generally reported throughout the state, but returns are very slow.

RESPESS STOCK BARN AND FINE HORSE BURNED

Stallion Serrano Cremated in a Fire Near Cincinnati.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—The main barn and several buildings of Tony Respess stock farm at Woodlawn were destroyed by fire this afternoon. The good stallion Serrano, by Fonso out of Jeannette, was burned to death and several other valuable horses had narrow escapes. The barn was valued at $5,000 and Serrano was worth nearly as much. The jockeys' quarters and kitchen were destroyed and a small shed containing five or six valuable game cocks.

The fire originated in a mysterious manner in the straw which was stored in the north part of the building. Six horses were removed from the stable. Trainer Kingston Blanchard was on the scene a few minutes after the fire broke out, personally superintending the work of rescuing the horses. William Delehar, an exercise boy, was badly burned about the arm and face in taking the yearling colt from the barn.

The men who had been working about the fire were about to leave the building, thinking the horses were all out, when it was discovered that Maceo, the pride of the Respess farm, and Serrano were still in the barn. The flames burned furiously about all entrances to the big barn and it looked for a minute as if the two horses were doomed. Serrano was found to be a mass of flames and nothing could be done to save the once good race horse. Serrano was six years old and won several stake events during his racing career. In 20 minutes after the flames had been discovered the great barn was a mass of ruins. All the clothing of the stable hands was destroyed, besides several trunks of jockey clothing which were stored in the help quarters.

CALIFORNIA.

Returns Are Scattered and Meagre, But Show Lane, Democrat, Running Ahead of Ticket.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—At 9 o'clock tonight only a few scattering returns had been received from the city and state. These indicate that the governorship is very doubtful. Lane, Democrat, is running ahead of his ticket. He will carry the city of San Francisco by 10,000 plurality and is developing strength throughout the state.

The legislature probably will be Republican. The vote on congressman in the Fourth and Fifth districts is close. Returns at hand indicate that Kahn, Republican, will be elected by a small plurality.

In the Fifth district Loud, Republican, is running behind in the strong labor districts in this city. In the Second district the returns indicate the probable defeat of Coombs, Republican.

Two hundred and thirty-nine precincts in this city, incomplete, give Lane, Dem., 2,655; Pardee, Rep., 2,189.

MICHIGAN

Vote Is Slight and Republican Majority Is Not Over 40,000—Eleven Congressmen Elected.

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—The Republicans of Michigan have elected Gov. A. T. Bliss and the entire state ticket, 11 of the 12 congressmen, and an overwhelming majority of the members of the legislature.

The vote was light throughout the state, and the Republican majority is estimated at midnight at between 30,000 and 40,000, although Republican State Chairman C. J. Dickema insists that it will be nearer 75,000, basing his statement on advices received from the various county chairmen.

As was expected, Gov. Bliss ran heavily behind his ticket—it is now safe to say, it is estimated at midnight.

U. T. Barrald, the Democratic candidate for governor, polled a corresponding heavy vote, especially in Detroit, which he carried by from 5,000 to 6,000.

Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4.—Chairman Rothwell of the Democratic state committee, claims the state by 30,000. Republican Chairman Kirkpatrick concedes the state to the Democrats. In St. Louis the Democrats claim to have carried the entire city ticket with from 4,000 to 9,000 majority. The election of James G. Butler (Dem.) in the Twelfth congressional district is conceded by 2,000.

GOVERNOR ELECT TAKES IT CALMLY

After Being Assured of Election, Goes to Library and Reads a History.

WM. T. CREASY DAZED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.

Judge Pennypacker accepted the result with placid unconcern. After spending an hour or two with Chairman Quay, who assured him of his election, the distinguished jurist quietly left the Hotel Walton and walked down Locust street to the headquarters of the Historical society. All was dark.

After pulling the doorbell for 10 minutes the judge concluded that history had been temporarily sidetracked, and he strode up toward Broad street. Fortune favored him, for before he had gone a block he met a fellow-member of the society, who lent him a key. Back went the judge, all alone, opened the door, entered the library, selected a book bearing upon colonial times, and with a sigh of infinite satisfaction he sank into an easy rocker. Here The Gazette correspondent found the next governor of Pennsylvania.

"I thought it was all over," said the judge, when interrupted.

Being assured that he was correctly informed, but that there were quite a few people who desired to know his opinion, he continued:

"Personally, I am very much gratified. It looks as if the Republicans had won by a very substantial majority, larger than some of the leaders anticipated, particularly our Democratic friends. My policy as governor has been very clearly outlined by me on the stump. There will be no deviation from the lines laid down prior to the decision registered today at the polls."

The judge resumed his reading.

Senator Penrose declined to give an interview. That he was pleased with the result goes without saying.

Democratic State Chairman William T. Creasy said: "It looks as if very few independent Republicans of Philadelphia voted for Pattison. I will not discuss the state outside Philadelphia and Allegheny, owing to meagre returns, but Judge Pennypacker has an apparent majority."

ALLEGHENY COUNTY RING HAS GONE DOWN TO DEFEAT BEFORE THE FUSION TICKET

Returns Indicate That People Have Elected All Citizens Candidates and Given Pennypacker a Handsome Majority.

PITTSBURGH REPEATED THE REVOLUTION OF FEBRUARY

Returns Come In Slowly, as There Was a Great Deal of Cutting---Organization Leaders Still Hopeful.

The people ave triumphed, and the machine has been routed from the court house. The Citizens victory in the county is complete, and the cause of Republicanism has not suffered.

A majority of 40,000 for Pennypacker in this county is a possibility, and his lead over Pattison will not fall below 30,000. The Democrats concede that he will have 25,000.

While the machine is exerting every effort to hold back the returns, enough figures are leaking out to prove that the Citizens have won a decisive victory. From the old city, the South Side, North Side and throughout the country districts come reports of anti-machine victories. While the fuller returns probably will not justify the earlier claims of last night, it is safe to predict that the fusion ticket will finish the fight with 15,000 to its credit. William Hays and Charles S. Crawford are confident that the majority in the county will reach this figure.

In the congressional districts it appears to be settled that H. Kirke Porter has defeated James F. Burke. On the North Side George Shiras III. places his majority over William H. Graham at 1,000. The returns in the Thirty-second district are meager, and with the few districts in, A. J. Barchfeld is showing a lead over James W. Brown. This is the one bright spot for the machine, and the leaders of the ring are making it the basis of a claim of victory for their whole county ticket.

Knoxville, the birthplace of the "muddy water" party, has been heard from. It is there that James F. Grimes resides and on the eve of election expressed such deep interest in the welfare of his tenants. Out of 700 votes polled there yesterday the Ballot Reform party received 55.

Dr. Evans' Estimate.

Dr. Cantwalder Evans, chairman of the Citizens committee of 32, made the following statement when the returns gave proof of the great victory in Allegheny county: "Pennypacker will receive a very large majority, between 30,000 and 40,000, in the county. The fusion county ticket will all be elected. Porter has certainly defeated Burke by at least 3,000 majority. There are as yet very few returns from the other congressional districts, but the indications are that Shiras and Brown have won.

"This election has shown that the Republicans would not desert their party, for fear of the results upon the country at large. If this county election could have been entirely separated from state issues there would have been an overwhelming majority for the fusion nominees, certainly double what they have received.

"The election of H. K. Porter has been brought about by his high standing in the community and his prominent business interests, which render him a thoroughly representative man fit to care for the interests of his district.

Were Tired of the Ring.

"The court house ticket was defeated because the people are tired of the ring. The election means a reform in home affairs. Republicans would no longer tolerate the mismanagement of county government by the clique of men who have had control for years. They wished to make sure of getting rid of this ring.

"This election shows the people to be steadfast for the principles they voted for last February. The issues of that time and of the present election will be fought over next February and there is not the slightest doubt as to the results at that time. The ring must go. Its incompetence and unworthiness is more evident every hour and every day.

"'Ballot Reform' appears to have been entirely lost in the shuffle. It was too muddy a stream for clean people to get into."

Claims of the Ring.

At 11:30 o'clock last night Chairman A. C. Robertson had worked up a good deal of enthusiasm in the Sixth avenue auditorium by making sweeping claims of victory. Recorder J. O. Brown, the city chairman, came in about 11 o'clock and he made similar claims.

"The entire Republican ticket will be elected in the county by a majority of 30,000," said Mr. Robertson. "We concede the city of Pittsburgh to the Citizens party by 5,000 majority, but the city of Allegheny and the county districts will give us a majority of 18,000. Deduct the 5,000 loss in Pittsburgh, and that leaves us a majority of 10,000.

"You see, the returns show that we have made a gain of 20 votes to the Republican party over the Republican vote in February. This ratio will reduce the Pittsburgh majority against us to 3,000, as I have stated. My prediction regarding Pennypacker's majority has come true. He will have at least 25,000 majority."

Brown's Bold Blow.

City Chairman J. O. Brown said: "Pennypacker will carry Allegheny county by 30,000 at least. The entire Republican ticket in the county will be elected by from 15,000 to 20,000. The Republicans will lose Pittsburgh, but our gains in Allegheny city and the country districts will more than wipe out the Pittsburgh majority against the Republican ticket, and leave us ahead with the figures I have mentioned.

Dr. A. J. Barchfeld said: "I certainly am elected to congress. The country districts that have come in so far show increased Republican gains over the Bartnett vote in 1900. In Scott township I had more than 300 votes, while Mr. Brown, my opponent, had 27. I believe this increased Republican ratio will show all through the country precincts in my congressional district. I estimate my majority at 4,000."

Max G. Leslie said: "The entire Republican ticket will be elected by from 12,000 to 15,000. Pennypacker will carry the county by 30,000 plurality."

James F. Grimes, the promoter of the Ballot Reform movement, was in the auditorium listening to the returns. He said that from the returns so far received he estimated that the Ballot Reform ticket had polled 8,000 votes in the county. This figure came to within 2,000 of the number of votes Mr. Grimes had before the election estimated the Ballot Reform ticket would receive.

Guffey and Guthrie Silent.

Silence, deep and stubborn, reigned in the council chamber of the two Democratic chieftains, Col. J. M. Guffey and George W. Guthrie. Early in the evening they went to Col. Guffey's home, where, up to a late hour they pored over the returns as they came in. Many inquiries were made for them downtown, but no one seemed to know the exact whereabouts of the leaders or their feelings over the Pennypacker landslide that was sweeping over their party.

At 11:30 Col. Guffey emerged from their sanctum long enough to decline to be quoted in any way. "Not a line, not a line," he interrupted. "I have absolutely nothing to say. Not a line from me for publication tonight. If Mr. Guthrie wants to talk I have no objection."

Mr. Guthrie was equally silent and declined to be seen. It was evident from Col. Guffey's manner that he was resigned to the situation and had accepted Pattison's defeat as certain.

From Democratic Headquarters.

At 12:30 the following statement was issued from Democratic headquarters: "The indications are now that Pennypacker will carry the county by from 25,000 to 30,000. The Citizens ticket will have a majority of from 10,000 up. The Democratic vote has been heavy throughout the county, fully 15 per cent more than the Bryan vote in 1900. This gain has been made mostly in the suburban districts. The vote on Burke and Brown, from present indications, will be very close. The indications are that Shiras will go through. The heaviest vote polled was for Stengel for registrar."

Andrew Fulton gave this opinion of the result:

"As far as can be seen now, the Citizens have carried everything, practically, in the county. I have all along believed that a total vote of about 305,000 would be polled at this election, and the figures now coming in show this will be about the case. I think the totals will show from 38,000 to 42,000 Flinn Republican votes; about 28,000 Democratic votes, and about 35,000 to 39,000 Citizens votes."

At machine headquarters the leaders were not prepared to give figures in the county, but claimed to be hopeful of a victory. Chairman A. C. Robertson said that Pennypacker would have a majority of 30,000 in the county.

Delay in the Returns.

There is more delay in getting returns in this election than in any other in the history of the county. The heavy vote polled and the great number of mixed ballots cast are the reasons for the slowness in receiving results. From almost every district news is being received that electors have cut their tickets. This makes the work of the returning boards tedious and necessarily slow.

In February, although the greatest vote in the history of the city had been cast, it was possible by 10 o'clock in the evening to tell pretty well what majority the Citizens would have. While at this hour it is not difficult to predict that the anti-machine forces have won a splendid victory, it is impossible to estimate the magnitude of the majority.

At the spring election there were few mixed tickets cast. This time there has been much cutting. An example is given in Homestead, where 1,300 votes were cast, and a fourth of them are mixed. This polling alone, with the vote cast by the Republicans and Democrats in Homestead, foretells a victory.

Citizens Carry Homestead.

In Homestead 10 out of 11 wards have elected as follows: Republican, 564; Citizens, 265; Democratic, 250; and mixed, 230. Of the latter kind the Republicans will get about two-thirds and thus be credited of a victory in the borough.

Early in the evening anxious leaders in East Pittsburgh, Duquesne, Sykesville, Pitcairn and Turtle Creek appeared sure that the Citizens ticket had won by an immense majority.

The reports from the boroughs and townships in the Monongahela valley indicate a great victory for the Citizens.

HUFF LEADS TICKET.

All Republican Candidates Elected in Westmoreland County.

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—In nineteen of the districts of Westmoreland county Pennypacker has a majority of 500 and he is expected that he will carry the county by 1,000. Huff, for congress, leads the Republican ticket, and it is thought his majority will reach 4,000. In 41 precincts he has 3,552, and Hemphill, 3,252. All of the Republican candidates for assembly have been elected by majorities ranging from 2,000 to 3,500.

CONGRESS IS REPUBLICAN BY REDUCED MAJORITY

Chairman Babcock Claims a Lead of Twenty in the House of Representatives—Democratic Leaders Have Not Given Up.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—Although the returns from the doubtful congressional districts were slow in arriving, the indications at midnight were that the Republicans would control the next house of representatives by a narrow margin. In the present house, with a membership of 357, the Republicans have 41 majority. Under the new apportionment, the fifty-eighth house will consist of 386 members, a majority of which is 194.

The 13 southern states, not counting West Virginia, but including Missouri, have 123 representatives. The Democrats have carried 116 of these districts and the Republicans probably five, two in Tennessee, one in Kentucky and two in Missouri, with two in North Carolina, one in Virginia, and one in Alabama doubtful, according to the latest returns. To obtain a majority in the next house it was necessary, therefore, for the Democrats to secure 78 votes in the north and west. The latest returns indicate that this strength has been held, with the exception of one seat each from Idaho, Montana and Nevada, as to which the returns at this hour are inconclusive. Adding 49 to 116 gives the Democrats 165.

Where Democrats Have Gained.

The returns show that they have made a gain of three in Pennsylvania, one in Nebraska, one in Delaware, one in Wisconsin, two in Maryland, one in Colorado, and probably four in New York, swelling the total to 178. This leaves them 16 short of a majority, with the result in five doubtful southern districts to be heard from, and doubtful districts in the north and west from which the returns are as yet inadequate, as follows: West Virginia 2, Ohio 1, Indiana 2, Illinois 2, Iowa 1, Nebraska 1, Kansas 1, Minnesota 2, Michigan 1, California and Utah 1—a total of 21.

Chairman Griggs, of the Democratic congressional committee, at 11:30 tonight said that returns to his headquarters were too meager to permit of definite statement, but that he saw no reason now to waver in his original declaration that the Democrats would have a majority of 22 in the house. He claimed, he said, a gain of five seats in New York, two each in Massachusetts, Maryland and Kentucky, one in New Jersey and others from various states.

Griggs Claims Lead of Ten.

At midnight Chairman Griggs made a statement claiming the house would be Democratic by from 10 to 12 votes. He added to his specifications of gains three in California, one in Wisconsin, two in Michigan and two in Minnesota.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—At congressional headquarters at 10 o'clock, Congressman Overstreet of Indiana, secretary of the Republican congressional committee, said the big plurality for Coler in Greater New York had made it possible that Democrats would be elected by every one of the first 10 congressional districts of New York. This would mean a net loss of four Republicans in the New York delegation.

Mr. Overstreet said there was some chance of saving four districts out of these 10, namely, the First, Third, Sixth and Fifteenth, but the hopes raised of gaining the Thirteenth, Seventeenth, Ninth and Nineteenth districts were destroyed by the big slump for Coler.

The First district is that in which President Roosevelt lived and is now represented by a Republican. When Mr. Roosevelt ran for governor, the Republican plurality in this district was 2,351.

Babcock Feels Confident.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—At midnight Chairman Babcock of the Republican congressional committee, sent the following telegram to Senator Hanna, chairman of the national Republican committee:

"Returns coming in slowly. Very satisfactory outside New York city. Think an estimate of 202 Republican members is safe. Have elected four of the six congressmen from Maryland."

Following are the members of the Fifty-eighth congress, as indicated by the latest returns. Those marked with a star are re-elected:

ILLINOIS REMAINS REPUBLICAN STATE

Many Surprises in Chicago, and Democrats Elected the Sheriff.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Meagre returns prevented at midnight, anything like an accurate statement of the result of the election in the state of Illinois, although there is every indication that the Republican ticket has been elected by a good majority. The next legislature will be Republican without a doubt, and the successor to United States Senator Mason is certain to be Republican.

The Republicans claim to have won everything in Cook county, but admit that the result as to sheriff is in doubt.

The Democrats claim the election of their candidate for sheriff, who is running ahead of his ticket.

At 10 o'clock tonight it was evident that Busse, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, had carried the city by at least 8,500, which will give him between 13,000 and 14,000 in Cook county. Two hundred and twenty precincts outside of Cook county give Busse, Rep., 25,863, and Duddleston, Dem., 17,147.

One thousand one hundred and eleven out of 1,371 precincts in Cook county give Busse, Rep., for state treasurer, 113,960, and Duddleston, Dem., 105,168.

In the Sixth congressional district, where ex-Congressman William Lorimer has been making a desperate fight to recover the position he lost at the last congressional election, the contest is exceedingly close. Lorimer, with two wards of his district to hear from, had a lead of 41 votes, and it will be impossible to arrive at the result in this contest before tomorrow.

The fight in the Third district is also very close, but Wilson, the Republican, has a lead of 200, with half of his district yet to report, and the chances are that he will win out.

In the city of Chicago the election was full of surprises. The Republicans triumphed in Democratic strongholds, and the Democrats returned the compliment in the fullest measure.

The head of the Republican ticket, Busse, the candidate for state treasurer, has carried the city of Chicago and the county of Cook by approximately 14,000, and at the same time Barrett, the Democratic candidate for sheriff, has undoubtedly beaten the Republican nominee by about 15,000.

The election for members of the legislature from Chicago has resulted as follows: Senators, Republicans, 10; Democrats 4; representatives, Republicans 22, Democrats 16.

RINGSTERS HOWL "FRAUD"

Cutting of Tickets Delayed Count in Populous Wards and Excited Max Leslie.

At 2 o'clock this morning a number of districts in the Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first and Fourteenth wards had not been heard from. The ringsters, although scores of other districts were still out, set up a howl of fraud. Common Councilman Max Leslie and James Francis Burke went to the Safety building in search of Superintendent John McAleese to have him send 100 policemen to these voting booths to seize the ballot boxes.

Superintendent McAleese could not be found and men were sent in search of him. Max Leslie said these districts were controlled by Citizens election officers and he was uneasy over the delay. As a matter of fact, the vote in these precincts was heavy and the ticket badly cut, so that the election officers worked almost until dawn counting the votes.

Max Leslie was free in hinting that something was wrong. He said: "What would cause the delay at this hour. We are getting the worst of it. That is what is causing the delay."

ROOSEVELT GETS NEWS.

He Sends a Telegram of Congratulation to Gov. Odell—Leaves for Philadelphia This Morning.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Having been kept fully informed during the day and night as to the course of the election, President Roosevelt retired at 11 o'clock, fully satisfied with the result. He was particularly gratified with the returns from New York state, which showed the re-election of Gov. Odell.

The president late tonight sent a telegram of congratulation to the governor.

The president and Secretary Cortelyou received the returns at Sagamore hill from the executive officers in the Oyster Bay bank building.

The President and party will leave Oyster Bay at 7 o'clock for Philadelphia.

DELAWARE IS AGAIN IN LOCK OF DEATH

Result of Election Means That No United States Senators Will Be Chosen.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILMINGTON, DEL., Nov. 5.—The complexion of the next Delaware general assembly is in doubt. At 1:15 a. m., it is apparent that a deadlock on the two United States senatorial vacancies will be the result, as was the case two years ago.

The regular Republican state committee claims that the body will be composed of 10 Union Republicans, 8 regular Republicans, 22 Democrats and three doubtful. Democratic State Chairman Willard Saulsbury stated at 1 a. m., that his returns thus far received showed that 24 Democratic members have been elected. The majority on joint ballot and the number necessary to elect United States senators is 27.

Mr. Saulsbury places the Kent county membership, including two Democratic hold-over senators, at seven Democrats, seven Union Republicans and a tie in the Ninth district. His advices from Sussex county are that three Democratic representatives and one Democratic senator were elected today. The Democrats have a hold-over senator in Sussex.

The Democrats gain five members in New Castle county. Joseph L. Cahall, the Union Republican chairman of Sussex county, claimed at midnight that the Addicks Republicans have elected seven representatives and two senators in that county.

Republican Victory in Blair.

ALTOONA, PA., Nov. 4.—Blair county gives 2,500 majority for the Republican legislative candidates, Plummer and Irwin, and 3,000 majority for Evans, Republican candidate for congress. McFarlane, Dem.; director of the poor, James M. Stiffle, Rep., coroner, Thomas C. McCartney, Rep.; auditors, William Roberts, Rep.; H. M. Sell, Rep. William Hayes, Dem.; surveyor, Scott G. Winn, Rep.

OLD QUARREL ENDED BY FATAL SHOOTING

West Virginia Man Is Instantly Killed in a Street Fight.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Charleston, W. VA., Nov. 4.—Edward Hennings, a well-known citizen of Poca, Putnam county, was shot and instantly killed by Albert Brown this morning on the main street of the town.

The men had had some trouble and meeting on the street the quarrel was renewed and Hennigs attempted to draw a gun. Brown, however, reached his weapon first and shot Hennings through the heart. Hennings was recognized as a dangerous character, having killed a man named Shawver about a year ago. Brown gave himself up.

JUDGE RESIGNS.

Republican in St. Louis Refuses to Stand for So Much Repeating. Many Arrests.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4.—While the election in St. Louis passed off in comparative quiet, there was a number of arrests for repeating. Two Republican judges of election were arrested on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. Complaints from more than 50 voters, who had not been allowed to cast their ballots, were received at the office of the board of election commissioners.

Circuit Attorney Folk spent all of the day at his office, listening to complaints and hearing evidence of alleged fraud, which will be called to the attention of the grand jury tomorrow.

P. F. Myers, a Republican election judge, resigned because, as he declared, there was so much repeating, which he was powerless to stop, that he was disgusted and would not serve him.

SENATE REPUBLICAN BY AT LEAST SIXTEEN

If the Republican Legislature of Delaware Acts in Time, It May Be 20.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—The next United States senate will be Republican by at least 16 majority, against the present majority of 26.

The present senate contains 54 Republicans and 34 Democrats in a total of 90 seats, there being two vacancies from Delaware, where the Republican legislature failed to elect. The terms of 30 senators expire with the present congress. There is also a vacancy from Michigan, caused by the death of Senator McMillan.

Of these 31 seats to be filled, not including the two from Delaware, but including the McMillan vacancy, 19 are now Republican and 12 are Democratic. Wellington of Maryland being classified as a Republican, and Harris of Kansas, McLaurin of South Carolina and Teller of Colorado as Democrats. Seven states have already elected senators to take their seats March 4, 1903.

Maryland has chosen Gorman, a Democrat, to succeed Wellington, a Republican; Kentucky, McCreary, a Democrat, to succeed Deboe, a Republican; Iowa has re-elected Allison, a Republican; Ohio has re-elected Foraker, a Republican; Louisiana has re-elected McEnery, a Democrat; Vermont has re-elected Dillingham, a Republican, and Georgia today re-elected Clay, a Democrat. Four Democrats and three Republicans, therefore, already are elected, leaving 16 Republican and 8 Democratic seats to be filled.

The legislature in Oregon, which will choose a successor to Simon, has been elected and is Republican. Including Delaware, therefore, 25 senators will be elected by the legislatures chosen today. These legislatures were elected by the following states: Indiana, Delaware (two seats), New Hampshire, North Dakota, Nevada, South Dakota, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Kansas, Michigan, California, Connecticut, New York, North Carolina, Wisconsin, Idaho, Arkansas, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Utah, Colorado, Washington and Missouri. Of these the Republicans have surely carried 13—Pennsylvania, Indiana, New Hampshire, North Dakota, South Dakota, Illinois, California, Connecticut, New York, Michigan, Kansas, Wisconsin and Washington—and the Democrats, seven—North Carolina, Delaware (probably), Arkansas, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, and Missouri.

This insures 52 Republicans and 34 Democrats in the next senate.

The result of the contests, owing to the meager returns received at this hour, is still in doubt in Nevada, Idaho, Utah and Colorado, with the chances favoring the election of Democratic legislatures in Colorado, Idaho and Nevada and a Republican legislature in Utah. If these probabilities should be realized, the senate will stand 53 Republicans and 37 Democrats, a loss of four majority for the Republicans, compared with the present political division.

If the present Republican legislature in Delaware should be called in extra session and should be able to get together and elect two Republican senators before the new legislature convenes, the Republican strength would be increased two, giving the dominant party a majority of 20, or exactly what they have in the present senate.

BURNED BY HOT METAL

Shower of Molten Iron Brought Death to Workman—Other Morgue Cases.

While working in the foundry of the Frank Kneeland Machine Company, Patrick Foley of Fifty-fifth and Butler streets was burned to death by a quantity of hot metal falling on him yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock. He was standing near a ladle which contained the hot metal. The hoisting apparatus became effected in some way and the jerking of the ladle splashed the metal on Foley, burning him to death.

Matthew English, 15 years old, of No. 2822 Larkin alley, was struck by a train on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad at Thirty-fourth street yesterday afternoon and instantly killed. He was a laborer by occupation and was killed while crossing the tracks.

Felix Wrubel, 30 years old and married, a Pole of Glassport, was instantly killed yesterday morning, having the top of his head cut off by the bursting of an emery wheel at the plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Foundry Company, where he was employed as a grinder.

ENEMY CAPTURES OYSTER BAY.

Roosevelt's Own District Gives Democratic Plurality of 31.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Nov. 4.—The town of Oyster Bay, President Roosevelt's township, complete, gives Odell 1,526; Coler, 1,057. In 1900 the town gave Odell 2,041, and Stanchfield 1,525. President Roosevelt's own district, the Fifth, gives a plurality of 31 for the Democratic state ticket.

DELAWARE.

Indications Are That Addicks Makes State Democratic.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Nov. 4.—Democratic State Chairman Willard Saulsbury made the following statement at 11 p. m.:

"Returns show Houston, Dem., elected to congress by from 3,000 to 5,000 majority. The Democrats gain at least five members of the legislature in New Castle county."

George W. Sparks, regular Republican, who was indorsed by the Democrats, is no doubt elected in the First senatorial district. James E. Jones, Union Rep., is apparently elected in the Second representative district. He is the only Addicks Republican to be elected in the city.

Midnight advices from Dover show that Addicks representatives gained two members of the legislature in Kent county. Nothing has yet been received from Sussex county. The result in Kent county indicates next general assembly, which will elect two United States senators, will be close, and should Sussex county show any Democratic gains the body will have a Democratic majority on joint ballot, but should it show Republican gains there will be a deadlock, as was the case two years ago.

SWINDLING GAME FAILED.

Parkersburg Man Summoned to Pittsburgh to be Buncoed.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—D. M. Miller, a prominent timber dealer, was called to Pittsburgh Monday by a letter from a man who said he wanted to buy railroad ties. He failed to meet Miller, but while the latter was gone, his clerk here received a telegram signed D. M. Miller asking him to have a bank here guarantee his check for $5,500. The cashier telegraphed that Miller's check was good, but that did not satisfy the Pittsburgh bank, and when Miller returned home he denied sending the telegram.

It was found today that the Pittsburgh business was a ruse to get Miller there for the purpose of getting the money. The man who presented the check signed Miller failed to return for the money after the Pittsburgh bank first refused to cash it.

AN UNPLEASANT EXPERIENCE

Has it ever been your unhappy lot to be told by your physician that you must go to a hospital and submit to an operation? If so, you remember with what dread and shrinking you awaited the day when you must endure the knife. The present day surgeon appears to be possessed by a mania for operating, especially in cases of hemorrhoids or piles, and while the great number of the profession do not recommend this "last resort" unless they honestly believe it necessary, the fact remains that much needless operating is done, and the patient put to much pain and suffering for what? To obtain a possible temporary relief; these methods are used advisedly, because in nine cases out of ten the affliction returns and the patient is just where he started from. Oftentimes he could be cured much more simply and easily by the use of some remedy as Pyramid Pile Cure. This has come to be recognized as the best remedy on the market for the painful disease named, and the druggists now sell more of it than all other pile remedies combined. The writer personally knows people who were afflicted with the worst form of bleeding and protruding piles, and who were permanently cured by the use of Pyramid Pile Cure. In every one of these cases the attending physician had assured the sufferer that only a surgical operation could be rid himself of the trouble; so much for the infallibility of some doctors. This remedy, which is sold by all druggists at the low price of fifty cents, is in suppository form, and is applied directly to the parts affected. It then performs its work quietly and painlessly. The Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., will mail free to any address a booklet telling all about piles or hemorrhoids, their cause and cure.

A suggestion is offered that if the reader is afflicted or knows anyone who is, that this book be sent for, as it will be found invaluable.

FLEMING'S RHEUMATIC REMEDY

is a famous prescription which we have dispensed for over twenty-five years. We do not know of a Rheumatic remedy that meets the requirements of this section as this one does.

In cases of Muscular, Inflammatory or Sciatic Rheumatism it invariably relieves in a few days, and one or two bottles generally effects a cure. We have the record of several cases that were entirely relieved by this remedy after trying almost everything else and suffering for years. It certainly is worthy of a trial. Price, $1.00 per bottle. Sent by express, carefully packed, on receipt of price.

ALLEGHENY RING GOES TO PIECES

George Shiras Easily Defeats W. H. Graham, Machine Candidate for Congress.

CITIZENS CLEAN SWEEP

Senator Charles Muehlbronner One of Victims—Every Legislative Candidate on Citizens Ticket Elected.

A complete victory for the Citizens county, congressional, senatorial and legislative tickets in Allegheny is shown by the returns, received up till midnight at the Citizens headquarters in Federal street. The returns were brought by runners from the various election districts as fast as the ballots were counted. Forty-nine out of 88 districts gave a majority of 1,145 to George Shiras, the anti-machine candidate, against W. H. Graham and about 1,200 to the fusion county ticket.

Eleven districts out of 40 in the First legislative district gave the Citizens candidates, Joseph Stewart and Joseph Gilchrist, a majority of 405. William T. Marshall and John Henderson, the machine candidates in the Second legislative district, were defeated by a majority of over 500 in about one-third of the election districts. It is estimated that the total majority against Marshall and Henderson and in favor of Francies and Powell, the Citizens candidates, will reach 1,200 to 1,500.

GEORGE R. STENGEL.
Citizens Candidate for Register of Wills.

Shiras Tells of Victory.

George Shiras, the Citizens candidate for congress, left the headquarters at midnight to send telegrams to his father, Justice Shiras at Washington, D. C., and others, stating that he had been elected beyond all doubt.

Mr. Shiras attributed his election to an uprising of the people in the cause of good government. "In this conflict, the personality of the candidates on the Citizens ticket was a secondary consideration," said he. "It was a union of the people to overthrow a system of machine government that had become intolerable. By a fortunate combination of circumstances the people were able, in a single battle, to defeat and destroy a county and city ring that had not lost a fight in the past 25 years."

A large and intensely enthusiastic crowd gathered in the auditorium of the Allegheny headquarters and remained until long after midnight, listening to the returns and celebrating the sweeping victory that had been scored against the machine on the North Side.

Cheered the Glad News.

The reading of the returns, which invariably told of the success of the Citizens, was greeted with loud and prolonged cheering.

An interesting incident was the reception accorded ex-Mayor James G. Wyman, whose district in the second ward, gave a majority of 2 to 1 for the Citizens. Ex-Mayor Wyman was tendered an ovation and he was compelled to take the platform. He made a brief speech expressing gratification at the result of the election and the downfall of the ring, promising a repetition of the performance next February, when he entered the fight for the city recordership.

JAMES M. FAHNESTOCK.
Citizens Candidate for Sheriff.

The scenes at the Allegheny City hall last night were in marked contrast to those in the Citizens headquarters. In the private apartments of Recorder J. R. Murphy were assembled W. H. Graham, Recorder Murphy, Samuel C. Grier, John G. Hastings, Senator Charles Muehlbronner, W. T. Marshall, John Henderson, Anton Lutz, John Wagner and a score of other satellites of the machine.

Would Not Admit Defeat.

Mr. Graham tabulated the vote for congress as it came in, but at midnight only 23 districts out of 88 had been heard from. These gave Graham 2,238 votes and Shiras 2,289. The returns from districts which furnished Shiras with his largest vote were not received at the City hall.

At midnight Mr. Graham would not concede his defeat, although it was plain that the districts which had been carried heavily by his opponent had not been reported. Mr. Graham and Senator Muehlbronner, who was a candidate for re-election against John M. Goehring, agreed that the vote was "too close for comfort," but were not disposed to give up. Recorder Murphy went home in disgust, however, after remarking that the "jig is up."

The returns received at midnight showed that the Citizens had carried nearly every ward in the city, with the probable exception of the Seventh, Eighth, Fifteenth and Fourth. The Citizens claimed to have carried every district in the Twelfth and Thirteenth wards, which were regarded as machine strongholds.

The Eleventh ward, which is the home of ex-Director Robert McAfee, went heavily for the Citizens, as did the Second, where Mr. Graham resides. The Third ward, the home of Recorder Murphy, was also claimed for the Citizens.

THE WEATHER.

True to his promise, the weather man gave Pittsburgh and its vicinity ideal election weather yesterday, and every voter had an opportunity to cast his ballot without the elements interfering. The day was neither too cold nor too warm and the enthusiastic citizen took advantage of the conditions and remained about the polls till they closed. Downtown was alive with the big election crowds usual on such occasions and it was long after midnight before the people watching the bulletins began moving homeward. For today and tomorrow the prediction is for rain.

CITIZENS WERE NOT SURPRISED

Good News Began to Come Early Into Third Avenue Headquarters.

ROOMS WERE CROWDED

Bulletins Received by Telephone and Telegraph Told Story of Victory of Cheering Workers. Leaders There to Hear News.

It was a hopeful crowd from the first that gathered at the headquarters of the Citizens party in Third avenue to learn the results of the election. Arrangements have been perfected to have the workers throughout the city and county telephone the results to headquarters as soon as it was possible to secure accurate information on the outcome.

Both the Bell and the Pittsburgh and Allegheny telephones were ringing constantly after 8 o'clock and nearly every call meant an addition to the growing plurality of the Citizens candidates. In addition to this special telephone service, there was also telegraph service, and the many people at headquarters were kept informed as to the outcome of the elections throughout the United States, as well as in this section.

Jubilation Was General.

By 9 o'clock the results had begun to come in thick and fast, and two of the Citizens workers were kept busy preparing the tables, which would give the count in form for easy calculation. The majority of H. Kirke Porter against James Francis Burke started at once and the greater part of the reports swelled his majority still more. The East End wards were among the last to arrive, but even with these Citizens strongholds left out, there was a comfortable difference in favor of the Citizens shown by the reports from the other wards. The showing of the fusion ticket in the wards always credited to the ring was a pleasant surprise. There was a noteworthy diminution of the majorities there, and while the total vote was not up to that of the elections in February last, it was surprisingly large for an "off-year."

The reports from the outlying districts were among the last to arrive, and when these did start to come, they were in few cases official. Not until today will it be known what the results are in the parts of Allegheny county farthest from the city.

Crowds Grew Very Large.

As the evening passed on the crowds in headquarters increased. The reports were being read in the second-story bank room, but this room soon became so filled with the eager workers that it was impossible to carry on properly the work, and all but those directly connected with the work were given accommodations in the larger front room. Bulletins were read there as fast as received. Applause greeted many of the bulletins.

Among the workers there were many interesting demonstrations when some strong ring candidate made a lamentable showing or some popular Citizens candidate ran ahead of the expectations.

When it was announced that Arch Mackrell, the ring candidate for sheriff, had not carried his own precinct, the seventh of the Eleventh ward, there was a general laugh. He received but 89 votes to 135 for Fahnestock.

This was repeated when the announcement came that in the sixth precinct of the Seventeenth ward, the Leslie precinct, there was a majority of 14 for Porter, and that in the eighth precinct of the same ward, the home of Sheriff McKinley, Porter had won by a majority of 27.

Grimes Caused Laugh.

But the best laugh of all came when the showing of the "muddy water" party in Knoxville, the home of James Grimes, the only and original "buby water" man, was but 55 votes out of 700.

The strong showing made by W. S. Woods attracted general admiration. He carried his own precinct, the fifth of the Twenty-second ward, receiving 55 votes as compared with 24 for Ford.

Among the best known Citizens workers present during the evening were Dr. Cadwalader Evans, chairman of the committee of 32, in charge of the party's interests; W. B. Hays, chairman of the campaign committee; W. B. Rodgers, Esq., who has been active in the reform work, and was one of the authors of the new charter; Charles S. Crawford, president of common council, and several others also well known.

Most of these men left before 1 a. m. They had seen enough to know in what direction the tide was turning, and they returned to their homes confident of their work having resulted in victory.

South Dakota.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 4.—At the headquarters of the Republican state central committee it is claimed that the Republican ticket is elected by by 1,700.

Complete returns from 16 towns South Dakota, give Herreid, Rep., governor, 3,492; Martin, Dem., 1,926.

VOTERS OF EAST END REJOICE AT NEWS

Tidings of Victory Came Late but Were Welcome in Citizens Stronghold.

The slowness in receiving the election returns in the East End last night caused the great crowd of people which thronged Penn and Frankstown avenues early in the night to become impatient. The cause for the delay was the heavy cutting in almost every voting precinct in the East End and Oakland wards.

The results of hardly any of the precincts were known before midnight. Hundreds of people came in the streets early and when the meager details only could be obtained concluded not to wait for the definite figures and left for their homes.

Nearly every precinct of the East End wards gave good majorities for the Citizens candidates and before 12 o'clock it was generally conceded that the fusion ticket had won by handsome majorities in every part of the county.

Victory Was Celebrated.

At the places where the returns were received and bulletined the crowds at times became enthusiastic and there were several celebrations on account of the Citizens victory. The most disgruntled crowd to be found in the East End was the police force. The officers around the station house seemed to feel the blow to the ring hardest and the keenest regret at the fall of the organization was expressed on all sides.

The East End board of trade received the returns in their rooms in Shady avenue by special wires. Telephone connection were also established with several of the downtown newspaper offices and the crowd was apprised of the latest news from over the two cities, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania and the United States.

The East End hall was packed with an enthusiastic crowd until a late hour this morning and all news appeared to be good news. When a report of a heavy Citizens vote from any certain precinct was received it was cheered vociferously and such a display of feeling over an election was never before shown in the East End.

News Heard at Many Places.

Manager E. J. McCullough of the Empire theater, had a special wire run into the playhouse, where the latest bulletins from every point were received and read. The theater was packed almost to suffocation and the great crowd gave its stamp of approval of the encouraging returns as they were read from the stage.

The Citizens of the Twentieth ward received the news in their rooms in Sheridan avenue. Here a crowd of several hundred voters gathered and each bulletin was scanned with the greatest interest.

The organization of the Twentieth ward received returns in their headquarters, No. 608 Penn avenue, and the news was flashed on canvas across the street by the use of a stereopticon.

"The ring saw the handwriting on the wall some days ago," said Democratic County Chairman Thomas L. Alcorn, as he strolled leisurely down Penn avenue in front of organization headquarters shortly before 12 o'clock. "The Citizens made the fight," he continued, "and the battle was won on its merits."

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

A CURE FOR ALL.

Not a Patent Cure-all, nor a Modern Miracle, but Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach trouble. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making any undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a radical cure. They go no farther than this and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the prepared properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overworked organ and rapidly furnishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion—proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets dieting is required. Simply eat plenty wholesome food and take one of these Tablets after each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach, which rapidly regains its natural digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package.

SIXTEEN PAGES.

Returns received at the Citizens party headquarters indicated the success of its county ticket, and a similar tale was told by the reticence at machine headquarters. Toward midnight the machine leaders gathered some encouragement from reported gains in a few districts outside the city and south of the Monongahela river for a part of the machine ticket. They conceded the loss of Pittsburgh. The slowness of the county returns renders a close estimate impossible at the time of going to press, but at Citizens headquarters the estimates based on known results pointed to a decisive majority against the machine ticket. The manner of making the returns prescribed by the secretary of the commonwealth is in part responsible for the lateness of the reports. The requirement that the vote for each ticket, as well as for each candidate, be recorded in the return evidently made trouble for the election boards, although it will add greatly to the interest of the official returns.

The smoke still hangs over the battlefield, so that details are obscured and only the large results can be descried. These indicate that the Republican party has on the whole fared well in the off year election. There are no landslides nor tidal waves, no manifestation of political tendencies which can be reckoned as portents of what will happen at the presidential election, but election forecasts are in the main confirmed, and where there are changes they show that the Republican party has done better than had been expected in advance.

Pennsylvania, faithful to Republican principles and firm in support of the president, has elected Pennypacker governor by a majority that promises when the returns are all in to justify the estimate made by Senator Quay on Monday night. Expectations have been exceeded in so many quarters that the Pennypacker vote promises to be a record-breaker. This must be encouraging to Republicans all through the United States, for as Pennsylvania goes in the year of her gubernatorial election, so goes the nation in the year of the presidential election. The meaning of the Republican victory in this state is that the revived Democratic platform of 1892, with all its attendant evil, has been decisively voted down, and that the present national prosperity is to be continued indefinitely. The effort of the Democratic party to capture the principal outpost of 1904 under pretense of a campaign conducted on state issues has failed, as it deserved to, and the failure is due as much to the guarantee given the voters of the state in the high character of the Republican nominee as to national issues.

New York was a state which baffled the political prophets, and all that the closest calculations could say was that it would be close. They were not wrong. It was close, but the latest returns indicate the election of Odell by a safe plurality. Under the circumstances this is decidedly satisfactory, for under ordinary conditions New York is a Democratic state, and, moreover, when it gets a good Democratic candidate it is inclined to go for him irrespective of the alignments of the previous election. Thus, although in 1896 McKinley got the enormous plurality of 268,469, the following year the state went Democratic by a plurality of 60,889. In 1900 Odell had a plurality of 111,126, but the Democratic masses resented the turning down of Coler by Tammany Hall. This year Coler got the nomination and the party favor with which he was regarded was augmented by the sympathy felt for him on account of his previous disappointment. He received a heavier vote than any other Democrat could have obtained, so that Odell's victory over him is really a greater triumph than was recorded by the large plurality of 1900.

The one place in the returns where there is something like a landslide is in Ohio, where the indications are that Tom Johnson's circus outfit is buried under a Republican plurality of 100,000. This is an extraordinary election result for an off-year in Ohio, and indicates that the Democratic party is a-weary of Tom Johnson and his fads. The effect of his defeat will be beneficial, as it will be a setback for the radical element which is laboring to control the Democratic party and commit it to a policy of Socialist adventure. Time was when the Democratic party could carry Ohio, and some of the most desperate struggles of the Republican party were fought in that state, but since Bryanism knocked out the old Democratic party the Republican party has had an easy task. Yesterday's election shows that Tom Johnsonism is no more acceptable than Bryanism.

Scattering returns from the middle west are generally favorable to the Republicans, but the vote does not indicate any state of popular enthusiasm over politics. The results are just what might be expected from party momentum on the old lines, and while giving no encouragement to the Democratic party do not afford the Republican party a secure oasis for confidence as to the future. There are indications that there is a reserve of political force which the present campaign did not excite into action, but which must be reckoned with in the presidential campaign. The Republican party obtains a renewal of opportunity, but the next election will be determined by the use it makes of that opportunity.

THE PARTY'S CHIEF ASSET.

A remark which has been going the rounds during the campaign just closed is that the president is the most valuable asset of his party. No one who considers the trend of events can doubt that the remark was as just as it was apt. The situation in this respect is unlike anything that has been known in our political history since the war. True, the military renown of Gen. Grant constituted a political asset of such value that if one party had not seized it the other would probably have done so, but the value of the asset was not produced by political activity. Heretofore the party record has been the party asset of chief value in its campaigns. The achievements of the grand old party were the theme of stump oratory and the party candidates were commended for support as the party standard bearers.

The peculiarity of the campaign just closed was that party records had lost their narrative interest. The closing chapters had been put to records on the issues that excited the interest of voters for a series of campaigns, and the opening chapters had yet to appear as regards party records on the new issues that have emerged from the movement of events. We know what the Republican party has done about the silver issue, but that does not indicate what it will do about the issue of trust control. We know that Cuban reciprocity has not been a party issue, and when the campaign opened there were no clear indications how party lines would be drawn on that issue. We know that the present tariff was the work of the Republican party, but it was not known what would be the attitude of the party toward tariff revision. The Democratic party was notoriously without any definite party policy and was looking about for some issue to take up. It represented merely opposition without purpose. The people were keenly interested in new issues and were indifferent about old issues. New ideas were in solution in politics, but it was a mere matter of conjecture as to the party form in which they would be precipitated.

A situation of this sort is always to the advantage of the opposition, as it gains by the drift of sentiment inspired by new ideas to which the party in power can offer no satisfaction. The party in power is bound by its record; the opposition can consult new phases of sentiment and can advocate in one district what it may oppose in another, just as its local interest in each situation may happen to dictate. It can, as it were, conduct a series of experiment stations during the off-year in the congressional elections, and thus assist its choice of issues for the presidential campaign when the party must line up on the same general issues in every district.

For these reasons the off-year is always expected to show a decline in the congressional strength of the party in power. In the campaign just closed the risk created by this periodical tendency was intensified by the fact that the matters in which the people were chiefly interested were new issues, in the presence of which the congressional leaders of the Republican party showed confusion of thought and uncertainty of purpose. It was a case of many men, many minds, as regards either the trusts or the tariff, the two leading subjects of popular interest. This was the situation when President Roosevelt delivered a series of speeches dealing with these very questions of future policy with which the people were most concerned. With a courage of initiative, which has been rare in our politics, he formulated Cuban reciprocity, trust control and tariff revision as Republican party policy. When the coal strike had reached a deadlock, which directly involved social welfare, he initiated a movement for settlement whose daring made people gasp when they realized its nature, but which was crowned with success, because it defined an issue upon which public opinion could act with irresistible pressure.

So it was that President Roosevelt became the most valuable asset of the Republican party. All that candidates had to do to define their position and to elicit the utmost support attainable on party grounds was to line up with the president. Roosevelt was the chief issue of the canvass and every political observer and every published forecast based upon detailed analysis noted that a great change in the situation took place when that issue became uppermost. The people wanted leadership and Roosevelt gave it to them. While the gains of such initiative may be great, so, too, are the risks, so that it is too early to judge the ultimate result, but at present Roosevelt holds the leadership of his party, and if he maintains its credit at its present height his renomination and re-election seem assured.

VINDICATED IN ACHIEVEMENT.

A picture of the efficiency of American administration in Cuba and in the Philippine islands is given in the annual report of Brig. Gen. A. W. Greely, chief signal officer of the army. When the Americans went to Cuba and the Philippines they found a limited and inefficient telegraph system in the one and almost no means of electric communication in the other. When they left Cuba they turned over to the Cuban government a system of 3,500 miles of wire, worked by instruments of the best modern type, and connecting every seaport and important town in the island. In the Philippines, which are now our more direct concern, the telegraph service has grown from practically nothing to 31 submarine cables, aggregating a length of 1,326 miles, and land lines 5,108 miles long, a total of 6,434 miles of telegraph. These lines were built for commercial use no less than for the purposes of the army, and their effect is to bring places distant into easy and quick communication with each other, facilitating and thereby stimulating commerce, making neighbors of those who had been strangers, substituting for natural antagonisms community of interest, and by this means tending to bind together scattered populations of hitherto diverse aims and ambitions in one prosperous commonwealth. The importance of this work is greater in the Philippines than in Cuba. The compactness of the latter makes communication naturally easier, while the scattered geographical formation of the former makes it difficult and tends to the creation of rival centers and the growth of those isolated and antagonistic populations that are characteristic of our trans-Pacific possessions. Freedom of communication makes for unity and progress, and these things are good order and civilization. The achievement of the United States signal service typifies the work of this government to elevate the alien people brought within the sphere of its beneficence. As Gen. Greely well observes, it "stands today a monument to the energy, skill and resourcefulness of the American soldier," but it is more than that; it is a vital proof and vindication of the right of the American people to continue their guardianship of the territories and their inhabitants wrested from Spain and delivered into our keeping for their regeneration and for the good of mankind. What the signal corps has accomplished stands for the reign of peace, good order and prosperity. Does anyone imagine such achievement could have been reported from the native population had American protection been withdrawn after Spanish rule had been ended?

FOUNDER'S DAY.

The annual celebration of Founder's Day at the Carnegie institute will this year possess some features of special note not included in any former observance. The art exhibit promises to be larger and to contain representative works from art centers not hitherto found in the annual Pittsburgh exhibit. A striking example of the importance and value of the collection may be found in the two Dutch masterpieces loaned the exhibit by the Chicago Art institute. In all the departments that contribute to the interest of Founder's Day the same earnest effort has been put forth to make the event one of unusual educative value. The orators and guests of the day include men distinguished in the world of art and literature. Whitelaw Reid is not only a statesman and diplomat of international standing, but as editor, author and essayist he occupies a position of deserved eminence in the world of letters. Of Richard Watson Gilder the reading public knows much and his initial visit to Pittsburgh as one of the Founder's Day orators will be welcomed by thousands who have followed his literary career and who have enjoyed his contributions to literature.

In social and educative distinction the exercises commemorating the founding of Mr. Carnegie's splendid benefaction grow every year more a feature of the life of the city. The eagerness of the people to enjoy the exercises and participate in the ceremonies is a striking proof of the widespread interest felt in the event. Indeed, so great has this desire become that last year it proved an embarrassing obstacle in the way of the enjoyment of the celebration. The governors of the institute this year, profiting by past experience, have issued invitations covering the actual seating capacity of the music hall, hoping by this means to avoid the disagreeable crowding that occurred last year. It is perhaps deplorable that a larger auditorium is not available for the public exercises in view of the universal desire of the people to be present and take part, but in the absence of such a hall the discretion of the institute authorities must be depended upon to make the gatherings broadly representative of the culture and intelligence of the city.

A ROYAL VISITOR.

According to the published itinerary of the young Prince Chowfa Maha Vajiravudh, heir apparent to the throne of Siam, that distinguished visitor will spend today in Pittsburgh as the guest of Francis J. Torrance. It is more than likely that the party will be urged to remain over and become the guests of the Founder's Day committee of Carnegie institute tomorrow, but of that there is no definite assurance possible. The visit of the prince of Siam to the United States has been of peculiar interest by reason of his position as heir to the throne of an oriental state which is demonstrating capacity to absorb civilization without destroying its native culture. In his own right, too, the young man is an interesting figure, being alert, intelligent and receptive.

In Pittsburgh the crown prince will get his first view of a great American industrial center. He will be brought into contact with the forces that display the vigor, growth and possibilities of American manufactures and industries. For this reason his stay in this city may prove more profitable than that in any other community he has visited, and for this reason also the shortness of his visit is to be regretted. That he will be given a cordial welcome and be offered the most generous hospitality goes without saying, and should he decide to remain as a Founder's Day guest he will see that in the arts and sciences Pittsburgh displays the same splendid and liberal progress that is evidenced in her material growth.

The painful publicity given the discussion at Wellesley college over the presence in that institution of the young daughter of Booker T. Washington has finally resulted in the withdrawal of the young woman. It is admitted that Miss Washington was made a bone of contention among the pupils of the school upon racial grounds and that her life there was not a happy one. There is an unfortunate exhibition of race prejudice in view of the fact that personally the young woman was wholly unobjectionable, being of modest and retiring disposition. It is a fact worth commenting on that the caste prejudice exercised toward the young colored woman was by no means confined to the southern girls in the college, many northern girls joining in the opposition that developed to her presence in Wellesley. We ought to be too far along the road of civilization and human kindness to have prejudice debar any one from advantages of education on account of race or color.

The gentlemen who failed yesterday to make a connection between their political judgment and the other fellow's money will have ample time to think it over.

Evidently the wild turkeys of Virginia must have some means of communication with the mountain lions of Colorado. They absolutely refused to take any chances.

An Iowa editor was robbed of $1,300 worth of diamonds and money. Evidently that burglar did not care about the 13 heodoo.

It will be thoroughly in order now to sweep out the rubbish and give business a chance to come to the center of the stage.

The turning out of the voters yesterday meant the turning down of a great many political schemes.

The election in the south passed off without developing anything new or novel in the lynching line.

The check stubs will tell a mournful tale of wasted political energy this morning.

Gen. Uribe-Uribe might find it profitable to take his hyphen into vaudeville.

Oyster Bay got back on the map with a whoop for a little time yesterday.

Value of the Comma.

A Berlin correspondent tells this story of a school inspector's recent visit to a small German town. Requesting the mayor to accompany him the inspector heard the latter mutter: "I should like to know why that ass has come so soon again." Arrived at the first school he began to examine the pupils in punctuation, but was told by the mayor: "We don't trouble about commas and such like." The inspector merely told one of the boys to write on the blackboard: "The mayor of Ritzelbuttel says the inspector is an ass." "Now," he added, "put a comma after 'Ritzelbuttel' and another after 'inspector.'" The boy did so. The mayor is believed to have changed his opinion as to the value of commas.

Present for the President.

Alfred Mosely, who has brought a commission of Britons to study the American industrial situation, has with him a large bronze panel for presentation to President Roosevelt. The panel was designed by Onslow Whiting and represents "Taking Guns Into Action at Colenso."

HOLIDAY AS GAY AS ANY OTHER ONE

Delightful Weather Lends Emphasis to the Tin Horn. Streets Thronged.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 4.

Now, at the end of one of the loveliest days ever given us by Indian summer, New York has settled down to receive the returns and to felicitate itself on a full vote. Real Republican weather. It has been that, indeed, and whatever people may say about the result, they cannot ignore the fact that the decision is the will of the people, as expressed by the majority. It has been a holiday. It did not take long for a citizen to vote, and, after doing his duty at the polls, it was his to amuse himself as he listed, either by dropping into one of the theaters or in promenading sunlit Broadway. And he did promenade, by the thousand, with his sweetheart by his side in many cases, for feminine young America enjoys the leisure of an election day as well as her brother and fiance. It was remarked that never did Broadway look gayer than this afternoon. The weather was so enchanting that it simply was impossible for anyone to stay indoors if her business allowed her to get out. The matinees were all crowded, however, although it did seem absurd to go into a dark theater while there was the sunshine outside inviting everyone to stay in the broad white streets. Tonight, while there are crowds in front of such bulletin boards as the authorities permit to be displayed, the larger proportion of persons in town are walking up and down Broadway. The order prohibiting the showing of bulletins outside the offices of newspapers in Park row, has diverted the usual downtown crowds to upper Broadway, and that thoroughfare is so packed with men, women and children that one performs must move slowly. The tin horn nuisance is flourishing, of course. There never was an election night when the din of horns was absent from Broadway, and tonight it is denser than ever. But blame it on the weather. The balmy air seems to invite each strong-lunged youth to an obligato on the tin horn, and one hears the sound of a thousand instruments blended into one squeaking roar of indescribable pathos. It is the one touch discordant harmony that caps the climax of American exuberation.

Cheered for Doing a Common Duty.

Over at Oyster Bay the crowd cheered as Theodore Roosevelt—plain Theodore Roosevelt in Oyster Bay—cast his vote. It is only a president of the United States that can hope for applause as he does his duty as a citizen. Let him be addressed simply as Theodore Roosevelt by the election officers, and let him hide himself in the little cubby hole wherein every voter is obliged by law to make up his ballot; but he is still the president in men's minds, and as such he is sure of a few cheers whenever he does something distinctively patriotic. This is the explanation of the applause that greeted him as he left the polls. It must be, for, although he had voted many times in Oyster Bay, there is no record of his being cheered for the act in former years.

No Lack of Inspector Vigilance.

This has been a field day for the superintendent of elections, John McCullagh, formerly chief of police. Perhaps because he was a policeman so long McCullagh has a weakness for arresting people on slight provocation. At all events, his deputies were so active that before noon they had made 100 arrests, and they kept up the work all the afternoon and into the evening. More than 200 arrests were made altogether. A number of supreme justices stayed at home to be ready to sign legal papers in connection with election offenses, and the machinery of the courts was busy from early morning, trying to make sure of an honest election leading up to a correct count. On the whole, however, it was a pretty smooth day at the polls.

Stores Generally Closed.

The city downtown was nearly deserted this morning, and still more so in the afternoon. Very few stores or factories made any pretense of doing business more than half the day, while many of them did not open at all. Election day is a holiday indeed in New York.

Great Market for Buttons.

Although "Bim, the button man" was busy at his new West End theater in Harlem his buttons were on sale by the hundreds of thousands all over the city all day. The favorite candidate of the wearer was shown obtrusively on many a coat lapel and feminine jacket, and until the returns were read tonight there were as many portraits of one candidate as of another. Late this evening, when the result was pretty well known, there was the usual retiring of the beaten men, and the bringing forth of those that had won. It is human nature to desire to be on the winning side, and this sentiment is never more apparent than on election night.

Not One Theatrical Failure.

Theatrical managers are noting the fact that all the openings last night were of successes. This has been uncommon this winter, for it has been the regular thing for one, at least, in three productions to be either failures or only part successes. But "The Stubbornness of Geraldine," at the Garrick; Martin Harvey in "The Children of Kings," at the Herald Square; William Gillette, in "Sherlock Holmes," at the Knickerbocker; Mrs. Jack, in the new West End theater, and even Miss Gilman, in "The Mocking Bird," in Albany, joined the procession of hits. It was about time something happened to break the dead level of bad or mediocre plays.

Pulling House Down Over Lodgers.

Theater building is an important industry in New York this autumn. One of the new houses to be erected will be in Forty-third street, running through to Forty-second, near Broadway. In one of the boarding houses that are so thick in Forty-third street all the lodgers were whooped out of bed early this morning because workmen wanted to begin to pull the house down. One of the lodgers told me this afternoon, sadly, that he found mortar in his shoes as he put them on, and that pieces of brick hit him in the back of the head as he hastily pulled on his clothes. The work of beating down the house had begun. That sort of thing is characteristic of New York. Have we not the chaotic subway with us?

Early Ruction at the Polls.

Down in the "Red Light district," of which the Eldridge street police station is the center, there was fighting this morning as soon as the polls opened. It is known officially as the Eighth assembly district, and it is the lower East Side, close to the Bowery. A lot of Bowery birds were in the place ready to record their votes, and of course that meant a fight at once. There was a transfer of policemen the night before, and the officers on duty did not know Tammany men from Republicans, and hence arrested everyone indiscriminately. There was a lively ruction there, and at one stage of the proceedings voting was suspended for half an hour, while a gang of "heelers" had it out in the polling place. The Powerytes would not have missed it for a month's free beer.

The Melancholy Jersey Voter.

A mock class of men today were the commuters. They had all voted in New Jersey, Long Island, West Chester, or wherever they may happen to sleep and have their washing done, and then they came to New York to watch the voters doing their duty and wishing they could vote themselves for men they knew something about. It is a painful fact that many a commuter voted this morning for men he had never heard of until he saw their names on the ballot he deposited; but the law gave him no alternative. He could not call himself a New Yorker, even though his business keeps him there throughout most of his waking hours, because he happens to own or rent a house in New Jersey and sleeps in it every night. Therefore, he must vote for Jerseyites, although all his interests, politically, are in New York. It is a queer anomaly. As it is hallowed by time, it will continue indefinitely, no doubt.

Miss Biggar Subject of a Melodrama.

Now that Laura Biggar has surrendered herself to the authorities, to answer to the charge of conspiracy to wrongfully obtain all of H. M. Bennett's millions, I am reminded that there is to be a melodrama written around the whole case. I heard this on good authority two or three weeks ago, the only reason the play hung fire being that the dramatist wanted to see what was likely to be the end of the real drama before he wrote the denouement for the footlights. Perhaps the projectors will try to persuade Miss Biggar to play the heroine. Realism is the great desideratum on the stage in these times.

Citizenship Makes a Difference.

It pays to be a citizen around election time. A Brooklynite went home hungry last night, and because supper was not quite ready, he knocked his wife insensible with a rocking chair and hammered his two young sons with his fists. He was arrested, and this morning was held in $200 bail for examination. "He is a voter—an Irishman—therefore, a Democrat; we must get him out," exclaimed the Democratic captain of the district, as he hustled out for bail. Hardly had he reached the street when some one told him that the prisoner was not a citizen, and never had a vote in his life. That settled the wife-beater. He is still in jail.

Devery's Pump Illuminated.

Devery's pump was the center of a large crowd of electioneers all day, and today the whole neighborhood blazes with red fire. "Big Bill" himself is in the midst of it. He has been keeping close watch on the vote in his district all day, and tonight he is in good humor, mainly because he enjoys the excitement of an election night, regardless of the results. For that matter, he has accomplished all he set out to do in a political way, and he is just giving himself up to the pleasure of the hour. There is not a merrier quarter in town tonight than the corner of Eighth avenue and Twenty-eighth street.

Mayor Low Votes by Machine.

Here is a description of the new-fangled voting machines which were in use in several districts in the city today: As a voter went up to the machine, he was instructed to swing a bar at the top of it across from left to right, which unlocked the machine, and also drew a pair of curtains together in front of it, hiding him from observation. The next duty was to turn a handle attached to one of the party emblems, which were in a vertical line down the left hand side of the machine. This brought down the whole line of small levers to the right of the emblem, one lever for each candidate for office. If the voter wished to scratch any of these candidates, he was then at liberty to push up the lever which had been brought down over that candidate's name, and he could, if he wished, push down a lever in any of the other lines, corresponding to other tickets, thereby voting for the candidate for that office as nominated by the other party. When the vote for all offices stood as he wished to vote, the lever first used was swung back to its original position, thereby recording his vote, locking the machine again and opening the curtain in front of it. Mayor Low was among those that voted by machinery.

Weather fine; things look well.
Keep stiff upper lip and elect Odell.

Auto Gets the Worst of a Collision.

Automobile collisions are getting more and more common in New York since a chauffeur was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for being run down by a trolley car. A brewery wagon and an auto came together with a crash in Fifth avenue today, and the chauffeur was thrown out on his head. It is feared his skull is fractured. The man on the wagon drove away.

Roosevelt Is Not a Pessimist.

From the Chicago Tribune.

The keynote that dominates this editorial paper (the Thanksgiving proclamation) is one of hopefulness and helpfulness. There is no pessimism in President Roosevelt. He recognizes that during the century and a quarter of the national life each generation has had its burdens to bear, its "years of grim trial when the country was menaced by famine, domestic or foreign fury, when the hand of the Lord was heavy upon it in drought, or flood, or pestilence, when in bodily distress and anguish of soul it paid the penalty of folly and a forward heart." And yet, recognizing all that the country has had to bear, he takes the optimistic view of the situation and realizes that "decade by decade we have struggled onward and upward." It is the view which every sane, healthy, robust American will take. The president's proclamation is not a perfunctory document, as such papers are apt to be, but a frank, hearty, wholesome appeal to the country to be grateful, and "in their several homes and places of worship to render thanks unto Almighty God for the manifold blessings of the last year."

Pennsylvania's Soldiers Praised.

From the New York Tribune.

Praise should be freely accorded to the Pennsylvania regiments which did their duty so well at the mines. The soldiers had a hard, long siege of it. They kept their tempers in the face of almost intolerable provocation and insult in many instances, and their record of fidelity and loyalty is excellent. Pennsylvania has good reason to be proud of the efficiency of its National Guard.

PERSONALS.

"I never witnessed such a pandemonium after any election in England as this is tonight," said George E. Ainsworth, a large drygoods dealer of London, as he leaned out of a window of Newell's hotel watching the crowds surging up and down Fifth avenue. "You Americans are a wonderful people, and the more us natives of monarchical Europe see of you the closer we are drawn to your country. I have been watching this crowd for nearly two hours, and there has not been a single disturbance. I had intended to have gone to Chicago this morning, but my friends insisted that I should stay in Pittsburgh to see the election night crowds. I would not have missed this sight for $1,000, and will never forget it. Such a din of bells and horns was never heard in the streets of London after an election. Why, even the fair sex join in the noise. I really don't quite understand the situation, but from the joy shown by the people tonight, I think that the result of the election has been most satisfactory to them."

"There is a real American invasion of Great Britain," said John Oakley of North Braddock yesterday, "and it is one that the English do not altogether relish. American goods are sold everywhere, and the English shops are becoming American stores." Mr. Oakley, with his wife, returned yesterday from a three months' stay in Europe. He declared that the education bill is taking up the most interest in English politics just now. "It is higher education for the masses," said Mr. Oakley, "that the English people believe is the only thing that will enable them to combat successfully the inroads being made upon England's trade at all points. Young England demands better education, and it is bound to come sooner or later. The action of President Roosevelt in settling the anthracite coal strike has fixed his place in the hearts of the people of Great Britain almost as much as it has done with his own countrymen."

Westbound passenger traffic was very heavy over the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio railroads last night. Nearly every berth in the New York and Chicago limited was taken, while all the westbound local trains had all their coaches filled.

Kurtz Schmidtz, a steel manufacturer of Hounberg, Germany; M. Sellers, an electrical engineer of Germany, and Leo Bodmer of Zurich, Switzerland, are at the Hotel Lincoln.

When Public Opinion Will Step In.

From the Milwaukee Sentinel.

When the finding of the strike commission is finally made, and when the people are given an opportunity to form their own opinion as to whether all the right was on the side of the miners and all the wrong upon the side of the operators, public opinion will undoubtedly have much to do with preserving the peace in the anthracite region. If the strike commission formulates a fair and just plan for the guidance of both sides in the future and either side refuses for any reason to abide by it, it will be the duty of the authorities of Pennsylvania or the legislature to adopt such measures as shall enable them to control the situation in the contingencies which may hereafter arise. The spirit in which the award of the arbitration commission is accepted by the two parties to the dispute will have much to do with the shaping of public sentiment as to the intentions of the parties who have brought about the intolerable situation existing in the anthracite regions for the last six months.

NASH'S JOKE ON BONEBRAKE

Governor of Ohio Sends a Requisition to the Governor of Kansas.

Lewis D. Bonebrake, state commissioner of common schools for the state of Ohio, is visiting F. I. Bonebrake, his cousin, the Topeka banker, says the Kansas City Journal. Prof. Bonebrake arrived in Topeka on Thursday. On Friday there came to the Kansas capital a requisition from Gov. Nash of Ohio, calling for the arrest and return of the Ohio commissioner, and the charges recited in this requisition is causing considerable amusement.

"The said Lewis D. Bonebrake," proceeds the requisition, "is alleged to be a Republican, six feet high, weighing 200 pounds, and possessed of considerable sanity. Yet, on the eve of an Ohio election he fled away to Kansas, thus avoiding his duty as a citizen and a patriot to vote the Republican ticket and make the Republican majority 67,001 instead of 67,000, as it will now be at the forthcoming election. His probable plea in defense that his vote is not needed is irrelevant, inconsequent and immaterial. And his further defense that he contributed largely to the campaign is debarred from consideration on the ground that it is suggestive of attempted corruption. So it is required of Kansas that he be returned forthwith to exercise his right of franchise on the penalty of a severing of all diplomatic relations."

The requisition was directed to Gov. Stanley through P. I. Bonebrake. The governor of Ohio has been informed that his wandering state officer is in custody, but that he cannot be returned until his board and other bills have been settled.

OPERATION ON A BROKEN LEG.

"Butch" Glennon, the one-eyed beggar whose stamping ground is Washington square, slipped on a banana peel in front of the Eighth street entrance to the Pennsylvania hospital and rolled into the gutter, says the Philadelphia North American. Glennon floundered about, vainly essaying to rise. He cursed volubly and attracted a small group of pedestrians.

"Get up, what's the matter with you?" asked one of the onlookers.

"I can't; me leg's broke," replied Glennon.

"Oh, the poor man, someone help him into the hospital," said a woman.

"Hospital fudge," retorted Glennon (only he didn't say "fudge"). "It's me wooden leg." Pursued by the beggar's intemperate language, the woman fled in dismay.

One of the hospital attendants came to the scene. Glennon's plight excited his pity.

"Hey," cried the hospital man to a companion, "send for George. Tell him to bring his tools along."

Inside of five minutes George Nixon, the official carpenter of the hospital, arrived. He bore with him a plane, a saw, a hammer, some screws, a screwdriver and a few bits of board. Turning Glennon over on his back, and placing him under the influence of two square inches of plug tobacco, Nixon proceeded to operate upon the wooden leg. He reduced the fracture, saturated the broken ends with glue, screwed two wooden splints upon the sides and tacked on a piece of rubber to prevent Glennon from slipping again.

"Ta'anks, Jack," said Glennon, scrambling to his feet, and then he laid a course down Spruce street for Washington square.

MURPHY GAVE UP THE FIGHT EARLY

Recorder Is Dissappointed by Showing of Machine in Allegheny.

QUIET REIGNED AT POLLS

Heavy Vote Polled on North Side. Remarkable Lack of Contests and Challenging—The Citizens Were Energetic and Confident.

Recorder John R. Murphy apparently gave up all hope early in the day of carrying Allegheny for the machine, although the North Side was expected to aid the country districts in furnishing a majority for the ring ticket to retrieve any losses sustained in Pittsburgh. After being absent most of the day, Recorder Murphy, accompanied by Henry Muth, superintendent of police, returned to the city hall at 4 o'clock in a very disconsolate frame of mind.

They retired to the recorder's private office, where they discussed the situation. Shortly afterward Recorder Murphy appeared in the outer office looking blue as indigo. He was asked how "things were going," and replied, "No person can tell. There was never such an election as this and we cannot tell anything about it. We know one thing, and that is, there is a very large vote out."

Everything Was Quiet.

There was only one thing upon which the recorder would hazard a guess, and that was the majority of Judge Pennypacker in the county. The recorder predicted that Pennypacker would get a majority of 20,000. Superintendent Muth had nothing to say.

Rarely has there been as quiet an election in Allegheny. Anticipated riots in the downtown wards, particularly the Fourth and First wards, which were said to be filled with illegal voters, failed to materialize, and the voting passed off very smoothly. There were a few irate encounters between disputants at the polls, but no arrests were made. The sergeant at the police station stated that there was not a single prisoner there.

There was an unusually heavy early vote, crowds being present when the polling places were opened. The rush lasted several hours. There were no carriages in service and workers found it unnecessary to bring the voters to the polls.

Workers Were Not Needed.

For once the worker at the polls had little to do. The majority of the voters arrived with their minds made up. They paid little attention to the "heelers" on the lookout for votes, but walked into the polling place, got their ballot and deposited it in the box.

A remarkable feature of the voting was the absence of challenging. To an onlooker it seemed as if both sides had reached a truce. It was expected that there would be a general effort to contest tax receipts, but this did not occur.

This was particularly true of the Second ward, one of the largest in Allegheny, and the home of some of the leading candidates.

Tax receipts were not demanded and no questions were asked if the voter was registered. Ex-Mayor James G. Wyman resides in the ward and it is claimed by the Citizens by a substantial majority. It is also the home of Congressman W. H. Graham and the former home of Gov. W. A. Stone.

Claim Graham's District.

Congressman Graham voted in the Third district. The Citizens were confident that they would carry Graham's district. The organization men were relying upon Congressman Graham's reputed ability as a campaigner to pull him through, but the Citizens managers were cock sure that he would go down with the rest of the machine ticket.

There was some complaint about the failure of the election boards in some of the wards, the Second included, to provide accommodations, as required by law, to insure secrecy in voting. A representative of The Gazette voted in the first district of the Second ward, in Race street, where curtains across the entrance to the booths were conspicuously absent. The move of every voter in marking his ballot was within plain view of the election board.

Machine Voted "Muddy Water."

The City hall officials claimed during the day that a surprisingly large vote was being cast for the Ballot Reform ticket, although they did not disclose their means of knowing. They asserted that the "Muddy Water" candidates would get a particularly high vote in the Fifth ward, where quite a number of payroll men reside.

Gov. Stone resides in the Fifth ward. He voted in the fifth district, and by the brief time spent in the booth apparently cast a straight ballot.

After depositing his ballot he took a car to the City hall, where he held a short conference with Recorder Murphy. Then the governor came over to Pittsburgh.

It was reported also that the Ballot Reform ticket would poll heavily in the lower wards and in the river wards, where the machine was strongest.

The Citizens were making determined efforts to roll up a large vote in the Third ward, the home of Recorder Murphy and the anti-machine leaders insisted that they had a good chance of carrying the ward. Recorder Murphy and his lieutenants made their headquarters at the Union club in East Diamond street. The Citizens headquarters, in Federal street, near the City hall, were deserted. Every worker was on duty at the polls.

Dr. S. S. Woodburn, the chairman of the North Side Citizens organization, covered the entire city during the day, spending a large part of his time in his home ward, the Second, which he declared would give a decisive victory against the machine.

ST ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 4.—(Special)—Overcome with grief at the death today of his son, Frank Mayer, of pneumonia, Anthony Mayer, 72 years old, died afterward from an attack of valvular affection of the heart. Additional Grant to Boers.

It is believed the proposition will be accepted.

FROM ALL QUARTERS OF THE GLOBE PEOPLE FIND BENEFIT IN PE-RU-NA.

An Interesting Letter Concerning the Merits of Pe-ru-na.

"Ye Alpine Tavern," Echo Mountain, Cal.

A Change of Climate Does Not Always Cure Catarrh.

A Favorable Climate and Pe-ru-na Is Well-Nigh Infallible.

"Ye Alpine Tavern" Is the Most Noted Place in California—Hundreds of Travelers Go Up the Mt. Lowe R. R. to the Famous Place.

CLIMATE will do a great deal for the cure of catarrh. The change from a low, marshy, humid locality to a locality where it is high and dry, with clear skies and bracing atmosphere, will do a great deal. In fact it will do wonders in relieving catarrh, but it will not do all. There remains something for Peruna to do in addition.

The Assistant Manager of a large hotel for the accommodation of people who are seeking the climate of California for relief from catarrhal diseases, testifies that Peruna is necessary in addition to the wholesome climate of our western coast.

We do not wish to undervalue the worth of a good climate, but it must be remembered that while one catarrhal victim can avail himself of the benefits following a change of climate, one hundred are not able to do so. Even those who can afford a change of climate will find Peruna a good addition to their treatment but for the hundreds who must stay at home Peruna is absolutely indispensable. There is no other way to get rid of the baneful influences of catarrh than a course of treatment with Peruna.

As an instance where Peruna has been found necessary, even in the midst of the best climatic influences, we give the testimonial of Mrs. Anne L. Turner of California.

Mrs. Anne L. Turner, Assistant Manager "Ye Alpine Tavern," Echo Mountain, Cal., writes:

"During the past few years we have had a large number of guests who came here in search of health, and I could not help but notice that a number of these carried Peruna and took it while here. I heard many good things said of it by those who used it, so I decided to try it for a few months while I was under special strain and overwork. I did so and found that I was able to do twice what I usually did; my appetite was excellent and I was able to rest well.

"My husband took it after he had contracted a heavy cold and it cured him in four days. I consider Peruna a remarkable medicine and do not wonder that people from all quarters of the globe find benefit in its use."—Anne L. Turner.

A Congressman's Endorsement.

Hon. Harry Skinner, ex-Member of Congress from North Carolina, writes from Greenville, N. C., as follows:

"Your Peruna as a tonic and a cure for catarrhal troubles has been so generally used by many of my friends and acquaintances with such great success that I can safely recommend its excellence to all persons who are suffering from the same."—Harry Skinner.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

THIS ECZEMA SUFFERER WAS ENTIRELY CURED IN FOUR WEEKS BY ZEMA-CURA.

"Dr. M. M. HARRIS:—I wish to say that I had been troubled with eczema in my feet for three years, having had three doctors to treat me, but was never cured until I commenced using 'Zema-Cura.' At the time I began Zema-Cura I had not had a shoe on for three months. It has now been at least ten months, and no sign of its returning. I can not say too much in behalf of this medicine. You are at liberty to refer anyone at any time to me. I will take pleasure in answering any inquiries."—R. G. WHAYNE, Louisville, Ky.

EIGHT KILLED AND 20 HURT IN ELECTION CELEBRATION

Open Boxes Packed With Aerial Bombs Let Go All at Once, Being Ignited by Explosion of Fireworks.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 4.

By the premature explosion of four boxes containing aerial bombs and other fireworks, at least eight persons were killed at 10 o'clock tonight and 20 badly injured. The names of the dead are:

POLICEMAN DENNIS SHEA.
FRANK MARIL, 12 years old.
WILL G. FEENEY.
TWO UNKNOWN COLORED BOYS, disemboweled.
TWO UNKNOWN WHITE BOYS.
GEORGE RITZ.

Under the auspices of the New York American fireworks were being exploded in celebration of the victory of William R. Hearst, the editor, who was elected today representative in congress.

The display centered south of the Madison Square garden, at the intersection of Madison avenue and Twenty-fourth street. At 10 o'clock a small space had been cleared by the police with difficulty.

Throng Extends for Blocks.

Around it was massed a densely packed throng, numbering many thousands, and extending south to Twenty-third street, eastward across Madison square to Broadway, and northward in Madison avenue and beyond Madison Square garden.

Sparks from a series of Roman candles, which were being discharged simultaneously, fell into the open boxes, which were closely packed with large aerial bombs. At the same moment one of the bombs, which had just been touched off, exploded prematurely, hurling sparks and fire in every direction.

Instantly there was a tremendous detonation and an awful blast of fire, which lighted up Madison square and all the surrounding buildings. The entire contents of the boxes and barrels had been exploded.

Twelve men who were in charge of the fireworks display were arrested soon after the explosion and taken to police headquarters.

Except those who were densely massed directly about the scene of the disaster, few realized what had happened. Over in Broadway, where the streets were choked with the great crowds which stood watching the bulletins from in front of the Hoffman house and the Fifth Avenue hotel, it was supposed the explosion was a climax of the evening's performance.

Gathering Up the Dead and Dying.

Among the first to recover their self-possession were the policemen stationed directly about the space which had been kept open at the street corner. As the crowd, now thoroughly panic-stricken, tried to escape eastward through Twenty-fourth street and across Madison square, the policemen ran to the aid of the injured. Sixteen persons were found lying either dead or unconscious immediately about the scene of the explosion.

One of the first, who was found to have been killed instantly, was Policeman Dennis Shea. F. M. Hollingwood was found to have had his right leg almost blown off at the knee. He was conscious when a policeman approached him and moaned: "For God's sake, find my wife! She is standing near the second electric light pole from here, and she is alone in the city."

Scattered along the asphalt of Madison avenue lay several other bodies, while nearly a score of the injured, many of whom were terribly burned and cut, were moaning piteously for help.

George Landau was frightfully injured and unconscious. His left hand and one leg were mangled and he was burned on one side.

Policeman Dennis Magee had a leg shattered and was among the first taken to one of the hospitals. Policeman Michael Regan was another who sustained serious injuries about the back and shoulders.

Of the boys who were killed the first to be identified was said to be William G. Feeny, 12 years old.

Ambulances on the Scene.

Hurry calls to police headquarters and to Bellevue, Flower, Roosevelt and the New York hospitals soon brought ambulances clanging through the crowd. Police patrol wagons also came upon the gallop.

Charles Reppler, a policeman, was standing beside Policeman Dennis Shea, one of the dead, when the accident happened. He and Shea had been working desperately for several minutes, crowding back the multitude of persons who seemed determined to get in as close as possible to the men who were touching off the fireworks.

They had just paused after their labors and were wiping their brows. They were facing each other, Shea with his back to the bombs, which stood near the curb.

"There was a terrific explosion of one of the bombs, which, I suppose, had been set off," said Policeman Reppler, "and a moment later there was a sizzle like the burning of a useless firecracker. Then there was an explosion that almost broke my ear drums. Shea crashed against me and I partly fell, being held up by the persons behind me. It seemed as if a giant hand had swept every one back. Where one moment there was a surging crowd there was no one. Everyone was knocked back, and the crowding was something terrible. The explosion was like the rumble of thunder, and was succeeded by the crashing of glass and the screams of hundreds of women.

Roman Candles Did It.

"I had noticed that showers of sparks fell from the Roman candles which had been used in the celebration, and for that reason I had not remained there on account of the sparks, which ruined hats and clothing. There can be no question in my mind that this shower of sparks from the Roman candles had fallen upon the exposed bombs. The result is easy to understand, for the spectators had been crowded to the edge of the curb, and many of them were within a few feet of the store of explosives.

"About the white building of the appellate court, it looked to me as if a battle had taken place. I counted eight dead bodies. In the gutter I saw the headless body of a young boy. The legs were clad in knickerbockers."

The police were confused at first, but they soon got control of things and kept back the crowd. This gave space for the friends of many of the injured to help them.

TAKEN AS AN OMEN.

When the Rope Broke All Said Purdy Was Innocent.

From the Denver Post.

"Although I never saw but one hanging, I witnessed a sight that even professional hangmen have not seen," said A. A. Albrechton, of Columbus, Miss. "It was at my home. A young Mississippian named Purdy had been convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to hang. The evidence was wholly circumstantial, and before he was accused of that crime the young man had borne an excellent reputation. He was also connected by marriage with some of the best people in the state.

"Nevertheless, he was sentenced to hang and the governor would not reprive him. There were two factions in the community, one believing him guilty, and the other considering him innocent. The latter talked of rescue, but it was all talk.

"The scaffold was not inclosed, and when young Purdy ascended the gallows he walked erect and fearless. He denied his guilt, and all who saw him were compelled to admit that this bearing was that of an innocent man. The black cap was pulled over his face, the sheriff pulled a lever, and the next we saw was a man getting up from the ground, snatching the black cap from his head and declaring dramatically: 'God has proven my innocence.'

"The rope had broken. That was enough. Former enemies turned into adherents, and before the sheriff could again take his prisoner to the gallows and get another rope he was in the center of a crowd of thousands of people, all of whom were swearing there were not enough sheriffs in Mississippi to hang an innocent man.

"Purdy was taken home, and an escort

CROWDS CHEERED RING'S DOWNFALL

Demonstration on Downtown Streets Greatest Ever Seen Here.

GAZETTE SERVICE BEST

Bulletins That Were Posted on Fifth Avenue Drew the Greatest Throngs—"Muddy Water" Grimes Driven to Tall Timber.

Ten thousand sawmills making green hickory lumber could not have produced a greater racket than did the crowds in Fifth avenue last night. All the latent enthusiasm that did not find vent during the campaign seemed to burst forth in a few hours. Tin horns with historic pedigrees, battered megaphones, superannuated cowbells, horse rattles and huge bass drums were called into use to create the roar and din that made the night memorable.

The crowd in Pittsburgh's main thoroughfare could not have been counted, unless some mathematician had measured the number of square inches between Grant and Wood streets and computed the estimate by allowing each man just enough space for the sole of one foot. Those who did not have horns or cowbells or "sawmill" rattles, used their voices with good effect, and every favorable bulletin received its share of cheers and applause.

Gazette Service Was Best.

The crowd before The Gazette bulletins filled the street and every place of vantage in the windows and doorways of the buildings opposite. The bulletins were received with unexampled promptness and were easily read—two merits which won The Gazette the great bulk of the crowds. It was remarked by many persons that the returns posted by The Gazette were far in advance of any other service in the city.

At 7 o'clock the sidewalks were filled with humanity. Thirty minutes later the first bulletins were posted, and at 8 o'clock the street was blocked. Street cars stopped or struggled slowly through the cheering throng of enthusiasts. Women were out in force and eagerly joined in the celebration.

The first bulletins were from New York and other eastern states and created comparatively little interest. The people wanted the local returns, and it was not until some of the Allegheny county districts were heard from that the real demonstration began. Odell's fight for the gubernatorial chair in New York was watched with some interest, especially as there was much Pittsburgh money at stake on the result of his campaign.

Grimes Fled in Dismay.

At 8 o'clock James F. Grimes of "muddy water" fame, who soon was to step down into political oblivion, came down town to hear of the defeat of his Ballot Reform scheme. When the Fifth avenue crowd caught sight of him he was instantly recognized by a group of South Siders, who set up the cry, "Grimes, Grimes, Grimes." The words caught like wild fire and another crowd answered back, "Mud-dy water, mud-dy water, mud-dy water."

Bystanders laughed and cheered. The comedians then improvised a parody that sounded something like this:

"Old Grimes is gone, that good old man,
We ne'er shall see him more;
His well's gone dry and now he slides
Down Flinn's old cellar door."

Grimes by this time had taken to the tall buildings; but long after he had disappeared the cry of "mud-dy water" continued, to the inexpressible merriment of the crowd.

Another parody was set up when local returns came in from some of the East End wards, which gave the Citizens big majorities. One of the songs made a distinct hit. It was this:

"Hall, hail! The gang's all gone.
What the h— do we care; what the h—
do we care!"

At 10:30 the reports from all over the county were coming in rapidly and nearly all were favorable to the cause of reform. The cheers that greeted the good tidings were unprecedented in a Pittsburgh election crowd and the enthusiasm grew with each succeeding bulletin.

Crowds and Noise Increased.

After the theaters closed the crowd increased and at midnight the throng became dense. The noise increased and the venders of badges, hat bands of big "I-told-you-so's," "stickers" and other grotesque placards began to mix among the crowds and reap small fortunes. People who were hungry patronized a waffle wagon that had halted at the corner of Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, or bought hot "weenies" from men who did a land-office business in a Fifth avenue cellarway.

The first correct estimate of the returns was given in the midnight edition of The Gazette, which was placed upon the streets at 11:30 o'clock. For two hours before that time several other papers had emitted "extras" purporting to give reports on the result of the election, but these had little sale, as the crowd realized that the estimates made therein had been compiled but a few minutes after the polls had closed and before the election boards could make a comprehensive report of the count.

On account of the delay in receiving the returns resulting from the heavy vote and the cutting of tickets the crowds before the bulletin boards lingered much longer than is usual on election nights. At midnight it was impossible to fix the exact majority of the victorious candidates, and it was long after that hour that the people returned to their homes and quiet reigned once more. Through the early hours of the morning Fifth avenue was as densely crowded as on a busy afternoon, and many enthusiasts determined to linger there until the last report would be made.

Child Started Rejoicing.

Through the fog and mist of the late November afternoon the shrill sounds of a cow-bell were heard in Carson street on the South Side. Watches were pulled out and clocks were examined, and then a look out was kept for the bell ringer. Out of the mist came a tot of about four years, with a large cow-bell dragging from a rope. The hour was 5 o'clock and belated voters were gathering about the polling booth of the First precinct of the Thirtieth ward.

The child continued to drag the cow-bell along the rough street. As she neared the polling place there was a blare of horns, and within ten minutes Carson street from the Smithfield street bridge to Thirtieth street was a din of bells and horns. The tot had sounded the signal of victory and its echoes are still being heard in the county.

CROWDS IN EAST END.

People Cheered Wildly As Returns Indicated Defeat of Machine and Majority for Pennypacker.

The strong sentiment in favor of the Citizens party manifested throughout the East End last night, wherever returns were being received. Considerable cutting was done in the East End wards, and for this reason the returns were slow in being sent in.

The largest crowd in the district was at Citizens headquarters in Sheridan street, where all returns were read. As one bulletin after another favorable to the Citizens county ticket and the Republican state ticket was read the crowd displayed its enthusiasm in cheers.

At the East End board of trade rooms a large crowd assembled to get the returns. The ring organization held a small crowd in front of its headquarters at No. 6908 Penn avenue, where a large street, on which were shown stereopticon views, attracted some attention. It was significant of a Citizens victory that the ring people failed to read any returns in which the Citizens had a majority. Nothing but ring news was read.

MANY ARE INJURED IN PASSENGER WRECK

W. & L. E. Train Crashes Into Cars on a Sidetrack Near Coshocton.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

COSHOCTON, O., Nov. 4.—A Wheeling & Lake Erie passenger train ran into an open switch at a gravel pit, three miles south of Coshocton, this afternoon, and collided with cars on the siding.

Engineer Christopher Reinhold and Fireman Charles Weidin, both of Canton, were probably fatally injured. John and Melville Powelson, father and son, and Thomas Watson, who were unloading coal from the cars, were injured internally and have broken limbs. Many of the passengers were severely bruised, but none seriously injured.

Use of Electricity.

It is estimated by the census that electricity has entered into the daily life of the country to the extent of $7 for each man, woman and child in the United States. Of this amount $3 goes to the electric traction companies, $1.50 to the electric light concerns and 75 cents to the telephone companies. The telegraph also takes about 50 cents a year from each of the 75,000,000 people, while the rest of the $7 is charged off to electric fire alarms, signals and general supplies.

LOCAL ELECTION RESULTS.

Sore Throats and Colds Numerous. Almost an Epidemic, With Fears of Pneumonia.

There is always an epidemic of coughs and colds caused by election work and the exposure in waiting for returns. As a result, druggists are being rushed with orders for Hyomei, the famous remedy that cures coughs and colds by simply breathing it.

The people who are well today, instead of suffering with a cold or sore throat, are those who, when waiting around for returns last night, had with them one of the Hyomei pocket inhalers, and occasionally took a breath of its balsamic air that kills all germs of cold and catarrh and prevents disease getting fastened upon the system. Any throat specialist will tell you that his practice is more than double after the fall elections, and that pneumonia is some years almost epidemic.

Hyomei will cure coughs and colds and prevent pneumonia. Just breathe it. A complete Hyomei outfit costs $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a lifetime, while extra bottles of Hyomei if needed can be obtained for 50c.

Hyomei is one of the few medicines that are sold under a positive guarantee to give satisfaction. If it does not cure you, your druggist will refund your money. This is the strongest evidence that can be offered as to Hyomei's wonderful powers to cure a cold and prevent pneumonia.

LIMIT TO HIS MAGIC.

Being a Church Member, This Steward Drew the Line at 25-Cent Cigars.

From the New York Sun.

The party was on one of the hundred steamers that navigate the tributaries of the Atlantic along the southern coast. It was going to inspect timber and cotton mills and the supply of cigars had been exhausted, for the boat had run on a sand bar and had lost four hours waiting for high tide.

The steward was an old negro whose hair was almost as white as the cotton which the boat carried.

"Uncle," said the stout man, "have you got any good cigars?"

"Yaas, sah 'bout ez good ez is goin'."

"Bring us some—10 cents straight."

"All right, sah," and he ambled off.

He returned with a box that had Havana labels. They took five and he pocketed the fifty cents.

The cigars were rank, but the five patient men smoked bravely on with comments appropriate to the occasion. At the end of an hour they were painfully conscious of a bad, bitter taste which nothing but a better quality of weed would remove. The thin man called the darkey again.

"Uncle," he said, "have you got a two-for-a-quarter brand?"

"Yaas, sah, I think I hez."

He brought them. The box was scratched somewhat and the few cigars were in disorder.

The thin man took six and handed over 75 cents. The men smoked another hour. They were all tired out with the delay and conversation lagged.

But they knew that the first bitter taste had only been deepened. The chief captain was the next to summon the negro. "Uncle," he said, "have you got any 25 straight?"

The box he brought looked as if it had seen better days. There were five cigars in it and the negro offered them rather reluctantly.

But they were taken and paid for and he went his way without a word. It was the same thing over again; the bitterness became distressing and another call went up for the negro.

"Uncle," said the junior of the crowd, "have you got any 25-cent cigars in that old box of yours?"

A look of guilt swept over the black face, and he put his hand to the back of his head and rubbed his woolly hair.

"Deed, boss, I don't believe I hez," he said slowly. "Truf is, genermen, dis am a mighty various box, a mighty various box, genermen, an' I'se scratched it to de limit. I'd like mightily to oblige ye, but I'se a church member in good standin' an' dis here box, howsomeber various it mought be, cain't honestly be scratched to a quartah cigayr.

"It were a distressin' strain on it to lift it to 15 cents, an' bein' a church membah in good standin' I'se got to quit.

"We'se got some nickel cigays out dare, but none for a quartah, sah, nary a one fur a quartah.

"It wouldn't be right to charge a quartah, sah; it would be monstrous unreasonable to charge a quartah fur a nickel cigayr, sah; it would be a sin, sah an' I'se a church membah what acts in de amen corner, sah."

BOY'S 10,000-MILE TRAMP.

New York Lad Saw America Without Paying a Cent's Fare.

From the New York Herald.

After an exciting trip of 10,000 miles, from one coast of North America to another and back, in which he paid not a single cent as car fare, and only $1 for boat fare, riding a great part of the time on the trucks under fast speeding trains, John C. Rogan, a 15-year-old boy, who wanted to see the country and saw a large part of it, arrived last Thursday at the home of his widowed mother, in Brooklyn.

His left hand was badly swollen, and his mother at once sent him to the Bushwick Central Hospital for treatment. The physicians there said he had blood poison, and it was at first feared they would have to amputate the hand, but it was decided that the hand could be saved and the boy's life also.

Regan is a sturdy type of young America. He is tall for his age and muscular and always was a student. He was a school boy, desirous of seeing the world, when at the end of last April he suddenly disappeared.

For several days his mother, brother and sister searched the city in vain for him. They knew that he had only 16 cents when he left home, and were quite fearful of his safety.

After a few days, however, a letter from Chicago came to relelve the distracted mother. In it young Regan announced that he was on his way to the far west, as he wanted to see the world. He said he had managed to work here and there which earned food for him, and that he had no doubt but that he would be able to get along.

That he was doing so was evidenced by subsequent letters from Omaha, Cheyenne, San Francisco, Fresno, Sacramento, Los Angeles, New Orleans and El Paso, Tex.

In Cardington, O., he got a job at $10.60 a week. At Albany he got employment in a Salvation Army headquarters, and his hand was operated upon in the dispensary there. As it did not get better, however, he made up his mind to make for home.

"I am glad I took the trip, although I would not go through it again for $10,000," said the young wanderer. "I did not beg a single meal or a single cent all the time I was on the road."

WARRANTS ASKED FOR RING MEN

Were Accused of Outrageous Actions at a Polling Place.

HAD BEER IN PLENTY

Election Board of the First District of the Third Ward Charged With Gross Irregularities. Prisoners Were Released.

Attorney George M. Harton, representing Frank A. Hopper, presented a petition in common pleas court, asking that a bench warrant be issued for the arrest of William Richardson, Michael Goodwin and William Dunn, as the result of trouble at the polling place of the first precinct of the Third ward.

Hopper set forth in his petition that he was duly appointed overseer and that when he went to the polling place at 7:30 a. m. the polls had not been opened. It was said Richardson told the citizens he would open the polls when he pleased. Hopper said that he demanded to see the box open, but that Goodwin stated that he was not a resident of the ward. He said the cry was raised that he was not a registered voter, and asked that someone put him out. Hopper says that Dunn, acting as overseer, asked a young man to show his tax receipt. When the man produced one, the petitioner says, Dunn slipped the receipt into his vest pocket, then tore off a piece of blank paper, handed this to the voter and asked him to keep it out of sight, also telling him to step back for a few moments.

Hopper says that when the man tried to vote it was demanded that he show his tax receipt, and when he produced the blank piece of paper the board laughed at him and he was thrown out of the room. The young man's name is given as Emil Kumpfer of No. 427 Diamond street. It is stated that when Constable Frank Cavenaugh interfered he was also put out.

Took His Tax Receipt.

Hopper set forth that, in his judgment, Richardson, Goodwin and Dunn were under the influence of liquor. He declared that inside of 15 minutes two large baskets of beer were taken into the polling place and that he saw not fewer than 15 bottles of beer drunk in and about the polling place; that drinking was done inside the rail, and that Dunn and Buck Collins, a non-resident of the ward, assaulted a Mr. Sourmilk, Dunn having struck him with a handy-billy. Hopper said he was raced from the polling place five times; that a man named Dodds voted as a Mr. Dilly, and that "another bum" voted in the name of Frank Fowell.

No Curtains on Booths.

It was charged that the booths did not have curtains in front of them; that there was no shelf in the apartment, and that nearly every voter who was challenged was forcibly ejected from the building.

The court refused to issue the bench warrant, remarking that if such action was taken upon the strength of an affidavit made by one man, every election board in the city might be brought into court.

Detective Roger O'Mara remained at the district for some time, and when he left he said that if he lived he would attend to that board, which was the worst he had ever seen.

Attorney H. H. Negley, who went down to the precinct after complaint had been made to Attorney C. S. Crawford, was driven out of the room and threatened with a beating if he didn't leave the city. He had said nothing, but was seen talking to a Citizens watcher, who was thrown out of the voting room.

Habeas Corpers Proceedings.

As a result of the trouble in the Seventh ward yesterday, application was made in court for the release of E. J. Syphon, Charles Tyler, George Johnston, Alfred Jones, Matthew Bell, John Scott, H. L. Shugart, Edward Glossman, Frank Murray, David Manus and Edward Jones, who, it was claimed, were locked up in No. 2 police station. Shortly after 4 o'clock Judge Evans granted writs of habeas corpus, returnable forthwith, against Superintendent of Police McAleese, directing him to produce the bodies of the men in court. Superintendent McAleese, when the writ was served on him, went into court and attempted to explain that as he understood it the men were not locked up, charged with riot, as alleged. It was said that Police Magistrate McKenna refused to release the men on bail offered by Peter Hermes, stating he could not take it on an election day. After some discussion, Superintendent McAleese agreed to the release of Tyler, Grossman, Schugart and Bell on bail of Mr. Hermes. It was represented to the court that the other men were picked up on different charges.

On the petition of Samuel Hantman of the Seventh ward, Judge McClung issued a bench warrant for Constable James Dunn and D. Fergenbaum, a deputy constable, on a charge of interfering with the election in the Second district of the Seventh ward. The defendants were brought into court and reprimanded by Judge McClung and then released. Attorney John P. Hunter, a Republican, appeared for the petitioner.

Kaufmann Bros. Appeal.

Jacob, Morris, Isaac and Henry Kaufmann, by their attorneys, have appealed from the assessment of $116,053 70 benefits, growing out of the proposed improvements in the widening of Diamond street, from Grant to Market streets. They have property at Smithfield and Diamond streets, fronting 90 feet in the latter.

Short Session of Supreme Court.

The supreme court sat yesterday and a number of cases were argued. All the justices were on the bench, except Chief Justice McCollum, who has been absent for several days, and Justice S. L. Mestrezat, who did not appear.

Ever Young and Ever Fair.

In the Davenport Democrat.

The preservation of female beauty and enchantments by the use of harmless cosmetics, are duties the ladies owe to themselves, and to those who value their personal charms as they appreciate their mental qualities. Unfortunately unprincipled parties too frequently take advantage of the natural desire to be ever young and ever fair, and palm upon the market deleterious acid and mineral potions which impart a momentary luster at the risk of future sallowness and ill health. In the Oriental Cream, prepared by Dr. T. Felix Gouraud of New York city, the ladies have a harmless preparation for preserving the delicate tint of the complexion, and obliterating blemishes, which has become the favorite toilet article of the leading professional beauties, who owe so much of their popularity to their personal charms. Scarcely a dressing room in opera or theater throughout our land is without the Oriental Cream. It stands today the most harmless and perfect beautifier known.

WABASH WILL NOT BUILD STATION UNTIL CITY RIGHTS ARE GRANTED

"The Wabash will not award the contract for the erection of the new passenger station at Liberty avenue and Ferry street, until the city grants the ordinances allowing the road to cross the streets lying between the station site and the river," said President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash yesterday. President Ramsey arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday morning on one of his regular trips here, overseeing the progress of the work. He spent a busy day in conference over the various interests of the road and will remain here until this evening. The statement quoted was given in answer to a question regarding the start of work on the handsome new building which the Wabash offers as a passenger terminal in downtown Pittsburgh.

"While it is not expected in this case, there is always a possibility of a decision of the supreme court reversing that of a lower one," Mr. Ramsey said. "The Allegheny county court has upheld the right of the Wabash to go ahead without the ordinances, and the appeal to the supreme court has not yet been heard. Until that question has been settled, or the ordinances granted, the Wabash will not undertake the expenditure of a couple of millions on this terminal line."

The plans are all practically ready to ask for bids. They are in the hands of Theodore C. Link, the station architect of the Wabash, who will have charge of the erection of the new station as supervising architect. No bids will be asked for until the doubt as to securing the franchises is removed.

Yesterday President Ramsey held a conference with President J. T. Blair of the Little Kanawha over the various plans of extension and more particularly over the construction work of that line. The bids for the extensions will be opened here tomorrow. The award of the contracts may be delayed somewhat in selecting the most advantageous bids, but an announcement can be expected in a few days at the most. The work is to be rushed as rapidly as possible.

In regard to the acquisition of the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western and the other roads in that vicinity by Myron T. Herrick, Mr. Ramsey said: "The purchase of these lines and the proposed extensions are personal plans of Col. Herrick and Washington E. Connor. The work of financing will not be done by a syndicate, such as was the case in other allied lines in the east, but by these gentlemen personally. The new lines will, of course, be linked to the Wabash and form parts of the system after they are completed. The undertaking has been started with an understanding with the Wabash management."

The plans of the Western Maryland and West Virginia Central syndicates, of which Mr. Ramsey is a manager, are being rapidly forwarded. The capital stock of the Western Maryland has been authorized at $60,000,000, with first mortgage bonds of $50,000,000 and general mortgage bonds of $10,000,000. It is the intention to issue only $25,000,000 capital and $25,000,000 bonds at present. The money from the bonds will be applied to the rebuilding of the line, to the construction of terminals in and about Baltimore, to purchasing new equipment and to building the line to connect the Western Maryland at Cherry Run with the West Virginia Central at Cumberland. The ownership of the West Virginia Central has already passed to the Western Maryland.

The reconstruction work on the Wheeling & Lake Erie is now in large part completed or under way. The road has been laid with 80-pound rails over much of its length during the past summer and over $100,000 has been devoted to rebuilding the docks and improving the facilities at Port Huron, O., which is to be the great Lake Erie port for Pittsburgh ore and coal over the Wabash.

J. & L. Surveyors in Columbiana Co.

Surveys are now being run for the proposed Jones and Laughlin Steel Company line in northern Columbiana county, Ohio. Rights of way are being secured easily, it is said, and the line is being built with little care for anything but securing favorable grades. Surveys have been made three times through that territory by the engineers of the steel company. It is said that final adoption of that route is now settled. John A. George is the engineer in charge of this work.

E. W. ZIMMERMAN PROMOTED.

Chief Night Despatcher of P. R. R. Made Train-Master at Conemaugh.

A new trainmaster's division has been created on the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad, and one of the best known of the operating force of the company in Pittsburgh has been promoted to the position. This is E. W. Zimmerman, for some years chief train-dispatcher of the division at night. The appointment is effective at once. The new night chief dispatcher is J. H. Amend, who has been a train dispatcher in the same office. The headquarters of the new division will be at Conemaugh, where Mr. Zimmerman was once assistant trainmaster. It will extend from Sang Hollow, four miles west of Johnstown, to Summerhill, 11 miles east of that city. It includes also the South Fork branch.

The changes incident to the recent death of A. O. Dayton, superintendent of the West Jersey & Seashore division, are now all settled. D. H. Lovell, superintendent of the Philadelphia terminal, takes the vacant position. J. E. Baker, Jr., of the Cambria & Clearfield division, succeeds Mr. Lovell in Philadelphia. E. J. Cleave, who has been principal assistant engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad division, becomes superintendent of the Cambria & Clearfield. L. H. Johnston, assistant engineer of the middle division, succeeds Mr. Cleave.

Special Thanksgiving Rates

Special holiday rates at the usual reductions will be offered for Thanksgiving by the various lines in this territory. These rates will be one and one-third fares for the round trip, or the equivalent of about two-thirds of the regular rate. The tickets will be good going on November 26 and 27, and returning until November 28. The radius will be 150 miles from the point of origination.

Railroad Notes.

O. M. Conley, general agent of the Frisco system, who has been on a Texas trip, has been called to Joplin, Mo., his old home, by the death of his father.

The Erie has fallen in line with the present movement for greater pay to mechanics by granting an increase of 2 cents an hour to the men at the Susquehanna shops.

Judson N. Keck, assistant trainmaster of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania lines at Wellsville, has been promoted to trainmaster on the Marietta division, with headquarters at Cambridge, O.

I. N. Kalbaugh, formerly master mechanic of the Baltimore & Ohio shops at Glenwood, and more recently superintendent of motive power of the West Virginia Central, is reported to have resigned the latter position to accept another on the Wabash system.

D. H. Maloney, the new commercial agent of the Rock Island at Pittsburgh, has taken possession of his office. He comes from Cleveland. His railroad friends in that city gave him a farewell dinner and a handsome Knights Templar watch charm as a remembrance.

F. E. Shallabarger, district passenger agent of the Santa Fe, announces that there will be Pullman tourist sleeping car service over that line the first and third Tuesdays of each month between Chicago and Galveston. The move is in line with the colonization of the southwest just started by the southwestern roads. A rate of one-half fare, plus $2, is offered.

The Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad has placed with the Baldwin works an order for 27 new engines to be delivered next spring. The order includes 15 four-cylinder compound consolidation freight engines, six simple eight-wheel passenger engines, three simple six-wheel switchers and three simple four-wheel switchers. The consolidation engines will weigh 185,000 pounds and will have 15½ and 26x30 cylinders.

New Church for East End.

At the meeting of the Pittsburgh presbytery of the Presbyterian church next Tuesday, application will be made for the organization of a church to be known as the Friendship Avenue Presbyterian church. The new congregation, which has a membership of 50, will hold services at Friendship avenue and Baum street, East End. The Rev. Dr. Joseph T. Gibson, who gathered the people and started the Sunday school, which has 130 members, will be the first pastor. Over $20,000 has been subscribed toward a fund for a church building.

FOUR PATROLMEN MADE DETECTIVES

Supt. Demmel at Request of Supt. McAleese Fills Vacancies Made Sunday.

Police Superintendent McAleese yesterday handed to Superintendent of Detectives Demmel a list of officers he wanted Demmel to appoint on the detective force. Superintendent Demmel took the list to Recorder Brown, who consented to the men named. The officers appointed have no experience as front office men. Some of the present members of the front office force said yesterday afternoon that Pittsburgh would now be an easy field for pickpockets and thieves.

The officers appointed by Superintendent Demmel are: Hugh Hinchcliffe, Frank Milholland, Charles Aymer and Harry Merritt. The men were notified of their appointments last night and will be sworn into office this morning by Director Leslie. These appointments complete the vacancies made by the dismissal of the six detectives Sunday night.

Hugh Hinchcliffe has been on the police force four years. He served as a patrolman in Penn avenue and the hill districts. Frank Milholland has served as a "blue coat" for 20 years. Charles Aymer has been on the police force for four years, and has been working in the Oakland district. Henry Merritt has been on the police force only four years, but has been a capable and efficient officer. It is the opinion of the other detectives that he might make a good detective.

It is thought that these appointments are permanent, and were made now to prevent the reappointment of the detectives discharged Sunday.

The deposed detectives went to the detective bureau yesterday morning and reported for work as usual. They got out their books, made their reports and waited for assignments that were not given to them. Supt. Demmel ignored their presence, but made no attempt to interfere with them. They looked for Recorder Brown all day but were unable to find him. It is their intention when they meet him to demand a hearing on the charges of inefficiency, for which they were dismissed. They still have their banges and keys and refuse to recognize their dismissal as legal.

Hold Echo Meeting.

An "echo" meeting of the great Cleveland missionary meeting, recently held, will be held in the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, on Thursday evening. This is intended for all the churches in Allegheny. Drs. Boyle, Mink, Slutz and several others who were at the Cleveland convention will speak. The Woman's Foreign Missionary and the Woman's Home Missionary societies give their annual supper in the North Avenue church on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock. A revival service will be held in the church, conducted by Evangelists E. S. Dunham and L. H. Baker, beginning next Sunday morning, and continuing about two weeks.

Cuban Treaty Expected Today.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—Senor Quesada, the Cuban minister, called upon Secretary Hay today to discuss the new Cuban treaty. The document itself has not yet arrived in Washington, but is expected here probably tomorrow, when it will be taken up and pushed to a conclusion.

BLOOD REALLY SHED IN A PARISIAN DUEL

Count de Dion, Before Many Spectators, Wounds His Insulter in the Arm.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, Nov. 4.—An "affair of honor" occurred at Neuilly today, when the Count de Dion and M. Gerault-Richard fought a duel with swords before 150 witnesses. The duel lasted nine rounds and Richard, the offending party, was slightly wounded in the right forearm.

The duel was the result of an altercation in the lobby of the chamber of deputies last week. The Count de Dion was passing through the lobby when he heard Richard mention his name. Turning to the speaker, he said:

"I will not permit you to use my name. If you repeat it, I will slap your face." The threat did not seem to have the desired effect, for Richard replied "Slap ahead."

The count raised his hand to carry out his threat, but was too slow, for Richard "got first blood" by kicking him in the shins. Such an insult to a French noble could not be suffered to go unnoticed and de Dion challenged Richard to the duel which was fought today.

The Count de Dion is a resident of the Automobile club and a prominent sportsman, and Gerault-Richard is a member of the staff of the Petite Republique.

Averting Rice Famine.

MANILA, Nov. 4.—The Philippine commission has taken strong measures to avert the rice famine which is threatening many provinces. They today appropriated $2,000,000 (Mexican) for the purchase and transporation of rice to be sold to the sufferers at a cash price covering the cost. Gov. Taft will control the purchase and sales.

HILL CLIMBING.

Food That Makes It a Pleasure.

"I have a large amount of laborious brain-fatiguing work to do," writes a young lady from Richmond, Va. "After returning from the office I have found myself so completely exhausted that I was unable to engage in any recreation or amusement.

"I tried several expensive tonics without effect, and finally noticing an advertisement of Grape-Nuts as a food recommended to brain workers, I purchased a package and tried it. I found it extremely palatable, and after a week's use (two meals of it a day) I noticed a general improvement in my condition, the feeling of extreme exhaustion was growing less, and strength visibly increased.

"I began to put on flesh, and felt ready to enter into the amusements of the other members of the family, and now, after using the food for eleven months, I am like a new person. I have absolutely no sensation of fatigue; my brain is clear, eyes bright; skin rosy and healthy, and my muscles have strengthened to a marked degree. I am now able to walk from the office home, a distance of 3½ miles, up one of the steepest hills for which our city is famous, and to engage in any amusements that may come in my way, without any sensation of extra fatigue.

"I am also using your Postum Food Coffee with excellent results. My sister-in-law, who lives in Norwalk, Conn., writes me that she uses it also, and has not suffered from the distressing sick headaches she formerly had." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

MITCHELL STATES MINERS' DEMANDS

Claims of Anthracite Workers Laid Before the Strike Commission.

HIGHER RATE OF WAGES

Eight-Hour Working Day—All Coal Paid For by Weight for Long Ton—Recognition of the Mine Workers' Union.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HAZLETON, PA., Nov. 4.—The statement of the anthracite coal workers' case, which was filed with the strike commissioners on Sunday night, was made public today. Copies of the statement have been furnished to the operators, who will reply in three or four days. The miners' statement is as follows:

To the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission:

The mine workers make of the operators the following demands, which were formulated by the Shamokin convention, held March 18 to 24, and for the enforcement of which the strike was inaugurated.

Reasons for Higher Wages.

First—An increase of 20 per cent upon the prices paid during the year 1901 to employes performing contract or piece work.

This demand is made on account of the following reasons:

1. The present rate of wages is much lower than the rate of wages paid in the bituminous coal fields for substantially similar work.

2. The present rate of wages is lower than is paid in other occupations requiring skill and training.

3. The average annual earnings in the anthracite coal field are much less than the average annual earnings in the bituminous coal fields for substantially similar work.

4. The average annual earnings in the anthracite coal field are much less than the average annual earnings for occupations requiring equal skill and training.

5. The rate of wages in the anthracite coal field is insufficient to compensate the mine workers, in view of the dangerous character of the occupation in relation to accidents, the liability to serious and permanent disease, the high death rate and the short grade of life incident to this employment.

6. The annual earnings of the mine workers are insufficient to maintain the American standard of living.

7. The increased cost of living has made it impossible to maintain a fair standard of life upon the basis of present wages and has not only prevented the mine workers from securing any benefit from increased prosperity, but has made their condition poorer on account of it.

8. The wages of the anthracite mine workers are so low that their children are permanently forced into the breakers and mills instead of being supported and educated upon the earnings of their parents.

9. Wages are below the fair and just earnings of mine workers in this industry.

Shorter Working Day.

Second—A reduction of 20 per cent in hours of labor without any reduction of earnings for all employes paid by the hour, day or week.

The second demand is similar to the first in that it is designed to increase the hourly rate of wages of mine workers employed by the hour, day or week, and all the reasons applicable to the first demand are asked to be applied to the second with repetition.

In addition thereto we submit the following:

10—The 10-hour day is detrimental to the health, life, safety and well-being of the mine workers.

11—Shorter hours improve the physical, mental and moral condition of the workers.

12—Shorter hours increase the intensity and efficiency of labor.

13—The tendency of national and state governments, of organized trade, and of production generally, is toward shorter hours.

14—A working day of eight hours is sufficiently long for the best interests of the workingmen and of the community.

Reforms in Weighing Coal.

Third—The adoption of a system by which coal shall be weighed and paid for by weight wherever practicable; the minimum rate per ton to be 90 cents for a legal ton of 2,240 pounds; the differentials now existing at the various mines to be maintained.

This demand is made on account of the following reasons:

1—Measurement by the legal ton wherever practicable is the only honest and just system of measuring the earnings of mine workers.

2—When the operators sell or transport coal it is on the basis of a legal ton of 2,240 pounds.

3—The excessive ton was originally intended to compensate the operator for the weight of the small sizes of coal which were then discarded, but which are now utilized and sold, and therefore there is no present necessity for the use of any other than the legal ton.

4—The adoption of this system would remove an incentive, both to the operator and to the worker, for cheating and dishonesty, and would allay jealousy among the miners and prevent unjust discrimination and favoritism.

5—The change of the present system to the one asked for would prove a strong factor in allaying suspicion and discontent among the mine workers.

Recognition of the Union.

Fourth—The incorporation in an agreement between the United Mine Workers and the anthracite coal companies of the wages which shall be paid and the conditions of employment which shall obtain, together with satisfactory methods for the adjustment of grievances which may arise from time to time to the end that strikes and lockouts may be unnecessary. In support of this demand, we submit the following reasons:

1. The anthracite mine worker should not be compelled to make or sign individual agreements, but should have the right to form such organization and choose such agents and officers as they desire to act collectively, instead of individually when they deem that their best interests are subserved thereby.

2. Agreements between employers and employes through workingmen's organizations are the ordinary method of regulating production and wages in the bituminous coal fields and in other large industries, and are beneficial, successful and in keeping with the spirit of the times.

3. Unions of workingmen tend to the better discipline of the men and to the improvement of their physical, moral and mental condition, and to the preservation of friendly relations between employer and employe.

4. Experience shows that the trade agreement is the only effective method by which it is possible to regulate questions arising between employers and employed in large industries, and that a trade agreement is the only possible way to establish the relations between employers and the wage workers in the anthracite fields on a just and permanent basis and as far as possible to do away with any causes for the recurrence of such difficulties as those you (the anthracite coal strike commission) have been called in to settle. Respectfully yours,

JOHN MITCHELL,
Representative of the Anthracite Mine Workers.

REVOLUTION CRUSHED, WIRES CASTRO'S CLERK

Rebels Whipped in Great Battle, Matos a Fugitive and Rirera Killed.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The Venezuelan consul general here has received the following cable dispatch from Caracas, signed by Cardenas, secretary to President Castro:

"Revolution totally crushed by final victory. Matos a fugitive."

CARACAS, Nov. 4.—The government reports having gained a decisive victory over the revolutionists last week. Government troops dislodged the rebels from their last stronghold at Pipe, near San Mateo, six miles from La Victoria.

The revolutionary leaders, Mandoza, Matos, Rolando, Crespo, Terres and others, according to government reports, have been secured and the disbanded rebel army passed through Villa de Cura last Sunday night. The rebel general, Rirera, is reported to have been killed.

The victory claimed by the government was celebrated in Caracas yesterday with salvos of artillery, fireworks and the ringing of church bells.

Government reports declare the revolution in Venezuela ended by this complete victory and that peace in Venezuela has been secured.

SCHOONER IS SUNK

Run Into by Steamer Ten Miles Off Boston Harbor—Four Men Are Drowned.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—The United Fruit Company's steamer, Admiral Sampson, which arrived here today, reports that she collided with the three-masted schooner, Charley Buckl, from Eddyville, N. Y., for Boston, about 10 miles off the Cape Cod lightship, at 2 o'clock this morning.

The schooner was sunk and Capt. Freeman Huntley of Jonesport, Me., Mate Elmer Huntley and three seamen of the Buckl were drowned. The mate was a son of the captain.

The Admiral Sampson had her ventilators carried away, her port rail damaged and her foretopmast broken.

Crowley and Cook, the survivors, say that the collision occurred in a very heavy fog and within two minutes from the time she was first seen the steamer crashed into the starboard side of the schooner, cutting her through to the keelson.

The schooner began to fill immediately and her heavy cargo of cement carried her down in less than three minutes.

MARSHFIELD, WIS., Nov. 4.—The State Bank of Greenwood was entered by burglars early today and $8,000 in gold was stolen. Five men were implicated. They blew open two vaults with dynamite.

For Care of Magazines, Etc

The cool evenings bring to mind the pleasure of good books to be read by the fireside during the winter months, which are close at hand. And as magazines and newspapers are the logical companions of books, it follows that book lovers are interested in such things as the Table pictured above—designed for the convenient disposal of magazines and papers that are in use.

The picture gives one a wrong impression of this Table, however, for here it really resembles a ladder. But once you have seen the Table itself you will wonder how you ever got along without such a convenience.

Made of golden oak and weathered oak, also mahogany finish—33 inches high—just the right size to meet the requirements of the person using it.

This unpretentious little article indicates the policy of this establishment. Not only are the most ornate things sold here, but also every article pertaining to furniture that is the best of its kind. The styles are exclusive, and price is always an inducement at SECOND SECTION. PITTSBURGH, WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 5, 1902. PAGES 9 TO 16.

FARMERS TO THE RESCUE OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY OF NEW YORK AND THE EAST

Republicans Claim the State by from 16,000 to 20,000, and Democrats Privately Concede Defeat of Coler.

TAMMANY'S ENORMOUS VOTE OVERCOME IN THE COUNTRY.

Republicans Hold Their Own in Other Commonwealths and Make Large Gains Especially in the Far West and Pacific Coast.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, Nov. 4.

At this hour nearly complete returns show that the farmer has saved the Republican party in New York state from defeat, and has probably kept congress in the control of the Republican party.

In almost all the cities of the state of New York the Republican party organization went to smash before the assault of the labor vote. That Odell would run from 115,000 to 120,000 votes behind Coler in the greater city of New York, was to have been expected after the recent polls of the city.

At midnight Republican State Chairman Dunn said: "The re-election of Gov. Odell is now an absolute certainty. His plurality, I believe, will be from 14,000 to 20,000.

Elliott Danforth, state chairman of the Democratic committee, said at midnight: "The result is in doubt, but from advices I have received I still claim the election of Coler."

Coler Can't Understand It.

Mr. Coler, the Democratic candidate for governor, was asked tonight what he thought of the result. He said:

"You can quote me as saying that I don't give up. I cannot imagine how, with the magnificent vote I received in Greater New York, there should be such a peculiar vote in the upper state. I am convinced that there has been a little of that peculiar 'heathen Chinee' business going on."

That is all Mr. Coler would say.

Democratic leaders at headquarters informed callers privately that Coler is probably defeated. They virtually conceded the election of Odell.

On the face of the returns, Gov. Odell's plurality in the state at 1 a. m. was from 4,000 to 5,000.

Early in the evening all the reports coming in were in favor of Coler, and at the time the betting, which had been 2 to 1 on Odell, swung around to 3 to 1 on Coler, although it is not recorded that any wagers were made at those odds. Still, it was thought that Coler would be the next governor of New York until his reported plurality sank from the 5,000 or 6,000 declared at first to a bare 500. From that time it turned around to Odell's favor, and the figures have kept pretty steadily in his favor between 10,000 and 15,000, for the last two hours.

The Turn for Odell.

The first swing to the Odell side was the Republican landslide in Chemung county. The Democrats expected to carry the county by 200, but indications are that the Republicans will be victorious by 900. In this county is the city of Elmira, which is identified with David B. Hill, and it is regarded as a slap at him that Odell has been able to show such strength in that county.

In the big cities only one Republican congressman, Dunwell, in the Second district, located in Kings county, has pulled through. This is a net loss to the Republicans from the present house of five, but for the fact that in all the congressional districts between New York and Buffalo, the city vote was offset by the farmer vote, the Republicans would have lost half a dozen congressmen in the interior, and the control of the house probably would have been lost to the administration.

Why the Farmer Is Republican.

Here is where the farmer came in as a national factor. His admiration for President Roosevelt, his gratitude to Gov. Odell for relieving his farm of all taxes for state purposes, and his general contentment with the existing state of things caused the rural vote to be swollen by thousands of men who never before cast the Republican ticket.

The same thing is true in nearly all the eastern states. It is likewise true of the states in the middle west. The farmers have saved such states as Connecticut, Massachusetts, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Kansas.

New Jersey had an exciting election, and the result in the congressional contests gives the Republicans eight and the Democrats two. Col. William L. Barnum has been beaten in the Sixth district, although it had been counted on until near the close of the campaign as being likely to furnish 4,000 Republican majority. Such landslides as these have occurred in spots all over the country.

Connecticut has gone Republican by probably 15,000, and it is likely that Mr. Coler, the Republican candidate for representative-at-large, has been elected.

Ohio the Tom Johnson ticket has been "snowed under" by the combined efforts of Senators Hanna and Forsker.

Won In Spite of Factions.

Wisconsin the Republicans have won victory of themselves. The bitter quarrel between Gov. La Follette and Senator Spooner was carried direct to the polls.

There was a light vote in Illinois, but the Republicans apparently held their own. Indications are that the Republicans will have the legislature, insuring the election of Representative Hopkins to the senate as the successor of William E. Mason.

Indiana remains Republican. The legislature will be controlled by Republicans, and Senator Fairbanks will succeed himself.

There have been heavy Democratic gains in Massachusetts, but the Republican state ticket has been elected by a reduced majority. It is probable that three Democratic members of congress have been elected by the Democrats. One notable victory for them is that of Representative Gillett in the Worcester district.

Maryland, which now has six Republican representatives, has elected four Republicans and two Democrats.

Delaware probably has been carried by the Democrats and Houston has been elected to congress.

The West Is Republican.

So far west the Republicans have made gains, while Colorado was gone Democratic. Nevada probably has elected a Republican to congress.

The Pacific coast states are generally Republican, and it is believed that the Republicans in California have elected their state ticket and six of the eight congressmen.

The city of Greater New York, which last year elected a fusionist to the mayoralty, rolled up one of its old-time majorities for the Democratic party. Locally, the candidates voted for were three justices of the supreme court, 15 members of the national house of representatives, 21 state senators and 62 state assemblymen. In Kings county a sheriff, and in Queens county a district attorney, were elected. Coler's plurality for governor in the city is about 110,000.

From the start the returns showed that Edward B. Amend, Vernon M. Davis and Edward E. McCall, the Tammany Democratic candidates, were elected to the supreme court bench by pluralities ranging from 70,000 to 80,000. Their opponents were William A. Keener, Alfred Steckler and Ernest Hall, who were appointed to the supreme court by Gov. Odell to fill vacancies.

A Complicated Situation.

Keener and Steckler were nominated by both the Republicans and the Greater New York Democracy and Hall by the Republicans. The Greater New York Democracy placed John DeWitt Warner in nomination for the office against Mr. Hill and the Tammany candidates.

The vote cast today showed a remarkable change of feeling from last year, when Mayor Low carried New York county by about 5,000.

The reversal of the vote in Kings county was equally noteworthy. Last year Low carried the county by more than 24,000, while the unofficial returns tonight gave Coler 26,546 plurality and indicate that William E. Melody, Dem., for sheriff, had won from Adolph L. Klein, Rep., by about the same figures.

Queens borough, the only one of the five boroughs in the greater city that was carried by Shepard, Dem., for mayor last year, gave an estimated plurality for Coler of 5,500. This was about 1,500 more than had been estimated by the party leaders.

In New York city Coler's plurality, according to late returns, was approximately 117,500, made up as follows: New York county, 83,000; Kings, 26,500; Queens, 5,500, and Richmond, 2,500.

Late returns from remote districts show a falling off in the Odell vote. Oneida county gave Coler a plurality of 142, a Republican loss of 5,208, and this reduced Odell's estimated plurality to 8,500.

Buffalo for Coler.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Buffalo complete gives Coler, 1,256 plurality. Wayne county gives Odell 2,237 plurality.

Gov. Bliss Re-Elected and 11 Republican Congressmen Win, Though Democrats Still Hope.

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—Chairman G. J. D'Ookema of the Republican state central committee says:

"Gov. Bliss and the entire state ticket are elected by from 40,000 to 60,000. Eleven Republican congressmen are elected, with the First district still in doubt. The legislature will be overwhelmingly Republican."

Chairman Whiting of the Democratic state central committee says: "The Democrats have elected Alfred Lucking to congress in the First district, and have elected many members of the legislature. Durand, Democratic candidate for governor, shows great gains, and if they are maintained in the same proportions he will be elected by over 10,000 majority."

Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—Of the six congressmen the Republicans elect four and the Democrats two. The vote in the Third district was very close, Watchler having one precinct of the Third district had a majority of about 100. The judges to dispute because of the imperfect marking of ballots, and the ballot box was sealed and placed in the care of the election supervisors. The disputed precinct is normally Republican and will not affect the result.

Colorado.

DENVER, COL., Nov. 4.—Returns received up to 10:30 o'clock indicate the election of Peabody, Rep., for governor, by a small plurality. The Democratic congressional candidates are reported to be running ahead of their ticket, and are believed to be elected.

RICH YOUNG MAN HELD FOR MURDER

Alan Hamlin of the Famous Piano House Placed Under Arrest.

CRIMES CHARGED TO HIM

Two Women Beaten to Death in the Suburbs of Boston—Many Others Attacked—The Prisoner Thrice in an Asylum.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—The promised sensational arrest for murder was made this morning. The prisoner turns out to be Alan G. Mason, son of the deceased founder of the house of Mason & Hamlin, famous manufacturers of organs and pianos.

He is suspected of assaulting and beating more than a dozen women in the residence suburbs of Cambridge, Brookline and Somerville. Two of the victims of assault, Miss Agnes McPhee and Miss Clara Morton, died of their wounds. The police suspect, from evidence in their hands, that Mr. Mason has been involved in nearly all the cases referred to, as the circumstances of each have been very similar.

The peculiar assault cases which have terrorized Cambridge and vicinity, as well as other suburban sections, began last June. During the summer there were half a dozen victims of an unknown assailant, each of whom was struck down and beaten with a blunt instrument.

Beaten With an Iron Wrench.

Early in October Miss Agnes McPhee was assaulted in Somerville and died from her injuries. An iron wrench was found and fixed upon as the weapon used. During the same month eight other cases followed, the last of which occurred last Saturday night when Clara A. Morton, a laundress at the McLean asylum, was accosted on the grounds of that institution and beaten with a blunt instrument. Miss Morton died Sunday.

Mr. Mason was taken into custody at his mother's home, in Newbury street. He made no objection, and on the way to police headquarters it is said Mr. Mason admitted to the officers that he was in Somerville on the night on which Miss McPhee was fatally injured. The prisoner is about 30 years of age and is the son of the founder of the firm of Mason & Hamlin. He was graduated from Harvard in 1886, and entered the firm of which his father was the head. Mental troubles developed within a few years of his graduation, and he went to the McLean asylum for treatment. After a time he showed improvement and left the institution, a second time it became necessary for him to return, but he soon improved and was released.

Three Times in an Asylum.

In 1901, however, symptoms more serious than any previous ones developed and his mother and brother found it unsafe to be with him at their Newbury street home. He had threatened both, and a petition was filed to have him sent away on the ground of insanity, and he was sent to Waverly for the third time. The man himself protested against what he termed an injustice and said that he was perfectly sane and would conduct himself as well as possible while he was there. He remained six months. Since then he has been free and has been a stock-taker at the Mason & Hamlin organ factory at Cambridge.

Mason has a mother and three brothers, Edward Palmer Mason, Henry Lowell Mason and Daniel Gregory Mason. He is a cousin of John Mason, the well-known actor.

While in college Mason displayed a pronounced musical taste and was president of the glee club. He was also an athlete of some note.

Maintains His Innocence.

Mason was taken to police headquarters, where he was subjected to a rigid examination. He was kept there until nearly 3 o'clock, when he was taken to Cambridge, where he will remain under surveillance by insanity experts for a time.

Throughout the examination he absolutely denied that he knew anything about the assault cases. The police assert that four or five witnesses declare positively that they saw Mason in Waverley on Saturday night, when Miss Morton was beaten.

Mason's brother says Alan is in better mental condition than he was some time ago, but he realizes that Alan is an insane man. One fact considered significant by the police is the admission that it has been the habit of Alan Mason to take a car ride almost every evening before going to bed. The ride was taken as usual Sunday evening, but Mason declares he did not go in the direction of Waverley.

Only Circumstantial Evidence.

State officers went to the Mason home in Newbury street this afternoon and searched it thoroughly. Nothing was found which would indicate that Mason was connected with any of the mysterious assaults. Inspector Murray, of the Cambridge force, and Lieut. Carter of Somerville, who have been for weeks looking for the "slugger," say they have nothing that will identify Mason as the man they want, and it is believed the police will have to confine their attention to attempting to prove that Mason killed Miss Morton at Waverly. They believe tonight that they have found a witness who could swear to seeing Mason in the McLean hospital path in which Miss Morton received her death blows, but they think that eventually he will make some admissions, which, however, they admit will not be worth much, because of his mental condition.

MISS CLARA MORTON.

"The case against Mason is almost entirely circumstantial," said one of the officers working on the case today, "but I am satisfied that he is the 'slugger,' and I believe that before the case comes to trial we will be able to show beyond a doubt that he is."

INDIANA.

Nine Congressmen Elected Are Republicans—State Is Claimed by Majority of 20,000.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—The Republicans claim Indiana by 20,000. Nine Republican congressmen are elected.

Two hundred voting precincts in Indiana, outside Marion county: Schoonover, Dem., 14,455; Storms, Rep., 18,010. Net Republican gain, 1,040.

Forty precincts in Marion county (Indianapolis) indicate the election of the Republican ticket, state, congressional and legislative, by from 3,000 to 4,000. The Republican county ticket will run behind this figure. Congressman Overstreet is re-elected in this the Seventh district.

Iowa.

DES MOINES, IA., Nov. 4.—On the basis of the precinct returns received up to 11 p. m., the Republicans have elected their state ticket by about 75,000 plurality. The reports from the congressional districts are meager. Enough has been received from the Third to indicate that Judge Birdsall, nominated by the Republicans to succeed Speaker Henderson, ran substantially with his ticket.

Kansas.

TOPEKA, KAS., Nov. 4.—At 10:30 o'clock tonight Chairman Albaugh of the Republican state committee, said: "The Kansas Republicans have elected the entire state ticket and all the eight congressmen. Bailey for governor will have a larger majority than did Stanley two years ago. The legislature will be safely Republican."

New Hampshire.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 4.—For governor, 125 towns and wards in New Hampshire give Bachelder, Rep., 15,067; Hollis, Dem., 13,810. Same percentage of vote throughout the state would result in a Republican plurality of 10,000.

Clay Re-Elected Senator.

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 4.—The Georgia legislature in joint session today re-elected United States Senator Alexander S. Clay for the full term of six years. Senator Clay received 171 votes and Walter Johnson of Atlanta, Republican, 4.

Washington.

SEATTLE, WASH., Nov. 4.—Indications are that the state will go Republican by about 20,000 majority, with the election of three congressmen and the control of the legislature.

Utah.

SALT LAKE, UTAH, Nov. 4.—Polls in this state did not close until 8 o'clock, and returns will be very late. Three scattered precincts outside of Salt Lake give McCarty, Rep., for associate justice, 123; Young, Dem., 115.

Wyoming.

CHEYENNE, WYO., Nov. 4.—Meager returns from the state indicate that the entire Republican ticket is elected. Mondell, Rep., for congress will have 4,000 majority.

Idaho.

BOISE, IDA., Nov. 4.—Scattered returns mostly from the southern part of the state, show Morrison, Rep., for governor, running ahead of Hunt, Dem.

Nevada.

RENO, NEV., Nov. 4.—Indications are that Sparks, Dem., for governor, has carried Washoe county by about 400. Meagre returns point to a fusion victory in the state.

GEN. GREELY TELLS IT

Lines Built in Alaskan Wilds as Quickly as in Temperate Plains. Complete Systems Constructed in Cuba and the Philippines.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—The annual report of Gen. A. W. Greely, chief signal officer of the army, says the corps have actually built and put in working order in Alaska 1,121 miles of land lines and submarine cables within a period of 24 months. The accomplishment of such results, he says, would be most creditable to officers and men concerned therein if Alaska was an ordinary country, for this work included not only surveying, construction and installation of this length of line, but also involved the manufacture and inspection of enormous quantities of material, instruments, etc., many hundred tons in weight, and their transportation over distances ranging from 4,000 to 7,000 miles.

When one considers, however, the exceedingly difficult physical conditions within the territory, he says the work must be considered simply phenomenal, as in all parts of Alaska traversed by this great length of lines there was not a dozen miles of wagon road, and much of the region is unexplored.

Cuban Towns Connected.

Speaking of the improvements effected by the corps in Cuba, Gen. Greely says: "It is unquestioned that on occupying Cuba the American army found a few dilapidated telegraph lines operated by antiquated methods with tariff rates increasing in proportion to the length of the message, without free delivery, and with grave uncertainties as to espionage, secrecy and delivery. This system, bad as it was, served only the western half of the island.

"In leaving Cuba there was turned over to the government a system of 3,500 miles, extending from San y Martinez in the west to Cape Maysi in the extreme east with every seaport town of any importance electrically connected. The present instruments are of the best modern types, the transmission speedy and reliable, and the tariff rates exceedingly low, while the certainty of delivery and inviolability of messages are beyond question."

Philippine Island System.

On the work in the Philippines the report says: "The magnificent system of telegraph lines and cables was very largely constructed and installed under Col. Allen. This system, increased during the fiscal year by 2,609 miles, consisted on June 30, 1902, of 31 submarine cables, 1,326 miles in length, and land lines 5,108 miles in length, making an aggregate of 6,434 miles. It is almost needless to say that the work of construction and installation, under the disturbed and difficult conditions existing in the archipelago demanded talents of the highest order. The system stands today a monument to the energy, skill and resourcefulness of the American soldier.

"On entering the Philippine islands the American army found practically no existing telegraph lines, as the few land lines connecting the Visayan cables of the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company had been promptly destroyed by the insurgents, as well as the lines in Luzon, when they retreated before the advance of our army. The only lines of any importance that came into our possession were several hundred miles of dilapidated and antiquated lines in the Cagayan valley along the west coast of Luzon."

WAS AN ACCIDENT

Revolver Was Discharged in Son's Hands, Killing Mother.

Deputy Coroner John P. Black held the inquest on the death of Mrs. Eliza North of Springdale, who was shot by her son on Monday at her home. It developed that Mrs. North took the revolver from her drawer to show it to her son Matthew, who had not seen it for three years. Her son William, 15 years old, was also in the room at the time, and Mrs. North handed the revolver to him, asking him to pass it to Matthew. The revolver was wrapped in a piece of cloth, and when William attempted to remove it the revolver went off. The ball went through one of his fingers and struck his mother in the left breast.

Mrs. North sank to the floor. Another brother, Robert, heard the shot and when he entered the room found his brothers trying to raise their mother from the floor. A physician was summoned, and when he arrived said the ball had entered the heart and she had died instantly. The revolver had been bought by Mrs. North some time ago. Her house had been entered and $150 taken. The jury found that Mrs. North's death was accidental.

WIFE DISAPPEARED.

New York Man Seeks Police Aid to Find Spouse.

Mrs. Delia Myers, 23 years old, left New York city Saturday to meet her husband in Pittsburgh the next day. She arrived here and has not been heard of or seen since. Her husband, James, failed to meet her at the appointed time, and when he arrived at the Union station he was informed that a woman of her description had arrived and left the station. He expected she would go to the Commercial hotel, where he is staying.

James Myers is a musician, and came to this city to secure employment. He brought his 11-year-old daughter with him, and both are distracted over the disappearance of Mrs. Myers. She is described as being 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 150 pounds. The police are looking for her.

Assaulted by Three Men.

John Slavisli is at the West Penn hospital with a badly cut and bruised head. Early yesterday morning he was assaulted by three men on Fourteenth street, who used knife and club on him. Slavisli was left unconscious on the street, and when found was sent to the hospital, but it is thought he will recover. Officer A. J. Shultz arrested Barney Smith and Andrew Binski on suspicion of being concerned in the affair. The cause of the trouble has not been ascertained.

Given Time to Vote.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—The new state law compelling factories to give their employes two full hours for voting after the opening of the polls contributed to an increased vote today.

Thirty-two precincts in Douglas county give Mickey, Rep., for governor, 3,514; Thompson, Fusion, 3,309.

CONNECTICUT.

Five Republicans Sent to Congress and Entire State Ticket Elected With Increased Majorities.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 4.—Connecticut today elected the full Republican ticket for state officers and all the five Republican candidates for congress. Returns received up to midnight from 150 of the 168 towns in the state, not including the important cities of New Haven, Hartford, Bridgeport and Waterbury, indicated that the plurality for Chamberlain, Republican candidate for governor, would be at least 15,000, an increase of 1,000 over the plurality of two years ago.

The state legislature will be Republican, thus insuring the return of O. H. Platt to the United States senate.

The greatest surprise in the election was the vote of New Haven, which, though normally a Democratic city, has, according to unofficial returns received up to midnight, returned a plurality for the Republican state ticket.

LAWRENCE COUNTY LOYAL.

Pennypacker and Acheson Given Big Pluralities.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—John B. Brown, chairman of the Republican county committee, at midnight gave out the following estimates of results in Lawrence county, based on returns from 30 of the precincts: Pennypacker, 4,200; Pattison, 2,400; Swallow, 55; Slator, 400; W. H. Brown, for lieutenant governor, runs ahead of the ticket. Acheson for congress carries the county by 3,200 to 1,600 for Eckert, Dem.; James A. McMillan and R. L. McNabb, Reps., and James Lynn, Dem., are elected commissioners. James Elder and E. N. Houk, Rep., and W. W. Gibson, Dem., are the county auditors.

South Dakota.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 4.—At the headquarters of the Republican state central committee it is claimed that the Republican ticket is elected by 1,700.

Complete returns from 16 towns South Dakota, give Herreid, Rep., governor, 5,492; Martin, Dem., 1,926.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Register Walsh estimates on returns from San Francisco that Lane, Dem., for governor will carry the city by 10,000 or 11,000. It is believed the state is Democratic by a small majority.

COMMISSIONERS TAKE LONG TRIP

Jumped Into Mining Town Which They Are Not Expected to Investigate.

GO DOWN WET MINE

Also Visit House Which One Says Is Worse Than Underground Workings—End Day and Spend Night at Mt. Carmel.

MOUNT CARMEL, PA., Nov. 4.—The strike arbitration commission visited the Shamokin region today and tonight is at Mt. Carmel.

The commissioners went into one mine, then looked over several towns, and visited the mining patch of Hickory Ridge, where they saw a mixture of half a dozen nationalities of mine workers living in homes that are mere shanties.

The arbitrators left Hazleton at 10 o'clock and arrived at Shamokin at 10:50 a. m.

The special train was run to the Bear Valley colliery of the Reading company, about three miles from Shamokin. This mine is a very wet one, and the commissioners were compelled to wear rubber coats and hats. More than an hour was spent in the workings, which are about 450 feet below the surface. The principal feature which was new to the commissioners in this colliery was the very steep pitch of one of the veins. It has a pitch of from 35 to 72 degrees.

While the arbitrators were in the mine they were hauled about in a train of cars drawn by a mine mule.

A trip was also made through the breaker, where a lot of boys and old men were seen picking "boney" and slate out of the coal.

From Bear Valley the special train was taken over the mountain to Trevorton, the western extremity of the Schuylkill coal bed. The commissioners took a hasty look about the colliery and then, at the suggestion of the mine workers' representatives, the special train was run back through Shamokin and up another mountain to the little mining patch of Hickory Ridge. The colliery at this place is operated by the Union Coal Company, which is controlled by the Pennsylvania railroad. Some boys were found who said they were only 10 years old and worked in the breaker. The arbitrators were invited into the house of a Slovak, where the ceiling was so low that the taller members of the commission had to stoop. In coming down the stairs from the second floor one of the commissioner's party said:

"It is almost as bad as going down the gangway in the mines."

Some of the mine workers showed the commissioners statements of wages issued to the men each two weeks. Judge Gray was much interested in them, as they accurately showed what the men received. He asked many questions and otherwise thoroughly analyzed them.

Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4.—Chairman Rothwell of the Democratic state central committee, claims the state by 30,000. Republican Chairman Atkins concedes the state to the Democrats. In St. Louis the Democrats claim to have carried the entire city ticket with from 4,000 to 5,000 majority. The election of James G. Butler (Dem.) in the Twelfth congressional district is conceded by 2,500.

HELD CAPTIVE AMONG MANIACS

Prominent Physician of Washington Twice Committed to an Insane Asylum.

SET FREE BY THE COURT

Testimony in Habeas Corpus Proceedings Was Promptly Followed by the Doctor's Release. Condition Worse Than Death.

SPOKANE, WASH., Nov. 4.—After having been confined for nearly a month in the "filthy" ward of the Medical Lake insane asylum, surrounded by maniacs of the most disgusting type, Dr. H. B. Yount managed to regain his freedom and is again at liberty. The doctor, who is one of the pioneer physicians of Wilbur, had been held a prisoner at the asylum on the charge of being himself insane. He secured his release only by resorting to habeas corpus proceedings, and after hearing the testimony Judge Richardson showed no hesitation in deciding that he was wrongfully held, and ordering that he be restored to liberty. The proceedings were instituted on behalf of the doctor by I. L. Swett, formerly employed as attendant and nurse at the hospital. Dr. Yount and witnesses testified that after he was received at the asylum September 14, he was confined in the ward given over to the use of filthy patients. While no direct charges are made against the hospital management, the testimony is sensational and has led to considerable public comment.

Dr. Yount has been 22 years in the Big Bend country, and was one of the founders of the town of Wilbur, where he has since made his home. He came o Washington from North Carolina. He has made an enviable reputation in the Big Bend for his unselfish devotion to his profession. His mental trouble is attributed to the use of morphia to quiet overworked nerves. He was committed to the Medical Lake asylum from Spokane August 25, but was released after a short detention. He was again committed September 14 from Davenport, and was released under order of the court.

The Doctor's Story.

After hearing the testimony of attendants at the asylum Dr. Yount was called to the stand. He said he had lived in Wilbur, Wash., 15 years or more, and had practiced his profession in North Carolina prior to coming to this state. He also testified to being committed to the asylum on September 14, and in answer to a question as to his condition on the day he was committed, he said:

"Well, I was a little, quite depressed, I presume. I had been worried considerably. I was sleepy. I had been excited and worried over being incarcerated in the insane asylum, and I was despondent to some extent, I presume, and discouraged. I was up every day, and never laid in bed any day all day. The first day I went to bed at 1 o'clock and slept all afternoon. I had been worried over my condition, being incarcerated, and the next day, of course, the excitement had passed by, to some extent, but I was tired and depressed somewhat, and was kept up all the time.

"The next day I was put in a ward where there were 8 or 12 beds for decrepit patients of various kinds. I slept there one night and the next day I was removed down in this filthy ward and kept up all day. The third and fourth days I felt the worst, because the ward was so offensive. I could not approach the lavatory. Of course, anyone knows you can become accustomed to an odor, and that you don't notice it very much after a number of hours."

Witness denied having asked for drugs, except on one occasion in a joking way. This closed Dr. Yount's testimony.

Testimony of Experts.

Dr. N. M. Baker was sworn as an expert. He said:

"After hearing the evidence and the examination, to the best of my judgment the doctor is now in all probability free from any definite delusion, and in consequence is probably legally sane. He is somewhat nervous this morning under the strain of the examination. He is, in a measure, injudicious in trying to escape from the restraints which is for his own good, in keeping him from a habit which he is likely to return to if left to himself. My observation of the habit is he has to be separated from it for a long time before he would abandon it, and probably if left to himself his mind will return to the delusion. My belief is that in his present state he is free from delusions."

The Court—You think he is sane at this time?

A. To the best of my judgment he is sane at the present time.

Dr. D. C. Newman was sworn as an expert witness and said:

"I don't see any evidence of insanity. Of course the doctor is a little nervous with the bare possibility he would not be released. If anybody has been out in that filthy ward they know what the condition is out there; it is worse than death. He would naturally be a little worse under the condition, but I don't see why the doctor is not perfectly sane. Of course he has been addicted to the morphine habit. It was due to a severe illness, in which another physician gave him morphine hypodermically for a long time, and he was not able to throw it off. We have seen these cases. They get very nervous and will be more so for two weeks, and no fever for six weeks afterward. After the morphine habit has been discontinued it takes a good while for them to regain their equilibrium, and they are more nervous than when their nerves were quieted by the opiate. But I should say the doctor is perfectly sane."

Q.—I will ask you, doctor, if that nervousness is insanity?

A.—Oh, no, not insanity.

At the conclusion of the evidence the court announced that he found Dr. Yount to be of sound mind at this time and ordered his discharge from the custody of the hospital for the insane.

Speed of Racing Camels.

From Pearson's Magazine.

The racing camel is very carefully bred and valuable prizes are offered by a racing society at Biskra for the fleetest racer. I have seen the start of a race and it reminded me, in a far-off sort of way, of a horse race. The camels were all arranged in line and they sniffed the air in their anxiety to be off. A flag was waved and they set off at a terrible pace, as if they were only racing for a short distance. They kept together until they were almost out of sight. Then they seemed to settle down to their habitual pace and the race proceeded with long intervals between the competitors. I have also seen the finish of a camel race, and it reminded me of the first motor car promenade between London and Brighton. The camels were certainly not so broken down and bedraggled, but they came in at intervals of several hours and great patience was necessary to watch them arrive.

A Quick Thought.

From the New York News.

During a sham fight an old general came upon a soldier who was lying fast asleep in a field among the corn.

"Is this your post?" exclaimed the general, rousing him with the full intention of making an example of him.

The soldier, thus suddenly startled out of his slumber, rubbed his eyes, and on recognizing the officer sprang to his feet, presented arms, and said:

"I beg your pardon, general, but we were going through a sham fight, and in order to make an illusion more complete I was just pretending to be dead."

MARTINIQUE VICTIMS DRIVEN TO THEIR DOOM

Such Is the Startling Accusation Now Brought Against the Government.

By ETIENNE DURAND.

(Special Correspondence Sunday Gazette.)

PARIS, Oct. 3.—Not for a good while has a book made such a sensation as is now being caused by a work entitled "The Catastrophe at Martinique," which has just been published here, and the author of which is Jean Hess, a well-known journalist.

The author makes the strange charge that the government was directly responsible for the disaster, and claims that if not all, of the 40,000 victims would now be alive if the authorities, for their own purposes, had not persuaded them to remain in their homes, and had not wheedled them into believing that there was really no danger. In brief, M. Mess maintains that the victims of Martinique were driven to their death for political purposes by M. Decrais, who was then minister of naval affairs.

M. Hess went to Martinique a fortnight after the tragedy, and spent some weeks making a thorough investigation as to its causes and also as to the political condition of the island before it took place. He was not there many days before a horrible rumor reached him. He was told by more than one person that the government was solely to blame, not for the catastrophe itself, but for the loss of life which resulted from it, and that, if he searched diligently, he could obtain ample evidence of the truth of this statement. He did search diligently, and he tells in his book what he claims to have discovered.

The inhabitants of St. Pierre, he says, became frightened several days before the catastrophe, as a stream of lava had already destroyed a large sugar factory; still, no one supposed that on May 8 the volcano on Mont Pelee would discharge volumes of deadly gas instead of, as previously, lava, hot water and ashes. Some of the negroes, however, were afraid that an earthquake was about to take place and were preparing to leave the city.

Instructions to Governor.

There was, in a word, a general feeling of unrest, rather than of terror. There was no certainty, however, that the people would not become panic-stricken at any moment and flee from the doomed city, and as this was precisely what the government wanted to avoid, immediate steps, says M. Hess, were taken to convince them that their lives were in no peril.

M. Decrais, he maintains, after learning of the popular uneasiness, sent positive instructions to Gov. Mouttet to keep the people at their homes in order that they might be able to vote in a body at the elections which were to be held on Sunday, May 11.

The government needed the votes in order to strengthen its position in St. Pierre, and it knew well that if the people abandoned their homes success at the polls was impossible. Moreover, it relied for success on the votes of the negroes and mulattoes, and from previous experience it knew how easily these were frightened and how necessary it was, therefore, to keep them from getting into a panic before election day.

Gov. Mouttet, it is said, on receipt of these instructions from the minister, took into his confidence Prof. Landes, the most distinguished scientist on the island and one of the teachers in the leading school at St. Pierre. The result was that on May 7 the governor received from the professor an official report in which he used these emphatic words: "In my opinion there is no more danger that Mont Pelee will do any harm to St. Pierre than there is that Vesuvius will do harm to Naples."

An Optimistic Opinion.

This report was at once published and helped greatly to calm the people. Some may have wondered at its optimistic tone, since Prof. Landes had previously stated that in his opinion there was one danger, namely, that the great mass of rock on the slope of the volcano might fall and shatter everything with which it came in contact.

The report, however, was generally accepted as correct, not only on account of the professor's reputation, but also because it was known that the reason why he considered the danger slight was because the town was not in the direction of the streams of lava which had previously been flowing from the volcano.

M. Hess, on the contrary, maintains that this report was the direct result of the pressure which was brought to bear on the professor by the governor and that if election day had not been near it would have been worded very differently.

Though it has only just appeared, this book has aroused a storm of criticism, which is not surprising, since the author makes a very grave charge against three men of established reputation—Minister Decrais, Gov. Mouttet and Prof. Landes.

True, M. Hess has gathered his facts so carefully that it is not easy to convict him of making misstatements; but, on the other hand, while his book seems to contain evidence that Gov. Mouttet received instructions from Minister Decrais to keep the people at their homes and that Prof. Landes wrote his report in compliance with the governor's wishes, there is no evidence that any of these three men acted through a wrong motive or had any idea that a catactrophe was approaching.

There is streng evidence that neither the professor nor the governor considered himself in any peril, for the professor remained in his usual home with his family and perished with them, and the governor took his young wife with him to St. Pierre when he went there on May 7 in order to encourage the people by his presence.

Official Investigation Probable.

Those who attack the book most bitterly say that the author has a grudge against the government because during his stay at Martinique neither Acting Governor L'Huerre nor Maurice Stock, the government envoy, treated him with the courtesy which he thought was his due, and also because neither of these officials would say a word as to Minister Decrais' motive in sending instructions to Governor Mouttet.

Moreover, it is claimed that the author while in Martinique spent much of his time in the company of Fernand Clerc, one of the leading opponents of the government and the champion of the anti-negro party, and that in this way several stories discreditable to the authorities, but all more or less false, came to his ears.

However this may be, it is likely that the matter will be officially investigated, for though some maintain that the charge was too absurd to be noticed, others claim that if it is unfounded it ought to be branded as such, and for the reason that until it is so branded those who have no means of getting at the inside facts will suspect that it may be at least partly true.

Another reason why it is probable that an official investigation will be held is that the book is in some respects the most authoritative work on Martinique and the recent catastrophe which has yet been published, and hence will certainly be widely read.

PINS AND NEEDLES.

Automatic Machines Do the Work of Many Hands—Production Is Enormous.

From the American Exporter.

The manufacture of pins has become such an industry in the United States that the mills of this country practically supply the world with this needed article, and yet the demand is by no means a small one. Pins cost only a trifle nowadays, where they were very expensive. In 1900 the 75,000,000 people in the United States used 66,000,000 gross of common pins, which is equal to 9,500,000,000 pins, or an average of about 126 pins for every man, woman and child in the country. This is the highest average reached anywhere in the use of pins. Ten years ago we used only about 72 pins each.

The total number of pins manufactured in the United States during 1900, the census year, was 88,889,220 gross. There are 43 factories in all, with 2,353 employes. The business has grown rapidly during the last 20 years, for although there were 40 factories in 1880, they produced only half as much, employed only about half the capital and only 1,077 hands. There has been a considerable increase in the number of women and children employed in pin factories of late years, which is an indication that the machinery is being improved and simplified and that its operation does not require so high an order of Hooks and eyes are a by-product of pin-making, and are produced at most of the factories from material that will not do for pins. The output of hooks and eyes in 1900 was 1,151,824 gross.

Pins and hooks and eyes are turned out by automatic machines in such quantities today that the cost of manufacture is practically limited to the value of the brass wire from which they are made. A single machine does the whole business. Coils of wire, hung upon reels, are passed into machines which cut them into proper lengths, and they drop off into a receptacle and arrange themselves in the line of a slot formed by two bars. When they reach the lower end of the bars they are seized and pressed between two dies, which form the heads, and pass along into the grip of another steel instrument, which points them by pressure. They are then dropped into a solution of sour beer, whirling as they go, to be cleaned, and then into a hot solution of tin, which is kept revolving. They here receive their bright coat of metal, and are pushed along, killing time until they have had an opportunity to harden, when they are dropped into a revolving barrel of bran and sawdust, which cools and polishes them at the same time. Because of the oscillation of the bran they work gradually down to the bottom of the barrel, which is a metallic plate cut into slits just big enough for the body of the pins to pass through. Thus they are straightened out into rows again, and like well-drilled soldiers, pass along toward the edge of the bottom, and slide down an inclined plane, still hanging by their heads, until they reach strips of paper, to which they are introduced by a curious jerk of the machine. The first they know they all placed in rows, wrapped up and on their way to the big department stores, where they are sold at from 5 cents to 10 cents a gross. A machine is expected to throw out several thousand gross an hour.

Needles are made by a similar machine. In 1900 there were made 1,397,553 gross of machine needles, 212,650 gross for shoemaking, 324,470 gross for ordinary household sewing machines, 807,429 gross for knitting machines and the rest for other kinds of sewing and knitting machinery, generally for factory use. We imported $418,694 worth of ordinary needles, most of them from England.

Hairpins and safety pins and other kinds of pins are manufactured in a similar manner. We made 1,180,104 gross of hairpairs in 1900. Both needles and hairpins are manufactured to a greater extent in Europe than plain pins. Safety pins, however, are decidedly American, and of these we make on an average 1,000,000 gross a year.

SMALL FARMS IN THE SOUTH.

Not Likely That Workmen and Horses Will Be Discarded for Machines.

From the Savannah News.

A Florida man who has been traveling in the west, the section of great farms and prodigious ranches—brings back the rather startling information that the farm hand is doom and that the farm horse will disappear with him. Indeed the Florida man is quite sure that the passing of these two necessaries of the farm has already begun, and is quite well advanced. Machinery is taking the place of man and beast. Traction engines and electrical motors are doing the work formerly performed by hands and horses, he says, and they are doing it at a great saving to the former. We learn from our Florida friend that a recently perfected traction engine, which gets its power from gasoline, is proving very popular on the big farms. This engine is small, compact and easily managed. It is not half as large as the old-style steam traction engine, but is twice as strong and very much more economical. It will pull a gang of five or six subsoil plows, such as are usually drawn by two horses each, and because of its steady, untiring, unbending work, will accomplish more in a day than could be done by ten horses and as many men, and it requires but three men to run the little engine. Not only will it pull plows, but it will run the reaper, binder, thresher, feed cutter and other machinery, and when the harvesting is over it will pull a train of wagons from the farm to the market.

With the substitution of machine labor for animal labor there is no necessity for the farmer to employ hands to get up at 5 in the morning and feed the horses, in anticipation of their hard day's work, since no horses or necessary. All the farmer has to do is to pour some oil in the tank of the machine, strike a match, and his motor is ready for the duty before it. The cost of the gasoline traction engine is about $1,000, but after the first cost the expense is slight as compared with the keep of horses.

It may be true, as our Florida friend concluded, that farm hands and farm horses will become fewer year by year on the great farms of the west, where machinery can be profitably employed. In this section, however, we expect to see the "hired man" and the "critter" engaged for many years in tilling the soil. The tendency in other than the great prairie sections, as shown by the recent census, is rather toward small farms than great ones. In the south the great plantations of years ago are being broken up into small farms that are cultivated by families. Machinery to replace animals cannot profitably be employed on such farms. Meanwhile it is a fact that the southern farmers, and especially those of Georgia, are keeping well up with the march of progress in the use of improved and labor-saving devices for the preparation of their lands and the cultivation and harvesting of their crops. The day may come when Dobbin will be turned out to grass for good and all, and when the automobile will do all the plowing, grinding, hauling and carrying the folks to meeting, but the time is not yet.

A Valuable Rose Bush.

From London Tit-Bits.

In the town of Hildesheim, in Germany, is a rose bush said to be 1,000 years old, and sprouts from its branches have realized enormous sums. Some years ago a rich Englishman offered £10,000 for the entire tree, but the sum was indignantly refused. This wonderful plant clings amid thickly-grown moss against the side of the famous old church of St. Michael. It is claimed that it has bloomed perennially since the days of King Alfred.

Really Strenuous.

Newitt—Yes, but he prefers to be known as an athlete.

Ascum—I didn't know he was athletic.

Newitt—Oh, my, exceedingly so. He plays ping pong, you know.—Philadelphia Press.

TWO BIG CAVES TO BE EXPLORED

Entrances to Them Are on a Level Prairie in Indian Territory.

STEEP AND ROCKY WALLS

Through One of the Caverns Rushes a Stream of Great Depth and Icy Coldness—It Is Spanned by a Natural Bridge.

SULPHUR SPRINGS, I. T., Nov. 4.—Arrangements are being made for exploration of two great caves underneath the level prairie about 11 miles south of this place. The entrances to them are through an opening 40 feet in diameter and 60 feet in depth. By clinging to the rocky and precipitous walls a person may descend to the bottom, and there find the caves, one leading westward and the other to the east. They form the most striking natural curiosities in the Chickasaw nation.

The caves are of unknown length, and through one rushes a subterranean stream of great depth and of icy coldness. Exploring parties have ventured into these labyrinths for hundreds of yards, but the danger of becoming lost has prevented a thorough examination of the underground passages.

The cave leading westward is easiest of access and contains a number of spacious chambers. The room is about 75 feet square and 50 feet from the floor to the ceiling. The floor is obstructed with huge bowlders. The darkness and stillness are intense. Picnic parties sometimes go there, and with a large bowlder for a table eat their lunch in the glare of torches that cast uncanny shadows along the massive walls.

Timid persons hesitate in venturing into the depths of the eastern cave. The passage slants at an angle that compels the explorer to crawl and slip and slide for nearly 100 feet before reaching a spot where he may stand upright and walk with safety. From the darkness comes the sound of rushing water, which is found to be a stream that rises from eight to 30 feet in depth. Men have waded in the stream until the water reached their chins, and then have gone in a boat to points where they were unable to touch bottom. A farmer carried this boat into the cave several years ago, but never had the courage to follow the stream to its end. At a depth estimated to be 200 feet below the surface of the ground is a natural bridge formed by a huge stone. The water plunges underneath this bridge like a mill race. A boat can be pulled over the bridge, however, and launched on the other side.

About 100 feet below the bridge the stream widens into a broad, deep pool, with a high vaulted roof. Beautiful stalagmites and stalactites adorn this chamber. Two hundred feet below this pool the passage is difficult. It is said that this cave has been explored for a mile.

The stream is believed to find its outlet at a spring about three miles from the entrance to the cave. This spring is of great size and volume, and flows with remarkable swiftness. In rainy seasons the spring boils and gushes as if choked with the flood of water that pours from its mouth. The stream in Rock Prairie cave rises when there is a heavy rainfall in the surrounding country, and the increased flow of both spring and stream at such times is taken as evidence that they are connected.

THE LIGHTNING ROD MAN.

How He Was Outwitted by a Clever Competitor.

From the Detroit Free Press.

"Talk about keen competition," remarked the retired lightning rod agent, as he thoughtfully stroked his cheek, "it isn't a circumstance to what it was in the lightning rod business a few years ago.

"It got so we had to carry our outfits along with us, and I often made a sale and had the rods up in 30 minutes. But a rival agent got the best of me once, and it makes me mad to think of it yet.

"I was working Calhoun, Eaton and Barry counties at that time, and I was soon aware of the fact that I had a rival in the field who was a hustler.

"One day, while I was making my headquarters at Albion, I heard of a farmer who had been frightened by lightning striking a tree near his house. Knowing that he would be in the proper mood for lightning rods, I hastened out there, spurred on by the information that my rival was also after him.

"I found a party leaning against a fence, chewing a straw, and immediately opened up on him. He agreed to all I had to say and gave me permission to put a rod on every point that was in danger.

"That was all I wanted. I turned my men loose, and we soon had a rod on every point that could hold one, including the windmill and the chicken coop. I was putting one on the pump when an old man drove in in a lumber wagon and wanted to know what the dickens I was doing.

"Well, to cut a sad story short, it turned out that the party who had given me permission to go ahead was my rival in the business, who, as soon as I was employed, went down the road and met the old man and closed a contract with him."

TRICKED INTO ELOPING WITH HIS OWN WIFE

A Connecticut Man Was Cleverly Caught, and a Gay Widow May Be Still Waiting.

(Special Correspondence Sunday Gazette.)

HARTFORD, CONN., Nov. 1.—Midway between Hartford and Yalesville lives Mrs. Harriet Falkner, a bride of four months, who is credited with being one of the smartest women in her neighborhood, and who tricked her own husband, T. Towney Falkner, into eloping with her.

An anonymous letter, sent to the wife, started the ball a-rolling. It said that her husband was casting eyes at a comely young widow who lived in East Meriden, and on at least one occasion the couple had been seen walking through "Lovers' Lane," in Hubbard park.

Mrs. Falkner followed her husband to a hotel one day and heard him make an appointment with the woman, who was to meet him at the railroad station at Meriden, veiled and carrying a bunch of chrysanthemums. Mrs. Falkner thus tells it:

"After that I kept a closer watch on Mr. Falkner. If he got out of sight during the day or night I employed all my faculties to locate him. Two or three days passed, and one night last week he informed me he was going to the city to have a dress suit case repaired.

"I knew the case contained his best clothes and several changes of linen, for I had missed them from his room, but I said nothing. I noticed that he went into the barn and was surprised to see him drive out a moment later and head north. That was his mistake. Had he taken a car I would have been left behind. As it was I ran up the street and was just in time to catch a trolley car, and of course reached Meriden first.

Fooled the Widow.

"I thought of informing the police, and started up East Main street. As I passed the depot a new idea came to me and I ran up the platform. In the ladies' end sat a woman dressed in black and wearing a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

"'Is this Mrs. Mallory of East Meriden?' I asked. Hardly giving her time to answer, I added: 'There is a Yalesville man down the road, near Archer's Corners. Dear, dear! I am sorry to have kept her waiting!'

"She thanked me and hastened away. I hurried across the street to a florist's and purchased some flowers such as my rival had on. I pulled my veil over my face and returned to the depot. Sure enough, there stood Mr. Falkner, walking up and down near the ladies' entrance and pulling at his mustache. The train came along just then, and as I caught his eye I beckoned to him and ran aboard the train.

"The car was crowded and we were unable to procure seats together. I was beginning to get frightened and wished I was well out of it, but concluded there was nothing to do now but see the adventure through. I don't remember what my thoughts were as I sat in the car. I grew mad and merry by turns as I thought of the scoundrel and his intentions, and of the manner in which I had frustrated his plans.

Fooled Hubby Too.

"I pictured the widow standing at Archer's corners and wondered what she was thinking about just then. When we reached Hartford my husband touched me on the arm and we left the train. We entered a cab and I sat beside him, neither of us speaking until we arrived at the Allen house.

"He escorted me to the ladies' dining room on the second floor and made some remarks about refreshments. As we were about to seat ourselves I raised my veil for the first time, unable to keep up the comedy any longer. I thought Mr. Falkner would faint.

"'I think it awfully kind of you to take me out this way,' I said, laughing; 'I suppose we are going to the theater are we not?'

"I did not let on about the widow, but of course he realized that I knew all. He is now on his way to New Orleans. No, I shall not sue for divorce, unless things turn out differently. You see he realizes how cleverly he was caught at his own game, and I think it will be a lesson to him. At any rate, I have heard no more about the widow. A trolley car conductor said that a woman in black made inquiries for a good-looking man waiting with a horse and carriage at Archer's corners. Dear, dear! I am sorry to have kept her waiting!"

MARVELS OF PRODUCTION.

Remarkable and Little-Thought-Of Facts Culled From the Census.

From the Review of Reviews.

The four mammoth volumes devoted to the census of manufactures are full of suggestive items of information about individual industries. For instance, it appears that the total production of liquors, distilled, malt and vinous, in the census year, was 1,826,000,000 gallons, or per capita, consumption of 17 gallons. There still appears to be work for the temperance societies. Nearly 10,000,000,000 ordinary toilet pins were manufactured, besides 161,000,000 hairpins, and as many more safety pins. The old conundrum where do all the pins go?—is as far as ever from a satisfactory answer. The manufacture of steel pins reached 1,764,000 gross; and of lead pencils, 1,000,000 gross. Of boots, shoes and slippers, 210,285,000 pairs were manufactured, and there were 49,970,000 pairs of rubber boots and shoes made besides; there appears to be no reason why any of our people should go barefoot. Of carpets of all kinds, 75,932,000 running yards were manufactured. Of woolen and worsted piece goods, 390,141,000 square yards were made, more than five square yards to a person; so that none of our people would seem to need to go naked.

Of cotton goods there were woven the enormous quantity of 2,969,750,000 square yards, equivalent to nearly 60 square yards for every man, woman and child in the country. Of hose and half-hose, 29,891,000 dozen pairs were made, and of knitted shirts and drawers, 15,819,000 dozen—these two branches of manufacture representing forms of wearing apparel which less than 60 years ago were exclusively made by the women of the household. Perhaps no figures in the whole census mass illustrate more effectively than these the complete revolution in household economy which machine manufacture has brought about. It has relieved the woman of the largest part of the home duties, and thus driven her into the factory, the store and the office. Of collars and cuffs, 121,000,000 were made in the factories, having a value of $6,000,000. Fifty years ago a factory-made collar was practically unknown.

Pianos to the number of 171,000 were made in the census year, not counting organs and melodeons; and the question is, where do they go? No better test of the general prosperity of the masses of our people can be cited than the fact that they absorb this number of pianos, an absolute luxury, in a single year of good business. Of watch movements, 2,124,000 were made, exclusive of 1,211,100 cheap, or "dollar" watches made in clock factories.

Of typewriters, 145,000 were made valued at $3,624,000. As recently as 1872, not a typewriter had ever been marketed, and in the interval this American invention has revolutionized the correspondence of the world. Of sewing machines, 447,000 were made, exclusive of 55,000 sewing machines for factory use. Of bicycles there were made 1,115,000, a much smaller number than the average production of a few years, but enough to show that the bicycle has staying powers.

FIVE YEARS ON ITS TRAVELS.

Autograph Album of Postal Clerks in Wrecks and Hold-Ups.

An exceedingly fat, heavily bound autograph album, containing the names of nearly 200 employes of the postal service, was received at the postoffice department today, and after all clerks who so desire have inscribed their names on its pages the book will resume its journeys around the country. The album is the property of Lydia J. King, of Hawthorne, Nev., who started it on its tour of the country in March, 1897, with the request, printed on the cover, that all railway and mail clerks and postoffice employes sign it, stamp the date and send it along again.

The book has been all over the west wherever the mail is carried; has been in hold-ups, washouts, wrecks and cyclones, and, while bearing on the cover the marks of its adventures, the contents are protected by the heavy binding and are in good condition. Some of the clerks who signed the book paused long enough in their work of handling the mail to tride with the muse. One railway mail clerk on a western run wrote beneath his name:

Standing by the car windows,
Watching the distant hills,
I have been wondering, Lydia,
How I can pay my bills.

The postal clerk on the run from Omaha to Ogden acknowledges responsibility for the following:

We, who have tried and tried again
To "split the wood" to suit,
Say, when a Manila mail comes nigh,
Please send us some subs-to-toot.

The volume was in a hold-up near Cheyenne, Wyo., on June 1 last. W. G. Bruce, one of the clerks concerned, wrote under his name:

"If these signatures are somewhat shaky, you must excuse us, as we have just been held up by five masked highwaymen at Wilcox. Mail car door shattered and baggage car blown to pieces."

Miss King has not seen the book since she sent it out nearly five years ago, but receives reports of its travels from time to time, and will not call it in until every page is covered.

Law Against Bachelors.

From the New York Times.

A stringent law against bachelors has recently been promulgated in one of the states forming the Argentine Republic.

A man is marriageable in Argentina when he is 20. If, from that date, and till he passes his thirtieth birthday, he wishes to remain single, he must pay $1 a month to the state. For the next five years the tax increases 100 per cent.

Between 35 and 50 the bachelor is mulcted to the tune of $4 a month. From his fiftieth year to 75 it is a month is the tax. Having reached the seventy-fifth year, relief finally comes, and the tax becomes nominal, being reduced to $2 a year. After 80 a man can remain single without paying anything.

There is a paragraph relating to widowers, who are given three years in which to mourn and pick a successor.

A man who can prove that he has proposed and been refused three times in one year is also considered to have earned immunity from taxation.

It is said that the law works like a charm.

RING COULD SEE DEFEAT COMING

The Heavy Vote Was Noticed by the Machine That It Was Losing.

ATTEMPTS AT FRAUD

Most Flagrant Violation of the Law by the Gang Was at the City Hall Polling Place in the Third Ward.

Machine men were conceding defeat early in the day. The large vote being polled was noticed to them that the men who usually refrain from exercising their right of suffrage were at the polls, supporting the straight Citizen ticket. There is every reason for believing that the poll of February will be exceeded and the entire vote in the county will be upward of 125,000.

There was a funereal air about the machine headquarters in Sixth avenue. The blinds were drawn and the heavy front doors were locked. There was no one on duty to give advice or council to muddled ringsters. It was different with the Citizens and Democrats. William Hays and Andrew Fulton were on duty at the Third avenue headquarters and had their force of lawyers to assist any fusionists whom the machine endeavored to intimidate. R. H. Douglas, George Horton, W. S. Woods, George H. Stengel, Charles S. Crawford and W. G. Negley.

Samuel J. Graham was in charge at Democratic headquarters and with him was Secretary Fagan. George W. Guthrie, the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, was also there for a while and spent the balance of the time at his law offices.

Had Good Legal Talent.

Chairman Graham had these lawyers to assist in case their services were needed: D. T. Watson, Charles A. Fagan and W. J. Brennen. There were several instances during the day when the lawyers had to go to the relief of Citizens and Democrats, whose rights had been challenged by the machine.

The first call Chairman Hays had was from the fourth district of the Thirteenth ward. There some ringsters had carried off the ballot box before the polls opened. Hays instructed the fusionists to get a store box. His advice was taken and soon an indignant people were registering their condemnation of machine rule.

Later in the morning, James Glenn and another Citizen worker in the Seventh ward were arrested on some charge trumped up by the machine. They were taken before Judge McClung, who promptly discharged them. Considering the great interest in the election and the large vote being polled, there was little trouble throughout the county. The reports showed that the people were silently going to the polls, voting and going away. In some sections there was a good deal of cutting, but generally the electors appeared to be putting in the straight ballot.

Trouble at City Hall.

The most flagrant violation of the law appears to have occurred at the Third ward polling place in City hall. It is charged that the machine men in charge of the polls would not recognize opposition watchers or overseers and ejected them. At noon 265 votes had been cast which is about the total strength of the district. The fusionists say that this indicates fraud and arrests will follow.

In the East End wards, where such heavy majorities were given the Citizens in February, the vote is larger than in the spring. This warned the machine that the margin for fusion will be just so much greater. The South Side also made the same kind of reports. James W. Brown, the Citizen nominee for congressman in the Thirty-second district, was at headquarters during the afternoon. He said that the reports from his district indicated the heaviest vote ever polled there. On the South Side, he is satisfied that he is running far ahead of his opponent. Mr. Brown is deputy grand master of the grand lodge of Masons, and with George W. Guthrie of the grand lodge, and D. F. Collingwood of a local lodge, all members of the reception committee that will welcome President Roosevelt to Philadelphia today, went to the Quaker city last night. Mr. Guthrie will respond to the toast "Washington," at the banquet there tonight in honor of Roosevelt.

Confident of the Eighth.

Fred W. Edwards, the machine manager of the Eighth legislative district, has made a hard fight to control his district, but reports from there yesterday received by Mr. Graham indicate that he will lose. Late in the afternoon Mr. Graham said that if the machine majority in Braddock could be held down to 200, and he thought it could, the Citizens would carry the Eighth district. His reports from McKeesport, East Pittsburgh, Wilkinsburg and other strong centers of population show that the Citizens polled a heavy vote. Graham claims that Attison will have a majority of 500 in Braddock. He says that Homestead will support the Citizens ticket.

In Allegheny a big vote was polled, but there were no reports of trouble. The great fight over there is between George Shiras III. and W. H. Graham, for congress. The heavy poll is an indication that the people who do not usually participate in elections have rallied to the support of Shiras, and his election was anticipated even by machine men. Citizens say he will have at least 5,000 majority.

In the county the voting is as strong as in the cities. In some cases the machine harassed the former by compelling them to return to their homes, often a distance of three or four miles, to get their tax receipts. The agriculturalist always went back and put in a straight vote against the machine.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—Count and Countess Boni de Castellane entertained King Carlos of Portugal at a shooting party yesterday at Chateau Marnis, near St. Cheron. The bag included 401 pheasants, 25 partridges and 20 hares.

This entertainment was followed by a grand ball given by the Castellanes' guests included the Count and Countess D'Haussonville, the Marquis de Breteuil, the Duke and Duchess de Rehan, the Duchess de Luynes, Prince Lucien Murat, Prince Gontaut-Biron, the Marquis and Marchioness Castellane, Count and Countess Stanislas de Castellane and M. Jean Bereaud, the painter.

King Carlos and the other guests of the Count and countess returned to Paris on a special train at midnight.

Census Costs 15.5 Cents a Head.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—The cost of the temporary work of the eleventh census, according to the directors' annual report, was $11,854,818, or an average cost of 15.5 cents a head of the population of the United States.

Chakrabongse Sails Away.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Prince Chakrabongse, brother of the crown prince of Siam, sailed today on the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse for Bremen.

POLICE ACTIVITY IN INTERESTS OF RING

Many Arrests Made and Prisoners Were Hustled to the County Jail.

The part that the police were cast to play in yesterday's election is shown by the fact that nearly 60 men were arrested on charges of fraudulent voting. The informations in these cases were made by ring representatives before Magistrate McKenna, a ring Democrat.

As soon as the men were arrested in the downtown districts, they were immediately committed to jail, being given no opportunity to get bail. This prevented these men from working at the polls for the rest of the day.

Carlo de Fazen, an Italian, who boarded at No. 525 Sixth avenue, attempted to vote at the booth in the Second district of the Fifth ward and was intercepted by Felix Amania, who claimed that he had voted in the First district of that ward during the morning. He was taken to the Central police station, information was made against him, and he was committed to jail.

William Scott and David Thompson, both colored and members of the Citizens party, were arrested two hours after the polls were opened on warrants issued by Police Magistrate McKenna on the information of George W. Elliott, a ringster. Both were committed to jail in default of $1,000 bail.

Charles Typhen was arrested on the information of John Thompson before Magistrate McKenna, charging him with illegal voting. He is alleged to have voted in the Tenth ward when he only moved there from the Seventh ward on Saturday.

The machine resorted to all sorts of methods to decrease the Citizens vote during the day. Early yesterday morning Detectives Swinehart and Hitchcliffe arrested 38 men at the Hope Mission on charges of being suspicious persons. The ring plot was a desperate one. The 38 inmates were alleged to have declared themselves for the Citizens party. Charles Martin, a ring worker, went to the lodging house and after he was there a short time claimed that he lost his watch and chain. The matter was reported to Officer James Dwyer and word was sent to the Central police station. Detectives Swinehart and Hinchcliffe went to the lodging house and placed the men in custody. Yesterday morning these officers failed to appear at the hearing against the prisoners and they were held over until the hearing this morning.

Recorder Brown, Superintendent McAleese and Magistrate McKenna remained at the police station all day. These officers kept in constant communication with all the police stations in the city. In the early part of the day everything seemed to be going peacefully. There were several conflicts among the workers, but none of them were of a serious nature.

The ward leaders frequently called at the police station to see the recorder. Later in the afternoon he left and went to his office in City hall.

VOTES ARE PURCHASED AT BOOTH'S ENTRANCE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4.—Several fist fights occurred at voting places in the North End today. Two men were arrested for intimidating voters, and quite a number of negroes openly sold their votes.

John Pryor, Democrat, knocked down Charles Riehl, assistant prosecuting attorney, a Republican challenger, because he interfered with a voter. Both were arrested, but released on bond.

The votes of several negroes were purchased at $2 and $3 each. Some of these voters were bought boldly at the entrance to the booths. At one booth a Democrat offered a negro $2 and was about to vote him, when a Republican raised the price to $3. The Republican was sent sprawling with a fist blow.

County Prosecutor Hadley complained to Chief Hayes that Patrolman Bert Brannon was intimidating voters, and the officer was taken off duty. N. P. Rogers, a young man, also was arrested for intimidation.

ROOSEVELT VOTES.

Has Considerable Handshaking to Do Before and After.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Nov. 4.—President Roosevelt cast his vote in the Fifth district of Nassau county a few minutes before 11 o'clock. As he returned from the booth the president said:

"I have done all I can do now. I have performed my duty and exercised my privilege as an American citizen, and I shall now await the full returns."

He then started on a long drive with Mrs. Roosevelt. It was 10:48 o'clock when the president and Mrs. Roosevelt drove up to the polling place in a trap drawn by a pair of bays. A big crowd had been awaiting his arrival for an hour. He was joined by Assistant Secretary Loeb and James K. Gracie, an uncle of the president. Mr. Roosevelt cordially greeted several of his personal friends and acquaintances in the crowd and then proceeded to the voting place, which was in a hall over a fish market and a Chinese laundry.

After shaking hands with the judges and clerks of election, the president cast his ballot. He then informally greeted many of his friends who had assembled, and as he drove away the crowd cheered him heartily.

Election returns were received tonight by special wire at the executive offices in the Oyster Bay bank building.

OHIO DOCTOR DEAD.

Takes Morphine in New York, Then Tells Daughter About It—Unable to Save Him.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Dr. C. I. Cook said to have practiced medicine in Ohio for 30 years, is dead at the New York hospital from morphine poisoning. He was 71 years old.

On Sunday he called at the home of his daughter and announced that he had taken morphine and would soon be dead. A physician was called, but found no traces of poison.

Several hours later Cook began to show signs that he had told the truth. He was hurriedly taken to the hospital, but all efforts to restore him proved unavailable.

PEOPLE FLED IN TIME.

Earthquake Drives Them from Langer Just Before Eruption.

GUATAMALA CITY, Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The recent eruption of the Santa Maria volcano caused little loss of life. When the earthquake shocks began the day before the eruption, the inhabitants of the surrounding country fled, leaving about all of their possessions behind.

The country for a radius of 15 miles around the volcano is covered with stones and ashes several feet deep. Fully 1,000,000 mules, cattle and sheep perished.

William Redmond in Jail.

DUBLIN, Nov. 4.—William Redmond was arrested on his arrival at Kingstown today and was taken to Kilmainham jail. Mr. Redmond, several months ago, made a speech at Wexford which was said to be incendiary. He was ordered by the court of the King's bench to give bail for $1,000 for his future good behavior. This he refused to do and the court sentenced him to six months imprisonment.

LAST FIGHT WAS DESPERATE ONE

Machine Resorted to All Kinds of Tactics in the Hill Wards.

POLLING PLACE CLOSED

Ring Judge of Elections Staved Off Tidal Wave in Seventh Ward by Closing Polls for Five Hours—Many Arrests.

In the hill district the machine fought with the desperation of despair. Every device that corruption could suggest was resorted to in the frantic attempts of the ring heelers to carry that section of the city. Where they lost hope of getting the vote they began bulldozing tactics at the polls.

In the Seventh ward there was disorder in every precinct, and in the Second district the polls were closed for five hours, when it was seen that the Citizens were turning out in large numbers. Benjamin Amdursky, a machine judge, closed the polls at 8 o'clock, when a ring voter was challenged. The man had attempted to vote on the wrong name, and when the minority inspector of elections interposed Amdursky said that if the challenged voter could not vote he would allow no one else to cast a ballot.

Defiance Was Open.

The doors were closed and guarded by police until nearly 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Throughout the morning the crowd increased and when the balloting was resumed over 200 men were in line, waiting to get inside the voting booths. Great excitement prevailed and two constables, James E. Glenn and John Feigenbaum, were arrested on bench warrants by two deputy sheriffs, but later released by Judge McClung.

The voting in the afternoon was a farce. The men were admitted into the room in bunches of three and marched down a gauntlet of four policemen. Every man was challenged. He had to produce a tax receipt, and, in many cases, was asked for a voucher. One man brought his marriage license and another satisfied the officers as to his identity by showing a number of letters which he had received from his best girl. Five minutes more were required in cutting the ballot from the sheet and in folding it. Only one man was admitted at a time behind the rail. At 3 o'clock 56 ballots had been cast and there were 300 men outside clamoring for a chance to vote.

Disfranchised the Voters.

"When only 10 men an hour are permitted to vote, how do you expect the majority of that crowd outside to exercise their franchise?" asked a reporter for The Gazette of one of the election officers.

"Oh, they can vote next year," he replied.

Matthew Bell, a Citizens watcher, was arrested in the same precinct during the afternoon. The arrest was unprovoked, and was but a sample of the machine's plan of intimidation.

In the Eleventh and Thirteenth wards the election was unusually quiet. There was very little cutting. The voting in the Eighth ward was the heaviest in its history. Here the Citizens made progress against obstinate odds, and the leaders declared that majorities in the First, Second and Fifth precincts would give the clean government party enough votes to carry the ward by more than 100.

Arrests More Frequent.

It was no game of ping-pong in the Sixth ward. James Clair, an officer in the sanitary bureau and a ring watcher in the Fourth precinct, it is alleged, drew a handybilly on Constable James Butler. Both men were locked up in No. 2 police station. Butler was released on bail furnished by Alderman John A. Martin.

The Fifth ward sustained its reputation for election disturbances. Carlo De Fazio, of No. 525 Sixth avenue, is alleged to have voted at the First district of the Fifth ward and later attempted to help things along by voting in the Second district. At the latter place Samuel Saluto vouched for him and both were arrested. William Scott, giving his residence as No. 1030 Basin alley, voted in the Fourth precinct of the Seventh ward, and was vouched for by David Thomas. It was alleged that Scott moved to Allegheny six months ago and has no residence in the district. An information was made against both men.

E. J. Syphan, of No. 1155½ Wylie avenue, voted in the Third district of the Seventh ward, and it is alleged by John Sharp that he lives in the Fourth district and that he knowingly cast an illegal ballot. All the men were committed to jail in default of bail for a hearing before Magistrate Bernard McKenna.

THREE MEN INJURED, TWO OF THEM MAY DIE

KILLED BY ROBBERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Charles H. Bohlens, a real estate dealer, was shot and killed by robbers in a saloon here early today.

Bohlens and Benjamin Marovigila, proprietors of the saloon, were preparing to go home when four masked men, with revolvers drawn, entered. Two of them rifled the cash register.

BOY FATALLY SHOT AT DANCING PARTY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALTOONA, PA., Nov. 4.—A fatal shooting, surrounded by considerable mystery and with numerous complications yet to be solved by the police occurred last night. Ambrose Gehl, a 15-year-old boy, who resides with his stepfather, Jacob Schmidt, at No. 2927 Broad avenue, was the victim. He was shot in the neck directly above the breast bone and died at 11:20. Two boys, Blaine and William Dodson, aged 16 and 19 respectively, and Mrs. Rachel Brode and Mrs. Lizzie Shambaugh are under arrest charged with the crime. The boys and Mrs. Shambaugh are cousins and Mrs. Brode is their aunt.

Mrs. Brode gave a party at her home. William Dodson furnished music on a mouth organ for the dancing. A crowd of boys collected outside the house, peering in the windows. The warmth of the house drove the dancers out on the porch. The crowd of boys commenced throwing small stones and pieces of wood. The Dodson boys ran into the house and procured a revolver, firing into the crowd. Young Gehl fell mortally wounded.

The revolver, with three empty shells, was found locked in Mrs. Brode's trunk. The women say the Dodson boys did the shooting. A post mortem examination of Gehl's body has been ordered by Coroner McCartney, who will hold an inquest later. The boys and women are held without bail until tomorrow, when they will be given a preliminary examination.

WOMEN SUFFRAGISTS BUSY IN WISCONSIN

Several Thousand Cast Their Votes and Some Were Sworn In.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LA CROSSE, WIS., Nov. 4.—For the first time in the history of Wisconsin women entered the polling places and cast their ballots today. Under a law passed at the last session of the legislature women were given the right to vote on school questions, and for the candidates for school offices. Hence they are voting today for the state superintendent of schools, the county superintendent of schools and on an amendment changing the term of office for school superintendent.

Much interest has been manifested in the election by club women, but it has gone little farther than these circles.

At West Superior a number of school teachers who had not registered went to the trouble of swearing in their votes.

In Milwaukee nearly 2,000 votes were cast by women, and women votes were registered in nearly every town in the state.

WATCHING VENEZUELA

United States Consular Agent Held Up for Forced Loan—British Subject Rescued.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—On complaint from United States Consular Agent Ignacio Baiz at Barcelona, Venezuela, that he had been subjected to a forced loan, United States Minister Bowen at Caracas has dispatched the United States steamer Marietta from La Guayra to Guanto, the nearest point to Barcelona, to investigate.

The consular agent has held his place for 21 years and is a native of St. Thomas. He has suffered before from extortion during the progress of the rebellion in Venezuela and has been relieved as the result of intervention of the state department.

Through the state department the British government has formally returned thanks to Capt. McLean, formerly commanding the Cincinnati, for the good offices extended by him to a British citizen, Charles Babb, who had been forcibly impressed into the service of the rebels at Barcelona, Venezuela.

Hearing of the case from another British subject, Capt. McLean went with the Cincinnati from La Guayra to Guanta, 12 miles distant from Barcelona, proceeded inland to the rebel headquarters and secured the release of Babb, whom he brought away with him.

CUTS DOWN IMPORTS.

Belgian Glass Workers Get Wage Advance—Jobbers Still in Trouble.

President Simon Burns of the Window Glass Workers yesterday received a cable dispatch from Edmond Gilles, president of the Belgium window glass workers, announcing that the men have been granted an advance of 15 per cent. The new scale is to go into effect as of November 1. There was fear of a disagreement bringing a strike. The effect of the higher wages will keep down the importation of glass here, but will, at the same time, prevent immigration of skilled workers much needed here.

The differences among the window glass jobbers have not yet been settled and President W. E. Gray has called a meeting, to take place in Pittsburgh next Monday. This may result in a new compact to maintain prices, together with an agreement not to buy glass from independent concerns which sell direct to the trade and thereby upset the market. There are also rumors that the jobbers' association may go to pieces.

Driver Fatally Injured.

John J. Shields, 40 years old, of No. 214 Penn avenue, a driver for Marvin's bakery, was fatally injured yesterday shortly before noon in a collision between his delivery wagon and a car of the Pittsburgh Railways Company in Braddock avenue, near Fern Hollow bridge. The wagon was overturned and wrecked. Shields fell under it and five ribs were broken. He was badly cut about the body. He was sent to the Mercy hospital, where it was stated that there is little prospects of his recovery. The car had its cab demolished.

..... A. D., one thousand nine hundred and two, between the city of Allegheny (hereinafter called the "city"), as first party, and the Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a corporation under the laws of the state of Pennsylvania (hereinafter called "railroad company"), as second party, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a like corporation, lessee of said Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company and joining herein to express its consent to the making of this contract (hereinafter called "lessee"), as third party, Witnesseth:

Whereas, The railroad of the said railroad company enters the limits of the said city and the tracks of the said railroad within the limits of said city are laid across a number of public streets at grade; and

Whereas, The said railroad company contemplates a change of a portion of its said railroad by elevating its tracks in such manner as to reduce the number of grade crossings and thereby secure the safety of lives and property and promote the interests of said city, and the said city, deeming said change and elevation and reduction of grade crossings resulting therefrom adapted to secure and promote the best interests of the city and of the public, is willing that such change be made; and

Whereas, The said city has heretofore, by written agreement, given its consent to the Pennsylvania Company, operating the railway of the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railway Company, to relocate, change, elevate and depress its said railroad in said city, between McClure avenue and the Allegheny river bridge; and

Whereas, In and by said recited agreement between the city and the Pennsylvania Company, more particularly in the twentieth and twenty-first paragraphs thereof, provision is made that the tracks of the railroad company shall be raised to an elevation corresponding to that provided in said contract for the tracks of the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railway Company, crossing Anderson and Sandusky streets, and that the said Railroad company should never construct any of the tracks at any grade other than that fixed by the said contract at Anderson street or Sandusky street, or any street west thereof;

NOW THIS AGREEMENT WITNESSETH:

First. The said city hereby assents and agrees that the said railroad company may change the elevation of its tracks between a point about two hundred (200) feet east of Bridge street and the eastern line or side of Federal street, as follows:

Gradually ascending from the point first above mentioned, proceeding westwardly, the tracks shall cross Bridge street at eight tenths (0.8) of a foot above the present grade;

Still ascending, said tracks shall cross McFadden street on a bridge of iron or steel at an elevation of seven (7) feet above the present grade of McFadden street;

Still ascending, and proceeding westwardly, the tracks shall cross over Pine street, at an elevation above the present grade of said Pine street to give a minimum clearance of twelve (12) feet, to under side of bridge; and shall cross over Sycamore street with a minimum clearance of thirteen (13) feet above the present grade, and over Chestnut street with a minimum clearance of twelve and four-tenths (12.4) feet above the present grade, and over Madison avenue with a minimum clearance of thirteen (13) feet above the present grade and shall connect with the tracks of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company, as elevated under the above recited agreement, with the city, at or near the eastern end of the present freight station of the railroad company; proceeding thence over Anderson and Sandusky streets to the eastern line of Federal street with a minimum clearance of thirteen feet at said Sandusky and Anderson streets.

And the city agrees that the said railroad company may elevate, construct, maintain and operate its tracks upon the grade and elevations hereinbefore described, and for this purpose to make, construct and maintain all necessary bridges, piers, posts, pillars, abutments or other work or appliances which may be necessary or proper for this purpose, at the proper cost and expense of the said railroad company. The said railroad company shall also have the right, if in its judgment the same may be necessary, to place within the curb lines of each of the streets in this contract named iron or steel columns to support said bridges.

Second. That so much of McFadden street under the tracks of said railroad company shall be changed as follows: Commencing at the present line of said street at the south side of said tracks, thence to a point at the north side of said tracks twenty-five (25) feet westwardly from the present line of said street; and the said city shall depress the grade of said McFadden street about five (5) feet, so as to give a clearance of ten (10) feet to the under side of said bridge over said street, and revise the grade of the approach to said McFadden street as far as may be required by the aforesaid depression of grade of five (5) feet at the railroad crossing. And said city shall pass all necessary ordinances to establish such grade, and to provide for the grading of said street to said new grade.

Third. Said railroad company agrees to pay the cost of grading and paving McFadden street to said new grade within the limits of said change of grade as by ordinance, and to indemnify and save the city harmless from all lawful claims for damage to property occasioned by or growing out of the said change of grade.

Fourth. The railroad company agrees, at its own cost and expense, to construct and maintain the abutments, necessary supports and superstructures, which, pursuant to this agreement, will be required to carry its tracks between the points designated and at the elevations described —Facing the abutments at Anderson and Sandusky streets with light colored brick. It further agrees to raise the existing stone wall on Ohio street three feet above its present level and to construct thereon a good and substantial fence to be satisfactory to the director of the department of public works of the city of Allegheny, and to maintain the same in perpetual good condition.

Fifth. The said lessee joins as a party hereto for the sole purpose of expressing its consent to the making of this contract.

Sixth. This agreement shall extend to and bind the parties hereto, their successors and assigns respectively.

PITTSBURGH'S STAR ELEVEN FOUND THE QUAKERS EASY

AMERICAN OFFICIALS DENY PITTSBURGH FRANCHISE

THE PITTSBURGH STARS WON GAME

Quakers Put Up Stubborn Game but Were Outclassed.

THREE PLAYERS HURT

For two and a half hours yesterday afternoon 4,000 people forgot all about the election and the excitement attendant thereto and watched the all-star football elevens representing this city and Philadelphia put up a contest that was better than the one being waged at the polling places. When the specified playing time of 55 minutes was over the official record showed that the victory belonged to the Pittsburgh stars by a score of 18 to 0.

No turnout to witness the contest was the largest of the season, and it was a typical football crowd. There was hardly one among them that did not know the fine points of the game and was, therefore, in a position to applaud each good play made, no matter whether it was by a local or visiting player. Of course the majority were there to root for the local team, but the visitors were not without a fair share of admirers, and although outplayed at all points of the game, still there were times when some individual work called for recognition.

Were Too Good for Quakers.

There was really not much to the game—that is, in the playing line—outside the local team, and after they had scored their first touchdown after about five minutes of play, the only question was the size of the score. The Quakers played very much as though they were lacking in condition, because an almost every down they would delay matters in an evident attempt to rest up. Their work during almost the entire time was very much in keeping with the name applied to the city they represent—very slow.

The nearest the visitors came to scoring was in the second half, when they worked the ball down to the locals' 15-yard line, and at this point Richardson's men braced up and held for downs. On three different occasions did the visitors get close enough to the goal posts to try for field goals, but two of them were blocked and the other one missed the crossbar by not more than half a foot. The Quakers' offensive work was not quite so good as their defense, still the locals found them easy at times and plowed right through the tackles and guards.

Poe Again Shows His Skill.

Little Arthur Poe, the ex-Princeton star, had on his football togs for the first time this season, and his work at right end was one of the features of the game. There was hardly a play that he was not in on, and he was he tackled and threw runners twice as large as himself. No other player to win the crowd's admiration was McChesney, who was at halfback, and whose runs of 20, 35 and 38 yards brought out ringing cheers. In the line Kerkhoff and Ellis were wonders at tearing holes through the opposition, thus making a path for the man with the ball. It was on an opening prepared by Kerkhoff, Ellis and McNulty that McChesney shot through and made a 35-yard run for the locals' second touchdown.

The contest was so fierce that it was but natural that some players would be injured, and this list included Crollius and Ellis of the locals and Roller of the visitors. Crollius was kicked in the side and the crowd blamed Roller for it and demanded that he be put out of the game, but the advice was not followed. Ellis strained his arm and Roller's neck got such a twist in a scrimmage in the second half that it is feared his collarbone is dislocated. The contest was presided over by Dr. William Church of Princeton, whose rulings were always fair and impartial.

The Start of the Game.

It was just 3:28 when Richardson kicked off to Roller, who was downed on his 21-yard line without much gain. Roller and Battersby made four yards, and Lang, breaking through, blocked Roller's punt, Poe getting the ball on the 20-yard mark. After good gains by Ellis he fumbled the ball, and the visitors had it on their own 10-yard line. Barrett went around right end for 14 yards, and Roller lost his sweater in making eight yards. Roller's punt was again blocked, and Crollius secured the ball for Pittsburgh on the 32-yard mark. McChesney, the star ground gainer of the game, circled opponents' left end for 22 yards. Schrontz regained Lawler's fumble on the third down, but Pittsburgh retained the ball on off-side play. Ellis, in two hard bucks, carried the pigskin over for a touchdown, 10 minutes after the start of play. Richardson kicked goal, and the score was 6 to 0.

Wood kicked off to Crollius and McChesney punted back to Battersby, who made 15 yards to the center of the field. Schrontz got Battersby for a 12-yard loss. There was an exchange of punts, and finally McChesney made a run of 22 yards, and a minute later the same player went through a hole made in the left side of Philadelphia's line by Lawler and Lang, for 25 yards and the second touchdown. Richardson kicked goal, and the score was 12 to 0. This was all the scoring in the first half.

Was Played in the Dark.

The second half was played in semi-darkness, a heavy fog settling over the grounds, and it was difficult to distinguish the players. There were no police for the side lines, and the crowd caused much trouble by breaking over the field. Philadelphia at the start played their strongest and took the ball on downs after Pittsburgh had made but 10 yards from the kick-off. Splendid line bucking by Teas took the ball 25 yards, but Pittsburgh held on the locals' 15-yard line. Barrett made 20 yards before being downed from McChesney's punt on Pittsburgh's 40-yard line. McChesney punted soon after and the ball was given to Pittsburgh 28 yards from the line on Gelbert's holding of Poe. Ellis, playing a magnificent game, broke through the line and went 15 yards for the last score, shaking the tacklers off as he ran. Richardson made the tally read 18 to 0 with his unerring toe.

Philadelphia managed to work the ball to within 25 yards of a score. Roller having made eight yards on a terrific rush, went out with a collar bone dislocated, while Ellis retired with a wrenched arm. Freed went in for Roller and Matthewson for Ellis. Miller blocked Woods' punt and Poe made a 35-yard run with the ball. The game ended here with the ball on Philadelphia's 35-yard line. The score and line-up:

THE ATHLETICS WON BY A SMALL MARGIN

Connie Mack's Team Was Given a Bad Scare by the Orange Eleven.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—The Athletics and Orange A. C. football team had a battle royal at Columbia ball park today and after a most desperate struggle the Bunkers gained a victory by the score of 12 to 5. The first half was one of the hardest fought contests ever witnessed here and for a time it looked as if the Jerseyites would score, as they kept the ball in the home team's territory most of the time, but costly fumbles by Trent spoiled their chances. The Athletics finally tried end plays and on two runs of 15 and 28 yards by Dugan and Sternberg, made their first touchdown. Davidson kicked the goal.

In the second half the Athletics scored their final touchdown after three minutes of play on a fumble by the visitors on Thomason's punt on the 10-yard line, the Athletics having no trouble in pushing the ball over the line from that point. Schaefter fumbled the kick-off and Smith got the ball for Orange on the 25-yard line and after making no gain Schreiber tried a drop kick for goal, landing the ball squarely between the posts. C. will play the Crescents next Saturday at Wilkinsburg. Following is score and line-up:

CALLED THE GAME OFF.

Philadelphia Stars Will Not Meet W. U. P.—Roller's Injury Is Serious.

The Philadelphia National League football team will not meet the W. U. P. eleven at the Colosseum tomorrow, as per agreement. The Philadelphians called the game off and started for home last night, much to the regret of the W. U. P. management.

The reason for this was due to the defeat suffered by the Quakers yesterday who claim their players are too badly used up to attempt another contest so soon. It was stated last night that Roller, who was hurt in the second half of the contest and had to retire, had suffered a partial fracture of the right collarbone and would not be able to play any more football this season. Roller's injury was sustained in a scrimmage when he was trying to advance the ball through the Pittsburgh line.

The W. U. P. will now get ready for the game with the Ohio university team at the Colosseum on Saturday. This game promises to be a warm one, as the Ohioans are said to be very strong.

An Ugly Runaway at Oakley.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—An accident occurred in the second race at Latonia today. The field, which was started in front of the grandstand, carried away the webbing of the starting barrier, and several horses ran a half mile tangled in the rubber. The assistant starter was knocked senseless.

MANY COACHES FOR THE BLUE ELEVEN

Walter Camp Was Out on Crutches—Harvard and Pennsy Ready for Game.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 4.—Walter Camp, Yale's head coach, came out to the Yale field today on crutches. His dislocated knee has kept him in the house only two days. He watched from the side lines the formations of which he is the author. Fifteen coaches were present including Pfil and George Stellman, Adee, Butterworth, Swan, Graves, Bull, Cutten, Brown, Chamberlain, Charley Chadwick, McBride, Hubbell, Hartwell and Mr. Camp.

One of the peculiar features of the practice was that while six coaches lined up against the scrubs in uniform, Capt. Chadwick was in citizen's clothing. He has a bad shoulder and will be given a few days' rest. The scrubs scored twice on the regulars today, both Donahue, quarterback, and Vanderpool, fullback, getting through the regulars' rush line for 30-yard runs. Kinney, whose knee was wrenched yesterday, did not play, but Coffin, who was hurt yesterday, was able to line up.

Fighting Ticket Speculators.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—While there was light practice at the football grounds today, all interest was centered on the war that has broken out between Harvard's graduate athletic management and football ticket speculators. Graduate Manager Blythe has developed a strangle hold on the speculators and will knock out traffic in seats for the Pennsylvania game. Almost all of the center sections have been reserved for graduates, who sign for each allotment. Hereafter, seats thus sold found in the hand of the speculator bars the graduate purchaser from subsequent allotments. Then it has been decided to build no end seats, and the speculators are knocked out.

Amused at Harvard's Cry.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Practice of the University of Pennsylvania team was later today than usual, owing to Franklin Field being monopolized between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m. by the scrub and Consolidated players in a match game. Coach Williams took advantage of the limited time and gave the candidates rapid work. Only a few of the formations that are to be tried against Harvard were rehearsed. Bennett, who did such brilliant work Saturday, was again out, but very sore about the body. The remainder of the team is in fair shape. The reported crippled condition of the Harvard team since Penn's victory over Columbia caused no little amusement today at Franklin field.

There Is Gloom at Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 4.—With Coaches Beacham and Reed absent, with Capt. Warner at home, and with half a dozen other 'varsity men out of the line, the practice today was very discouraging and poor. The best that the 'varsity could do was to secure one touchdown, which was on the scratch order. The scrubs, on the other hand, while securing no scores, were able to do great damage to the first eleven's line. Davitt at center received a severe reprimand today by being ordered to give way to Moxley in the midst of a scrimmage. The big hammer thrower had Davitt at his mercy and outplayed him at every point. The eleven seems to have lost their spirit since the Princeton game.

Another race between local horses, "Billy" and "Maud M." was won by the former in five hard heats, Billy winning the first, fourth and fifth.

NO FRANCHISE FOR TEAM HERE

Ban Jonhson Still Claims Leach, Conroy and Smith.

SURE OF NEW YORK

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4.—The story from Pittsburgh that Charles J. Pedder of that city had practically secured an American league franchise for Pittsburgh is contradicted by Harry Killilea of this city. Mr. Killilea says Detroit will be retained by the league.

Mr. Killilea also says he is back of no syndicate to control baseball in the east, as he is satisfied with his Boston interests.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—"We are going into New York next season without a doubt," said President Ban Johnson, who returned this morning after an absence of over a week in the east, where he has been on business connected with the American league.

"We are not ready to give out the location of our grounds there, because that would be of no advantage to us and would only serve to give the enemy a chance to get to us. We have never been in the habit of disclosing our locations in other cities, and it will not be wise for us to do so in this case. Whenever we have given out that we're going to go into a town we have always made good the announcement, and we will do so this time. The American league has not laid out $20,000 for ground leases and advance salaries for nothing.

"There is no truth to the story that we are going into Pittsburgh instead of New York, as some of the papers have printed. When the season opens next spring you will find us in New York.

"The list of players that I have given out is correct, and every man that is on that has signed an air-tight contract, with the ten-day clause cut out. If they can get out of that baseball contracts are not much good. McGraw has been making many claims that you will find are false when the time comes. Leach, Conroy and Smith, of the Pittsburgh team, signed with us in August, and I have their contracts in my desk now and their receipts there for $1,000 advance each. When the time comes they will be found playing in the American league."

BACK TO WORK AGAIN.

The Wash.-Jeff. Players Will Get Busy Today.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—There was no regular football practice again today for the Washington and Jefferson players, although some of the men appeared on the field in uniform. Many of the men did not return until tonight and the regular practice will be resumed tomorrow afternoon. There has been no game arranged here for tomorrow, as was expected last week, as the players have not had enough practice to warrant their going into a contest.

Every effort will be made to get the men into condition by the last of the week, when they meet Cornell university. Loucks, the husky center, who has been ill at his home at Scottdale, returned to Washington this afternoon and stated that he had about recovered and would be able to get into the playing the last of the week. Hayes, Heimberger and Murphy are still out of town, but are expected back in college in the morning.

Highland won the spring match on its home course, but Allegheny was generally considered impregnable on the hilly Sewickley links. The result furnished many surprises. STRIKERS GAIN A POINT.

Flints Turn New Men Away From Washington Factories—Fire Not Incendiary.

It was reported yesterday to headquarters of the American Flint Glass Workers' union that 22 skilled men, coming from Philadelphia to take the places of the strikers at the three factories in Washington, Pa., of the Hazel Glass Company, were turned back. James Carr of the executive board of the flints, reported that the men had been induced to attend a meeting of the strikers and promptly consented to return home. He says the men declared they had been told that they were to come to a new factory. Carr said yesterday:

"Our strike is for recognition and the scale of our union, the demand being made when all the employes of the factories were brought into the organization. The factories now have some skilled men working teaching new men, but production is not above 15 per cent of what it should be.

"Reports that the strikers had something to do with the fire at one of the factories the other night are without foundation. The watchman told me that it was caused by an overheated gas stove and did little damage.

Mrs. Rockwell will not say whether she proposes to contest the will.

PRICE RECORDS ARE BROKEN IN GRANT STREET PURCHASE

P., C. & Y. Railroad Pays $20,000 for Right of Way on Neville Island—Two Residences in East End Change Owners.

Attorney W. L. Sloan has sold the property at No. 518 Grant street for $20,000 to the purchaser being D. L. Parks. The deal is credited to the Union Realty Company. The lot has a frontage of 24 feet on the east side of Grant street, about half-way between Fifth and Webster avenues, and a depth of 100 feet. It is improved with an old three-story brick building which has little value for sale purposes. This sale, at the rate of $2,291 a front foot, smashes all previous price records for Grant street realty and may be regarded as a direct outcome of the "hump" agitation, which has recently been renewed, and of the improvement made or contemplated by H. C. Frick. Shortly before Mr. Frick bought the cathedral property the Sloan lot was on the market at $800 a front foot, and the Sloan lot adjoining it was sold about the same time for about $900 a foot. This shows an enhancement of nearly 200 per cent in less than two years, with no marked improvement in the property itself to be given as a reason for the rise.

A Railroad Settlement.

The Pittsburgh, Chartiers & Youghiogheny Railroad Company has settled for another property along its right of way in Neville township by the payment of about $20,000, or $2,000 an acre. The property in question is 10 acres belonging to Henry Eckert and the settlement was effected through E. C. Kleinman. This is about the only property, it is said, on the six miles of right of way across Neville Island which the railroad had not previously secured. The railroad is already built through this property and will connect at the lower end of the island with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

The Real Estate Trust Company has sold for E. N. Wildman to Mrs. Mary Critchfist the property at No. 5806 Baum street, Twentieth ward, for $15,000. The property is a choice one for residence purposes, having on the lot, which measures 50x120 feet, a modern brick and stone house of 12 rooms finished in hardwood. It is situated near Negley avenue and will be occupied by the purchaser as a home.

Residence Brings $16,750.

Through A. Z. Byers & Co., W. A. Lincoln has sold a 12-room brick house, lot 40x140 feet, on the east side of Atlantic avenue, near Harriet street, Twentieth ward, for $16,750. The purchaser is a business man, who will occupy the property as a home. In part payment for the residence Mr. Lincoln received two lots, 50x120 feet each, in Watson boulevard, near Perrysville avenue, Allegheny.

C. H. Shedle sold for the Beaver Land Company two lots on the south side of Atlantic avenue, near Millvale avenue, Shadeley place, for $12,000. The lots are 54x140 feet each and were bought by a prominent real estate broker. They will be improved at once with two colonial brick houses to cost $10,000 each.

Comparatively little was doing in real estate offices yesterday, owing to the election. All the city and county offices were closed, preventing the registry of deeds, and many brokers found it impossible to get persons together to talk over deals which were billed for closing. In some quarters there was considerable discussion as to the probable effect of the election on the real estate market, as it is recognized that many city improvements that will affect realty values greatly hinge largely on the result of the vote of yesterday.

Two Lot Exchanges.

Through the agency of Beau & Schoales, W. F. Panke has sold to a leading attorney a two-story brick store and flat building, lot 50x140 feet, in Rosslyn street for $10,000. In exchange for this property Mr. Panke received 15 lots in the Ogontz place plan in Baldwin township. The lots are 35x100 feet each and are valued at $7,500. They are to be improved with a number of $2,000 brick houses. The same brokers also sold for C. Reed a frame house, lot 23x115 feet, in Kincaid street, Nineteenth ward, for $3,500, he taking in exchange four lots in Miller avenue and Cedric street, Ogontz plan, valued at $2,000.

Allegheny: Marshall Bros. sold for R. R. Marshall to W. C. Holmes an improved lot 20x60 feet in Fletcher way, Twenty-first ward, for $1,000. They also sold for the Pennsylvania Savings Fund and Loan Association to Emil Gloeckel an improved lot 23x100 feet in Diana street, Allegheny, for $1,500.

Ohio: Murray Bros. sold for J. and Albert Brown to D. M. Porter a fruit farm of 12 acres in Howland, Trumbull county, Ohio, for $2,000. The farm is improved with a modern residence of 11 rooms. The same brokers sold for Margaret Roderick to J. H. Newton of Greensburg, Pa., a farm of 60 acres in Vienna township, same county, for $2,500.

An Oakland Deal.

Wilmot street: The Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company sold for W. P. Holcombe of Boston to M. C. Maher a lot 25x120 feet on the east side of Wilmot street, near Ward street, Fourteenth ward, for $1,500. Also, for George H. Liggett of Canton, O., to George Konrad three lots 20x100 feet each in River street, Nineteenth ward, for $850.

West Carnegie: The W. H. Skivington Company sold the following lots for the Torrence Land Company in the plan at West Carnegie: No. 494 to Samuel Robbins for $400, No. 354 to L. H. Matthews for $440, No. 47 to Michacle Maciejewski for $280, Nos. 375 and 376 to Robert Gamble for $800, No. 21 to Carl Neubert for $320, Nos. 39 and 40 to Johan Kaperyuski for $600, No. 319 to Mrs. Mary Mullen for $440, No. 318 to Mrs. Margret Laughlin for $440.

C. H. Wurr Company sold on November 2, for the Belmont Realty Company, in Cascaskee plan station on the Erie & Pittsburgh railroad, the following lots: 84, 85, 168, 288, 259, 260, 261, 351, 352, 431, 474, 473, 462, 461, 460, 459, 444, 369, 440, 441, 442, 443, 445, 446, 447, 420, 419, 418, 417, 416, 415, 414, 413, 412, 411, 410, 409, 408, 407, 406, 405, 392, 381, 386, 385, 384, 366, 365, 363, 362, 361, 360, 359, 358, 357, 356, 355, 354, 353, 346, 345, 344, 343, 342, 341, 340, 339, 338, 337, 336, 335, 334, 333, 332, 331, 330, 329, 317, 316, 315, 406, 286, 292, 291, 290, 280, 288, 287, 286, 284, 283, 282, 281, 280, 279, 278, 277, 276, 271, 270, 269, 268, 267, 266, 265, 264, 263, 256, 255, 254, 253, 252, 249, 248, 247, 246, 245, 244, 243, 242, 241, 234, 233, 232, 231, 230, 229, 228, 227, 226, 225, 224, 223, 222, 221, 220, 219, 218, 217, 216, 215, 214, 213, 212, 211, 210, 209, 195, 194, 193, 192, 191, 190, 187, 186, 185, 184, 183, 182, 181, 180, 179, 178, 177, 176, 175, 174, 167, 166, 165, 164, 163, 162, 161, 157, 156, 155, 152, 151, 150, 149, 103, 102, 101, 92, 91, 90, 88, 87, 86, 85, 84, 80, 79, 78, 76, 74, 73, 72, 71, 70, 12, 11, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4.

Yesterday he met George Westinghouse in relation to a plan to bridle the power of great falls within the presidency of Bombay and near by with electrical apparatus as at Niagara. Today he goes to Niagara to [illegible] the working out of the scheme.

Tata is heading in India a project for vast development of the iron and steel industry there, now merely in experimental stages, while ores of 67.4 per cent iron are used. This project he discussed with Senator M. A. Hanna at Cleveland last week, and yesterday he went through the Homestead and Duquesne mills of the Carnegie Steel Company, to form the best idea of the acme of the industry in this country. Industrial projects for India which Mr. Tata heads will invest millions of pounds sterling.

Yesterday evening Mr. Tata was a guest at dinner at Solitude, the Homewood residence of George Westinghouse. As a result of his meeting with Mr. Westinghouse, apparatus, probably from the great new Westinghouse works in England, will be used in a plant which will ultimately be made to convert 200,000 horse power from the falls of Dudeh Sagur. This translated means the Sea of Milk. The falls is about 200 miles from Bombay.

To Harness Great Waterfalls.

Industries near these falls could now use 40,000 horse power, and there is a railroad of 80 miles which it is proposed to convert for the third rail electric system. These falls are about 2,000 feet high. Nearer to Bombay there is another falls, the Naral, 1,800 feet high, and which it is proposed to harness for great electrical power, of which 30,000 horse power is already required, for the operation of cotton mills and other nearby industries in which Mr. Tata is interested.

During his stay in Cleveland Mr. Tata had several audiences with A. E. Brown, head of the Brown Hoisting Machinery Company, and saw the mechanism of this concern working at the Cleveland docks. "We need just such an improvement as that in Bombay," said Mr. Tata at the Hotel Schenley yesterday. "There are usually at least 30 big vessels receiving or discharging cargo and methods are slow and unsatisfactory. Till I saw the Brown mechanism working I had supposed that the best and quickest work of loading vessels was accomplished at Nagasaki where I have seen the natives load 2,000 tons in 10 hours.

Japan's Great Progress.

"The Japanese are a wonderful people. Their investors have already made important inroads into the cotton trade. Within recent years they have built 46 or 47 cotton mills and theirs is an important competition to us."

Mr. Tata plans an important iron development enterprise for the central provinces of India. This will probably be undertaken with the co-operation of the government. The trouble heretofore has been neglect of the government to take an active interest in such development. A handicap has existed in the low grade coal which must be used. The ore is there in large quantities and so rich in places that a lower grade ore will have to be used as a flux. Mr. Tata said of this:

"By adaptation of a reducing system brought out years ago by a Mr. Blair of your city here, a Mr. Ireland has experimental work in England revealed that the very best steel can be made from our Chanda ores and Warora coal, which is inferior. The government decided to spend $125,000 in developing initial steel works, but the breaking out of the Afghan war interrupted this.

"Inventions in Germany and America of processes for the coking of inferior coals and our development of a better grade in the coal of Pisagon in Berar brings the ore and coal near enough together to give the industry much promise. The Pisagon seam runs into the central provinces, and this will facilitate our enterprise."

Declined One Contract.

If the Westinghouse interests undertake contracts for great electrical power plants in India, it will not only be the first work of the kind there but will be the first electrical contract of importance ever undertaken by the Westinghouse interests in India. A great hotel of Mr. Tata in Bombay is to be equipped with electrical power by a German concern. This work was offered to the Westinghouse interests, but was not taken because of specifications calling for detail work, which the Westinghouse people do not undertake.

"You certainly have a wonderful city," said Mr. Tata, "but the trouble has been to see it in this London fog. It was impossible for us to see the top of the Frick building or the Farmers' Deposit bank building this morning. The Carnegie steel works are nothing short of marvelous. I regret failure to see the Westinghouse works, which I understand are closed today because of the election."

Mr. Tata is accompanied by A. P. Cochrane, an exporter who represents him in New York.

CHAMBERLAIN LOOKS HIGH

Young Austin Said to Be In Love With King Edward's Daughter Victoria.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The clubs are discussing a story to the effect that Austin Chamberlain, the newly appointed postmaster general, is in love with Princess Victoria, King Edward's second daughter. The princess, it is said, returns the affection and the engagement of the two is possible.

The difference in the social position of Chamberlain and the princess is probably insurmountable, but it is pointed out that the king's well-known democratic ideas might lead him to obviate this difficulty, although these ideas have never been extended to family matters.

The Princess Victoria is the only unmarried child of the king. She was born in Marlborough house on July 6, 1868.

New War Threatened In Haiti.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, HAITI, Nov. 4.—A troop of 1,200 Fouchardists, which entered the capital yesterday, returning from the campaign against Gen. Firmin, had a conflict with the civil authorities. There was heavy firing during all the night. Seven persons were killed and many wounded. The situation is grave, threatening a new civil war.

The North Star Limited.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—The new Minneapolis and St. Louis-Illinois Central train between Chicago and this city is to be called "The North Star Limited." In the contest just closed 105 persons suggested this name.

RECORDER BROWN AND O'MARA MET

Recorder Brown and former Superintendent O'Mara, had a wordy war at Sixth avenue and Smithfield street yesterday afternoon. The big detective called the chief executive of the city names that would not look well in print. Recorder Brown lowered his head, told Mr. O'Mara that he was mistaken, and passed to his office.

Mr. O'Mara was on his way to the police station and passed the recorder, who was going to the city hall. The latter was with John Bradley. As the three politicians met O'Mara told Recorder Brown that he was a coward and was untruthful.

"I will call you to account tomorrow," said the big detective. Both Bradley and Recorder Brown went to the city hall. The breach between O'Mara and Brown was caused by the dismissal of the former's daughter, Miss Margaret O'Mara, who was a clerk in the bureau of health.

FAITHFUL LISTENED TO THE TALE OF WOE

Old Guard, in Machine Auditorium, Try to Cheer Themselves on State Result.

The polls had hardly closed before many of the faithful gathered in the Republican auditorium on Sixth avenue to hear the results and compare the figures with Earle's figures in the spring election. County Chairman Robertson read the returns from the stage, picking out favorable news to the ring ticket, to encourage the workers that crowded the hall.

Senator Flinn of the "Muddy Water" party, came in with Senator Weller and his son George Flinn. The senator stood in the back of the room, out of sight of the crowd, and while taking an interest in the returns, made himself as little conspicuous as possible. James Francis Burke and Dr. Barchfeld, the congressional candidates on the ring ticket, were hard at work up front, trying to figure out a majority for themselves.

Arch Mackrell, Dr. McCandless, Webb Murray, Samuel P. Conner and Robert Osterneier, secretary of the city committee, went to work on tabulated sheets, closely watching the city vote as it came in by districts, and announcing to Robertson the results when favorable to the organization.

After hearing from 10 districts, many showing a net gain for Pennypacker, County Chairman Robertson announced that if the gain of 567 over Barnett's figures kept up, Allegheny county would give Pennypacker a majority of over 30,000. This was wildly cheered. At 10 o'clock it was announced that Pennypacker would have a majority in the state of over 150,000.

R. H. Jackson, Elias Johns, Sheriff McKinley, Attorneys John P. Hunter and William Hunter, Senator W. A. Magee, District Attorney Haymaker, Judge Cohen, Charlie and Philip Flinn, W. T. Tredway, L. B. Cook, County Detective Robinson, William and Robert McAdams, Select Councilman John A. Murphy, Coroner McGeary, George C. Wilson and other lesser lights in the Republican ranks circulated among the crowds and gave words of encouragement when especially interesting districts were heard from.

It was noticed that when County Chairman Robertson received returns that showed large Citizens gains, he would lump the Pennypacker vote and give it with Pattison's vote, showing gains for Pennypacker.

A groan went up when the Fifteenth ward of Allegheny showed a large majority for George Shiras III, over William Graham, his Republican opponent for congress.

HON. HALE JOHNSON SHOT AND KILLED

The Prominent Prohibitionist Meets Man Who Objects to Paying Judgment.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

EFFINGHAM, ILL., Nov. 4.—Hon. Hale Johnson, a Prohibition leader of national prominence and a vice presidential candidate on the Prohibition ticket in 1896, was shot and killed by Harry Harris this afternoon at Bogota.

Mr. Johnson, who was practicing law at Newton, the county seat, went to Bogota to collect an account on which judgment had been rendered against Harris.

An altercation occurred between Johnson and Harris at the Harris home, and the latter secured a shotgun and fired at Johnson at close range, the charge striking Johnson in the face and causing instant death.

Immediately after the shooting Harris jumped into Johnson's buggy and attempted to make his escape, but was apprehended by a deputy sheriff who had accompanied Johnson and who was a witness to the shooting.

Harris committed suicide in the county jail tonight by taking poison.

GROUT BILL IS NO RESTRICTION

More Oleomargarine Made and Sold Now Than Before Color Tax.

FAILED OF PURPOSE

Only Effect Has Been to Reduce Uncle Sam's Revenue, According to Kansas Returns—Creameries Not Benefited.

TOPEKA, Nov. 4.—The Grout anti-oleo law, passed at the last session of congress, has had an effect opposite to that intended. It has increased the production of oleomargarine and lessened its cost to the consumer. The creamery interests expected the law to stop the manufacture of oleomargarine almost entirely or to increase its price on account of the 10-cents tax per pound, so that little would be used. The 10-cent tax was put on colored oleo. Uncolored oleo has to pay only a quarter of a cent a pound. The tax before the Grout law took effect was 2 cents a pound.

The records in the internal revenue collector's offices for the district of Kansas show that more oleomargarine is manufactured at the present time than ever. The government doesn't receive as much revenue, however. The factories are not coloring their oleo and pay only a quarter of a cent per pound, where they used to pay 2 cents a pound. For the same quantity of oleo now manufactured the government only gets one-eighth as much revenue. The oleo factories now use more cream in making their product than they formerly did, and are also selling their product cheaper. The uncolored oleo is about the color of country butter, and it finds a ready market.

"I feel quite sure that the oleo factories are making just as much oleo now as they did before the anti-oleo bill passed congress," said J. S. Parks, president of the Continental creamery, today, "but they are not getting as much for it. The Grout bill has not affected the price of creamery butter any. It is true that creamery butter is slightly higher now than it was last year, but that is due to the fact that fewer cows are being milked. The dry weather last year had a bad effect on dairies. Cows went dry and were sold off. The result is that there is a scarcity of milk and butter has gone up accordingly."

The oleo factories are now competing strongly with the creameries in the purchase of country butter and milk and cream. They have established agencies throughout the country to buy up butter, milk and cream; also poultry, eggs and fruit.

"The creameries have had stiff competition for country butter and for milk and cream for some time," said Mr. Parks. "But they are not being injured. Competition is the life of trade, you know. There is a demand for creamery butter in certain quarters that can never be invaded by oleo factories. The creameries will always supply that demand. If milk and cream cost us more, why, butter will go up. That's all. Oleo goes principally to people who do not care to pay over 15 cents a pound for butter or its substitute."

COACHMAN SAVES THEM

Edward C. Chalfant and Wife Have Close Call in Runaway in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—Edward C. Chalfant, a lawyer, whose home is in Pittsburgh, and his wife had a narrow escape from serious injury while viewing the beauties of Fairmont park yesterday. The horses attached to the victoria in which they were riding took fright, and only the pluck of the coachman prevented a serious accident.

In stopping the mad flight of his team the man was painfully cut and bruised, but later remounted the box and drove the horses to the city.

The horses frightened at an automobile. The coachman warned Mr. and Mrs. Chalfant not to jump, and tried his best to check the wild dash of the horses. Failing in this the robe secured to the trail about the box. Then he climbed over the dashboard and made his way along the pole to the horses' heads. Seizing a bit firmly in each hand he swung himself off.

The horses were finally forced to stop by the weight at their heads. Then the team came to a walk the coachman fainted.

Mistake in the Ballots.

LANCASTER, PA., Nov. 4.—The validity of the vote of this city was brought into question by the discovery, several hours after voting had begun, that there was a mistake in the official ballots used in all the precincts of the city. No senatorial candidate was to be voted for in the city, but the ballots contained the names of the senatorial candidates of the Northern district. Secretary of the Commonwealth Griest said this will not affect the vote.

FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF WOMEN.

Women are natural savers—and it is a happy thing for the men that they are. Many a family has been carried over periods of misfortune by the savings account of a thrifty woman who had the foresight to lay by a few dollars from time to time.

The Peoples Savings Bank, at Wood street and Fourth avenue, has among its depositors thousands of women in all parts of the country. Their savings are held in their own right and cannot be drawn upon by even a husband or a husband's creditors.

This bank has a special room for the convenience of women and also accepts deposits by mail. Four per cent interest, compounded twice a year, is allowed on savings accounts.

SOCIETY

TRINITY CHURCH bids fair this season to eclipse the record of all previous years in the number and extent of its weddings. The marriage there yesterday afternoon of Miss Alice Blair Painter, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Park Painter, and Burrows Sloan of Philadelphia was surpassed in the beauty and richness of its appointments by none of the brilliant weddings of other seasons. It being a daytime affair—the hour was 4 o'clock—greater scope was permitted in the gowning of the bridal party, yet preserving the simple, quiet dignity which has marked the social career of Mrs. Painter and her daughters and securing a harmony of detail very beautiful.

The wedding colors, yellow and white, were employed in the decoration of the church. Palms and ferns lined the chancel; white chrysanthemums appeared upon the high altar, and part way down the central aisle, through which the bridal party passed to and from the altar, tall vases containing yellow and white chrysanthemums marked the location of the seats reserved for the intimate friends of the two families, who were also guests at the reception which followed the ceremony. Heavy white ropes were stretched along the aisle during the ceremony.

Walter Hall was at the organ and at 4 o'clock, the wedding march announced the entrance of the bride and her attendants. The bride entered with her father, who gave her away. She made her debut into society two years ago and her maids yesterday afternoon were principally the girls who made their debut the same season. Miss Marion Chambers was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were: Mrs. H. Hartley Howard, Miss Eleanor Painter and Miss Gladys Painter, the three sisters of the bride; Miss Alice Walton, Miss Edna Johnson, Miss Frances D. Sloan, a sister of the bridegroom; Miss Olive Pardee of Germantown, and Miss Martha Dalzell. The party entered the church led by the ushers, the bridesmaids and ushers walking in couples, and the maid of honor immediately preceding the bride and her father. The ushers were Richard Cadwallader, Lewis H. Van Dusen and Francis King Wainwright of Philadelphia; H. Le Roy Pitkin of Englewood; Samuel Martin, Chicago; Edward Clark, Dayton, O.; Jarvis Geer and Hal Walker of Pittsburgh. Mr. Sloan's best man was John W. Converse. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Alfred W. Arundel of Trinity church. The Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, bishop of Pittsburgh, pronounced the benediction.

The bride wore a rich wedding gown of white crepe meteor, fashioned with the full court train, over which reached the long bridal veil of tulle. The bodice was almost covered with beautiful rose points lace, which combined with chiffon and delicate maiden hair ferns fell in stole like ends almost to the edge of the skirt. Her bouquet was of orchids and lilies of the valley, with maiden hair ferns. The maid of honor also wore white crepe meteor with a demi train and trimmed with duchess lace. Her flowers were large white chrysanthemums, and she wore a broad white beaver hat, surmounted with white grapes and a shower of delicate lace, which fell from the under brim part way below the neck. The bridesmaids all wore white crepe de chine dresses, with short trains, the bodices trimmed with lace, which also formed the sleeves of the gowns and finished with soft sashes of crepe de chine. They carried large clusters of yellow chrysanthemums and all wore white beaver hats, trimmed with a pretty quilling of satin ribbon and small white ostrich tips holding up the brim on one side, while lace scarfs fell almost to the waist at the back. It was an exceptionally pretty bridal party, and the gowns worn by the bride and her attendants were unusually beautiful.

Beautiful gowns and hats were the rule among the guests who went to the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Park Painter at their home in Ridge avenue, Allegheny, immediately following the church ceremony. Receiving with the bride and bridegroom were Mr. and Mrs. Painter and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sloan of Philadelphia. Mrs. Painter wore a gown of delicate pearl gray crepe, her hat being of the same delicate shade of gray. Mrs. Sloan wore a rich silk gown; Mrs. A. E. W. Painter, an aunt of the bride, appeared in a black lace robe over white and at the church wore a long white cloak, trimmed with an applique of black lace. Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Howard's little year-old daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Park Painter's only grandchild, in her dainty white lace frock and cloak, was an interested and interesting witness of both the wedding and the reception, entering the church in the arms of her maid.

The Painter residence, one of the handsomest in Allegheny, was decorated entirely in green with yellow and white chrysanthemums. Tall vases filled with the large, long-stemmed flowers appeared throughout the large drawing room and the massive reception hall, while palms and smilax proved an effective background. Dinner was served to the guests in the dining room and in the library, and the bride's table was placed in the billiard room on the floor below, where covers were laid for the members of the bridal party, the out-of-town guests and a number of intimate friends of the bride in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. Mr. and Mrs. Sloan left last evening for an extended wedding trip. They will make their home in Philadelphia. Among the out-of-town people who came on for the ceremony and the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sloan of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. James B. Guthrie and Mr. and Mrs. William Green of Cincinnati, Miss Frances Storseberry and Mrs. Francis King Wainwright of Philadelphia; the Misses King of Irvington-on-the-Hudson and others.

Notes of Society.

Mrs. Elizabeth Oswald and son Frances leave Pittsburgh on November 12 for Atlantic City and Philadelphia.

The society for the annual press view of the Carnegie art galleries previous to the opening of the loan exhibition tomorrow will be held.

The Colonial club held its regular meeting yesterday at the Hotel Henry, the program presented treating of painting, sculpture and poetry in Germany.

The Tuesday Musical club yesterday afternoon held its first meeting of the season at "The Maples," Mrs. C. L. Magee's home in Oakland. The election of officers resulted in the re-election of almost all the old ones.

The rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Ida Bell Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel of Hazel Knoll, Hazelwood, and Irwin Marquis Fleksen this evening in the First Presbyterian church, took place last evening, followed by a dinner for the bridal party, given by Mr. and Mrs. Shields.

Mrs. Robert W. Guthrie and Miss Marion Sellers Guthrie have cards out for a tea on November 13 in honor of Miss Mary Crossan Hoyle, whose engagement to Frank S. Guthrie will terminate in their marriage in December, and in honor of Miss Marion McLean Sellers, whose engagement to Robert Pitcairn, Jr., was recently announced.

An Amusing Scene.

One of the most amusing scenes in "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast," which comes to the Alvin next Monday evening for a fortnight's engagement, is a scene in the last act where the king and queen, accompanied by the nurse of their daughter, Beauty, attempt to rob the National museum of jewels, which are really their own property. They come to the place in an automobile and while attempting the burglary the automobile commences to play pranks, and they are forced to give up the robbery.

IN THE DOMAIN OF WOMEN

English Women Versus American.

Mrs. George Cornwallis-West, an American by birth, has been comparing the women of England and America. She will spend a part of this winter in New York, after visiting Lady Smith in Canada, and will then have a fine opportunity to make further study along the same lines. The result promises of interest.

"There is a decided difference in point of view between the English woman and her American friends," declares Mrs. Cornwallis-West. "This arises, naturally, from the radical distinctions existing between the political and social systems of the two countries. While the American woman may exert her influence for her husband's benefit, the sphere of this influence is more or less limited; whereas, in this country, if a woman have the ability, she may make herself felt in very wide circles.

"There is much more scope for women in England, so far as mixing in political affairs is concerned. The English woman takes herself very seriously, indeed, and does much more work than her American cousin. All English women of prominence engage in some kind of work in which their efforts may be felt among a large class of people. They take the keenest interest in all political questions that affect the home, the school and the condition of the people.

"In America the conditions are different. The Americans have not been brought up to this work, and the American system differs from the English."

Turning from political to social topics, Mrs. West said: "I think the advent of Americans in English society has done much to make the latter even more exclusive than hitherto."

Sympathy is sweet and comforting, but too often we crave it abnormally—and seek it in unwise fashion. The woman heart sore and unnerved though she may be—who confides her domestic troubles to her neighbors is making herself liable to lose their respect by her display of weakness and lack of pride. To discuss the failing of husband, children or any member of one's family, even with an intimate friend, betrays a weakness and a lack of thorough breeding, though often this mistake is committed through the thoughtlessness of impulse by very good women. It would be better to exercise more self-control in the home and more forbearance with our home folk than to seek outside sympathy of those who have troubles enough of their own.

Seeking Outside Sympathy.

Fudge and home made bonbons of many varieties find eager purchasers among mothers of growing families, and even among grown persons who are afraid of store-bought sweets. College girls, initiated into the mysteries of every conceivable flavor of fudge during freshman days, in many cases have made it for sale after graduation. One college graduate who began by fudge for private sales has now added old-fashioned soft gingerbread to her stock in trade, and between the two has all the orders she can fill.

Lucrative Housewifely Avocations.

The preparation of Saratoga chips for wholesale or retail groceries has solved a question of money-making for several New York housekeepers. The outlay for this work is so slight and so little experimentation is necessary that the matter is an excellent one for the woman thrown suddenly upon her own resources. A basket of potatoes, a chipping machine or instrument and a good recipe equip her for the work. Samples of the chips are taken to the prominent grocers of the city in which she lives and orders are requested. If her home is in a small country town, sample boxes of the potatoes are forwarded to prominent grocery firms in New York, Philadelphia or Chicago. With each box goes a polite little note explaining about prices, production on large orders, etc. Orders will be small at first, but if the standard of the article continues high, the demand will increase. One large establishment will often furnish all the orders that are needed.

The work of clever housewives who are salting nuts for the large shops is very similar to the Saratoga potato industry and hardly more difficult. The trade usually calls for almonds and peanuts; but pecans, hazel nuts and, in fact, every variety are occasionally demanded. The nuts are shelled and blanched, delicately browned and salted just enough to give a relish. A day or two of experimenting is usually necessary to get the oven temperature at the exact point of perfection, but with the help of a note-book and a kitchen thermometer this is soon regulated. The woman with a large circle of friends and acquaintances is particularly fortunate in undertaking this work.

Life of a Remarkable Woman.

Lady Duff Gordon was one of the famous beauties of European society in the middle of the last century, and was not less celebrated for her brilliancy than for her liveliness. In the midst of her social triumphs she was stricken with a slow but mortal illness, and was sent to South Africa and thence to the remote parts of Egypt, as the only way of prolonging her life. From the wildest regions of the Dark continent, often from places where no white woman and few white men had ever set foot, she wrote letters to her family. These have just been published under the title of "Letters from Egypt." Her last days were spent among the Arabs, who almost worshiped her, and of whom she has left, in her book, a remarkable record. The introduction, from which extracts are here given, is by George Meredith, and gives an idea of this remarkable woman.

For the Straight Haired Woman.

In her youth she was radiantly beautiful, with dark brows on an olive complexion, the head of a Roman man, and features of Grecian line, save for the classic Greek wall of the nose off the forehead. Women, not enthusiasts, inclined rather to criticise, and to criticise so independent a member of their sex particularly, have said that her entry into a ballroom took the breath. Poetical comparisons run under heavy weights in prose; but it would seem, in truth, from the reports of her, that wherever she appeared she could be likened to a Selene breaking through cloud; and, further, the splendid vessel was richly freighted. Trained by a scholar, much in the society of scholarly men, having an innate bent to exactitude, and with a ready tongue docile to the curb, she stepped into the world armed to be a match for it. She cut her way through the accustomed troops of adorers, like what you will that is buoyant and swims gallantly.

Kimona Made of Handkerchiefs.

For some time the market has been overstocked with beautiful silk handkerchiefs, such as were used for dress-waists. American women did not embrace this fad, as had been predicted, and may now become the possessors of these same handkerchiefs for a trifle of their real value. From these may be made beautiful Japanese kimonas and for the home handsome and artistic cushions.

The kimona requires four of the full-sized squares. One makes the sleeves; another, after one border is cut off, is used for the back. For each front cut away the borders on two adjacent edges. These five borders will, after they have been fastened together from a strip long enough for the finishing band and collar, be the trim of "Letters from Egypt." Her last days were spent among the Arabs, who almost worshiped her, and of whom she has left, in her book, a remarkable record. Elaborate Dinner Gown.

A dinner gown of cream lace has a 12-inch flounce of white broadcloth scalloped about the bottom of the skirt, and an overgown of the same material widely slashed to show the lace beneath. The same effect is carried out on the bodice, where the inch wide strips of broadcloth fall in blouse effect over the more closely fitting lace. Chiffon and lighter lace finish the neck and elbow sleeves. Two drop skirts are worn with this, one of pleated chiffon directly under the lace, and another of white taffeta under the chiffon.

Silk Lingerie.

A simple contrivance for producing soft waves in the hair is made of rubber in colors to match the shade of the hair. It is flat, being about a quarter of an inch at the widest part. At one end is a tiny knob, and at the other a small ring, which through the center runs a narrow slip. Through this opening the strand of hair is drawn and the hair wound around the curler. A rubber cord loops into the ring, is pulled over and caught on the opposite knob. The waviness is secured much more quickly than by other methods, and the rubber does not in any way injure the hair's soft locks.

Words to the Wise.

An old-fashioned cure for freckles is common horseradish grated into a cup of sour milk and strained. This may be used occasionally with good effect. An ounce of lemon juice to a pint of rose-water is another remedy.

Scant eyebrows certainly detract from one's good looks. Here is a formula said to promote the growth of both the brows and lashes: Lavender vinegar, two and one-half ounces; glycerin, one and one-quarter ounces; fluid extract of jaborandi, two drams.

When a child burns its finger a way to give it immediate ease is to plunge the burned limb (if the burn be only a surface one) into a basin of cold water. By this means air is kept out and the finger greatly soothed, for the water seems to withdraw the heat and stay the rapid inflammation.

Red marrow of bone is a valuable food. So highly is it esteemed by those who have tested its worth that preparations of it have been placed on the market. The marrow should be obtained from the large bones of the sheep and ox. It may be spread on bread, like butter. The use of red marrow is indicated in anaemic and wasting diseases.

CLOSE HOLIDAY IN FINANCIAL CIRCLES

Money in Circulation Increased More Than $60,000,000 During the Month of October---Stock Market Values Compared.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Yesterday was a close holiday in financial circles, banks and exchanges being closed for the elections. Today a brief period will no doubt be devoted to expressing through the stock market the country's view as to the result of the balloting, and then Wall street is likely to return to a discussion of the probability of gold exports. A year ago today the stock market was strong and higher, although the day preceding and the day following the elections engagements of gold aggregating $2,750,000 were announced for shipment to Paris. During the month of November, 1901, we imported $7,131,000 gold and exported $16,300,000, apart from that time until the end of May of the present year the net movement was against the United States. The trade balance, however, as has been frequently explained, was disturbed by the shortage of the corn crop in this country, the relatively high price of wheat and the increased merchandise exports. While we are still a large buyer of foreign merchandise, the corn crop will within the next few months become a factor in our exports, and wheat and cotton are already going out freely. The movement of the latter may not be of sufficient volume immediately to prevent the necessity for shipping some gold, during the remaining weeks of the year; but outside of stock market circles the shipment of $10,000,000 or $20,000,000,000 would not cause any disturbance.

The circulation statement issued by the treasury department yesterday is particularly interesting at this time. It shows that the total amount of all kinds of money in circulation on the 1st inst. was $2,506,111,902. This is an increase of $60,-[illegible]341 during the month of October, and an increase of $80,811,450 compared with November 1, 1901. The increase during the past month was made up (in round numbers) of $38,000,000 gold certificates, $2,500,000 silver dollars, $3,200,000 silver certificates, $2,000,000 subsidiary silver and $14,600,000 national bank notes. The total of the later outstanding is $367,007,492, the largest ever reported. During the month the cash in the treasury decreased $20,357,000, which practically represents the amount paid in redemption of government bonds.

While the figures presented by Mr. Vanderlip in his Wilmington address, showing the present strain upon banking credit, as compared with the situation three years ago, cannot be controverted, there is evidence that bankers have taken measures to relieve this strain, and that in at least New York and Boston the situation is stronger today than it was a year ago. Mr. Vanderlip showed that as compared with 1899, the banks today were carrying an enormous deposit liability without any increase in reserve against the same. The last statement of the New York banks, however, shows that as compared with November 2, 1901, there has been a decrease of more than $84,000,000 in deposit liability, while the specie and legal tender reserve now held is only $5,211,500 smaller, and the surplus reserve is twice as large as that held a year ago. Counting in circulation, the banks have $5,000,000 more money now than they held a year ago, while they have $84,000,000 less deposits. Loans are also $13,500,000 smaller than a year ago. It is true that the source of the present strength was the government bond purchases, but it is also true that the banks are now discouraging a revival of stock speculation and are husbanding their resources. Compared with a year ago the Boston banks show a decrease of $13,-000,000 in deposit liability, a decrease of $5,800,000 in loans, and a decrease of only $1,527,000 in reserve. The Philadelphia banks show a decrease of $4,100,000 in deposits, a decrease of $7,400,000 in reserve, and an increase of $6,400,000 in loans. A year ago the Northern Securities Company was being financed, and other important deals were pending which made a large draft upon banking credit, while at the present time there are no new undertakings of such magnitude likely to come into the market. The money situation does not justify a revival of rampant speculation, neither does it warrant pessimism.

The recent enormous increase in local banking capital, both by old institutions and by the organization of new banks and trust companies, has led some to look upon the movement as unprecedented. Such is not the case, however. At the present time there are 24 members of the Pittsburgh Clearing House association, and these clear for 181 banks, bankers and trust companies, making a total of 175 represented in the clearing house. In 1873 there were 165 Allegheny county banks and bankers whose checks were cleared through the clearing house. A few years after this number had been cut in half through consolidations and the financial vicissitudes of that period.

It is the general opinion that the local banking field is now thoroughly covered. Since May, 1900, the capital and surplus of trust companies have been increasing at the rate of more than 100 per cent per annum, the additions to the total for the last six months of the present year—already authorized or to be voted upon—approximating $18,000,000. While the suburban field may not be crowded, there is a feeling that there are too many small banks in the city, and the next movement is likely to be in the direction of consolidation. It is the large surplus fund of the big banks (and in many instances this surplus represents premium paid for stock, not earnings accumulated from capital) that enables them to pay large dividends, and with competition growing keener and with the greater facilities of the larger banks to attract business while keeping the expense ratio down, the smaller banks will be crowded out of the race. The change that has taken place in the manner of conducting general business, and the growth of the latter, necessitates large banks, and hence the tendency will be toward consolidation. As to the smaller banks in the suburbs, particularly those located near great industrial establishments, it is thought that they will serve a useful purpose in collecting the savings of workingmen and thus returning to the channels of trade a considerable amount of money in the aggregate which would otherwise remain in the pockets or household hordes until required for domestic purposes.

In the absence of the usual New York quotations, the following table has been compiled, showing the range of prices for 1901, the range for 1902 to date, and the closing quotation on Monday. The columns are so arranged that at a glance may be seen the extent of the reaction from the high level of the year, and the difference between prices today and the low point of last year:

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

November dividends paid by Utah mines amounted to $560,000.

Within the last month the Calumet & Hecla mine has been visited by two fires which have given the management much concern. Both fires were discovered in the old shaft, abandoned slopes north of No. 4 shaft. Calumet branch, and they are believed to have been the work of an incendiary. A fire is now raging in the Holden Verde, in the Cornelia and Senour Arizona property. With both the Calumet and United Verde mines closed over 12 per cent of the world's copper production would be shut off.

The Annie Laurie of Gold Mountain district has paid its first dividend of $20,000, and has posted another dividend of the same amount, payable next month.

Shipments from Tintic (Utah) district last week according to 137 carloads of crude ore, besides one bar of bullion from the Mammoth mill. The Grand Central sent down 16 carloads, the Gemini and Bullion-Beck 9 cars each, the Centennial-Eureka, Eagle & Blue Bell and Uncle Sam 8 each; other mines contributing were Carisa, Showers Consolidated, Lower Mammoth, Star Consolidated, Victor and Yankee Consolidated, of Iron Mine. The shipments from Park City were 3,150,760 pounds, of which the Daly-West contributed 3,022,000 pounds, the Silver King 1,844,760, Ontario 404 and Daly-Judge 280,000.

An official statement of the production of copper in British North America, published by the New York Metal Exchange, gives the output of the copper for 1901 as 16,887 tons, or just about twice the quantity produced in 1900, which was 8,446 tons. In 1899 the output was 8,731 tons. This year's production is unofficially estimated at about 25 per cent more than in 1901.

Professor Aggasiz, president of the company, says that the Calumet & Hecla has come into a new fortune through the discovery of the richest ground on the west portion of its property.

HOLIDAY SUPPLIES NOW IN DEMAND

Inquiry for Fancy Groceries Growing—Florida Cucumbers Here.

Hay receipts amounted to 42 carloads yesterday, and the market was easy, with slight reductions in quotations for choice and No. 2 timothy, clover and clover mixed. The proportion of No. 1 timothy in the arrivals for the two days just past has not been large, and prices have not changed from figures quoted last week. Yesterday's receipts showed no straw, and there was unsatisfied inquiry for this article. Oats are in plentiful supply, but demand is good, and quotations of Monday are allowed to stand. The decline of 1c which occurred at that time having brought figures to the proper level of values as they now exist. Bran is in active request, and quotations are a shade higher.

Groceries are all unchanged, with the volume of business good, inquiry for holiday supplies having already started. Flour is steady with most of the selling ranging about $4 10@4 15, with 5c better than the latter price ruling in some sales. Coffee is firm, but no higher, and sugar holds its own, request being active for the season. Imported navy beans are now dividing the trade with domestic, and the market is easier, although quotations still range above parity.

Canned tomatoes have shown some inclination toward easier conditions, but packs are known to be so short as to make it altogether improbable any decline in values will prevail. Oil dealers are really looking for higher prices. Canned corn is steady, with demand active.

Potatoes Continue Firm.

Potatoes maintain their hold upon the position taken several weeks ago, and prices show no change. Fruits are generally steady, the canneries steady, although without particular activity; retailers, evidently having faith in the continuance of present conditions, are making haste to buy. Weeks remained steady at the decline of Monday, and red tops from Florida crates are in the market, offering by the basket at $3 00@4 00. Apples remained as they were on Monday, with demand fairly active. Imported pears are in lead of the week. Concord grapes are easier. There are lighter offerings of grapes this year than last season, and prices have ruled much higher than those of a year ago, and this has reduced consumption. Dagos have not taken hold with customary avidity, and receipts have commenced to accumulate. Cranberries are in good condition, and are free sellers at prices that have not changed this week.

Butter and cheese are steady at unchanged figures. Eggs are very firm, while some dealers claim to be finding 24c the top of the market, others assert they have no difficulty in obtaining 26c for strictly fresh select stock. Poultry is in good demand and handled at that price if they were here to offer.

Poultry holds at same prices as have ruled since the opening of the week, and game is unchanged.

ALL TESTIMONY ACQUITS QUAY

Had Nothing to Do With Last Letter Soliciting Campaign Contributions.

EXPLAINED BY COOPER

It Was He Who Gave the Copy to the Printer, and the Printing of the Senator's Name at the Head Was Without Orders.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Public Ledger Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 4.

United States District Attorney Holland today examined 27 witnesses to determine to what extent Senator Quay violated the civil service laws in requesting contributions from federal employes to the Republican state campaign. The evidence submitted entirely vindicates Senator Quay.

Two witnesses were Thomas V. Cooper of Delaware county, who sent out the second appeal for funds as treasurer of the Republican state committee after Senator Quay withdrew his first communication, and William F. Wright, Senator Quay's state secretary. The other 25 witnesses were letter carriers, except one, who is a clerk in the postoffice.

The hearing developed the fact that Senator Quay withdrew his first letter asking for campaign funds, in response to a complaint made by the national civil service commission. The matter would have ended there had not the letter sent out by Mr. Cooper contained in the heading the names of Senator Quay as state chairman and W. R. Andrews, who is secretary to Senator Penrose and a federal employe, as secretary of the Republican state committee.

Not Swayed by Quay's Printed Named.

The point that the district attorney endeavored to establish was whether or not the name of Senator Quay, in the head of the Cooper letter, influenced those who received it to contribute. Not one of the federal employes who testified admitted that it did.

Thomas V. Cooper was not sworn. He produced copies of the two Quay letters and the one he sent out, which were marked as exhibits.

"From the first," he said, "I was in fact, though not in name, treasurer of the Republican state committee. I was also in charge of the literary bureau. Col. Quay asked me to take charge of the funds. He sent out this letter, asking for contributions, over his own signature. At the request of the civil service commission he withdrew this letter, which had been sent to everyone likely to contribute.

"Senator Quay and Secretary Andrews told me it was their desire to comply with the request of the civil service commission, and they asked me, as treasurer of the committee, to send out requests for contributions. As I was not connected with the federal service, I had a perfect right to do this. My letter was an exact copy of Senator Quay's first letter, because I could not improve on his language. I don't know anyone who could.

"Did Senator Quay have anything to do with getting up that letter?" asked Mr. Holland.

"He had not."

Quay Had Nothing to Do With It.

"How did his name appear on the head?"

"I asked Secretary Andrews to have the letters printed, and the printer took it for granted that the letter was to be printed on the usual letter head of the committee. Senator Quay had nothing to do with sending out this letter. That was my own act."

"Did you send any paper to the printer with Senator Quay's name on it?"

"No, sir. The order was given by telephone."

William F. Wright, Senator Quay's secretary, said he knew nothing about the first letter, but was aware of the communication withdrawing the first. He said Senator Quay knew nothing about the Cooper letter.

Nearly all of the postal employes examined remembered receiving the two Quay letters and the Cooper letter. Most of them could not recall having noticed the names of Senator Quay and Secretary Andrews on the head of the Cooper letter. Those that did emphatically declared that they were not influenced to contribute by the presence of those names.

Thomas J. Ward, Albert B. Wager, Archibald Moffett, Ethelbert Dettus, William C. Edler, Edward B. Donohoe, William H. Green and John C. Sullivan said they did not contribute to the campaign fund. The other witnesses, all of whom contributed, were G. A. Flemming, John F. Burgett, George Dougherty, Joseph S. Ritchie, John M. Park, Augustus H. Rimmer, Edward N. Williamson, Charles S. Smith, William Evans, H. M. E. Flint, Edward W. G. Brown, Frank T. Dister, Joseph Umstead, William H. Ogden, Abraham Josephs, Amos J. Eggleston, Samuel Adams and Robert J. Fleming.

There are all the witnesses District Attorney Holland will examine. When the testimony is transcribed he will make a report to Washington as to whether or not there are sufficient grounds for a prosecution of Senator Quay for a violation of the civil service laws.

CANONSBURG PASTOR CALLED.

Unanimous Invitation Extended the Rev. Mr. Work by Ohio Church.

URBANA, O., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Rev. John A. Work of Canonsburg, Pa., was unanimously called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church here at a congregational meeting. Mr. Work's name was the only one considered by the congregation, so pleased were the members with the impression he made while supplying several weeks ago. While it is not an assured fact that Mr. Work will accept the call, an answer is expected from him the latter part of the week.

Mr. Work started in the ministry doing missionary work in Cincinnati, after his graduation. From there he went to Plain City, where he succeeded in building a handsome church and enlarging the congregation, and after a four years' pastorate there he went to Canonsburg, where he has been for six years.

Wants Portable School House.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Prof. John M. Canon, superintendent of the New Castle schools, is advocating the construction of a portable school house to relieve the overcrowded conditions. Prof. Canon believes that a portable frame building, suitable to accommodate one or two rooms, could be used alternately in one part of the city or another as conditions seem to warrant. The idea was first broached before the board of education last night.

Five Injured in Wreck.

BZALING, Nov. 4.—A head-on collision occurred this morning at Riverside, a suburb, between a United Traction car and a car of the Kutztown company during the fog. Motorman Thomas Strasser had both feet cut off. The other injured are: John H. Snyder, Albany, badly bruised; Leonard Macrell, Philadelphia, nose lacerated; John Wolf, Philadelphia, bruised. Motorman John Shunk had his right wrist broken.

Wilkesbarre Man Killed.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—Cornelius Dougherty, aged 28, of Wilkesbarre, was instantly killed through the loosening of a bolt in a derrick at the Torresdale filtration beds, Gile city, today. The derrick was being used in lowering concrete to the beds.

ALBANY SPURNS CARNEGIE GIFT

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 4.—The question of accepting $105,000 from Andrew Carnegie for the erection of a library building in this city was put to a popular vote today and defeated by an overwhelming majority.

DESPERATE TACTICS WERE RESORTED TO Citizens Voters Deprived of Suffrage in the First and Fourth Wards.

Down in the First and Fourth wards the desperation of the ring was plainly evident. These are the ring Democratic wards, and in them it was thought that the Ballot Reform ticket would receive a majority.

All the precincts in those wards had several policemen about the polls, and the officers served to clear the sidewalks after the Citizens party's voters had been hustled out of the polling place and not permitted to vote. A few ring adherents were always on hand, and when the Citizens party man had been thrown out he was surrounded and the ring fellows obeyed the policemen and cleared the sidewalk by hustling the voters far away from the polls.

In the third district of the First ward, the Fourth avenue engine house polling place, these tactics were carried out successfully. This is the way it was done. In one case John Hickey, who has lived in the ward 25 years and had a tax receipt in his pocket, stepped up to the polling place. He was challenged by a ring watcher. Hickey offered to swear his vote, as he was legally justified in doing, but he was seized by the watcher and the famous "Buck" Botkins and hustled out on the sidewalk. The allegation was that Hickey was not registered. He said he was, but even if his name did not appear on the registry lists he had the right to be vouched for and to swear in his vote.

Citizens Were Thrown Out.

Peter Snyder, the former captain of the engine company, was working hard for the Citizens ticket, but he was obliged to stand by and see his men thrown out of the polling place. The ring overseer and watchers run the polling place, and so well did they do it that the election board had no need to refuse a vote; the overseer and watchers made the decision.

There was one fight at the polling place in Alderman Toole's office. The Citizens party had hired 20 detectives who were on hand to prevent fraud. One of them went behind the railing and was struck and thrown out bodily. The other 19 kept their eyes open, and by their vigilance many cases of repeating were prevented.

The first district of the First ward, the school house district, in which Alderman Toole resides, had up to 5 p. m. polled a small vote. The Citizens party's detectives were on the watch for repeaters, and few if any illegal votes were cast, so far as could be learned, unless they were deposited in the last 15 minutes.

Chairs Were Broken.

There was considerable disturbance in the first district of the Fourth ward. The polls were in the school house at Eighth street and Duquesne way. Several chairs were broken in a melee in the morning. Hugh Callahan was the ring overseer and John Callahan, his brother, was the judge. Several Citizens voters were challenged, and before they had a chance to qualify by oath they were seized. Some of the ring men grabbed chairs and used them. P. J. Donahoe, select councilman, who was working for the Citizens ticket, was struck on the shoulder. He stuck at the polls all day, however.

One of the exciting scenes in the third district of the First ward was when William Snyder, a veteran of the Spanish war, tried to enter the polling place to vote. He was seized at the door by ring heelers and jammed up against the wall of the engine house. Three hours later he succeeded in voting. He was a Citizens party man.

This latter sum is all that is available to defray expenses of city cases from now until April 1.

SHARON, PA.—The work of building the new street railway between Sharon and West Middlesex in the East End Company will be started within a few days. The contract for the ties has been awarded to Thomas Walker of West Middlesex, and the steel rails will be furnished by the Cambria Iron & Steel Company.

These are real neat house garments in pretty colorings, including that now very popular color, gray.

The yoke, sleeves and belt are trimmed with braid, and the skirt has a very deep flounce.

Box Coats.

The tendency is to the neat Box Coats. We don't say this to disparage the jacket, but simply state a fact. Of course, there are always exceptions, and the exceptions, speaking as regards tastes for other styles, runs in some cases to the natty little short jacket and in others to the extremely long garment.
